International Areas Hit by Shells.

TOKIO, Sept. 4 (Saturday).—Japanese planes bombed Chinese positions in the Pootung, Nantao, Chapei, and Chenju areas of Shanghai at 6 a. m. today. At 8 a. m. they subjected the North railway station to a heavy aerial bombardment. Chinese forces, aided by reinforcements, repeatedly shelled the Japanese inhabited Hongkew area of Shanghai.

TOKIO, Sept. 4 (Saturday).—Japanese land and air forces launched a general offensive at 6:30 a. m. today against Chinese troops at Tangkwantun and Machang, strategic points on the Tientsin-Pukow railway in North China. On the South China coast Japanese destroyers entered Amoy yesterday and bombarded a Chinese fortress, inflicting considerable damage, according to a naval announcement this morning.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4. [Saturday].—(AP)—Japan's formidable war machine around Shanghai was stalled today by a Chinese counteroffensive, but its leaders declared it would strike again soon with increased force.

The Japanese threat, proclaimed by the imperial navy's third fleet, promised fresh perils as great as any this stricken city has faced in the three weeks during which a bloody but undeclared war has surged through and around it.

Already the war had returned with renewed destructiveness and danger to foreign lives and interests within international Shanghai as the Chinese struck effectively with artillery at Japanese naval concentrations on the Whangpoo river, Shanghai's outlet to the sea.

Eight Troop Ships Flee.

Eight Japanese troop ships fled down the river to escape destructive Chinese gunfire. At Pootung, just across the Whangpoo from Shanghai, and elsewhere Japanese attempts to land fresh troops or advance those already landed were repulsed.

Neutral authorities agreed the Chinese counterstrokes had disarranged the heralded Japanese plans for a big offensive to drive the Chinese from the Shanghai area and necessitated complete revision of Japanese strategy.

The Japanese naval announcement indicated ominously the revision would come quickly as punitive action which would "terminate Chinese activities in Shanghai."

Chief result of China's renewed attacks was to bring the war back to Shanghai's front door.

Battle Rages All Night.

All day yesterday and through the night it raged over the heart of the harbor, with the United States flagship Augusta and other foreign warships in line of fire.

Japanese warplanes carried out a night raid on Pootung, trying to blast out the Chinese batteries that had subjected their ships and shore positions to heavy punishment.

French military and consular authorities, however, prepared to protect the departure of 650 refugees, including many Americans, who were to be taken down the Whangpoo to board the French liner Sphinx, bound for Hongkong and southern ports. The river battle presented grave perils for passenger tenders, but the French bluntly notified both Japanese and Chinese they expected hostilities would be "withheld" during the evacuation.

Shells Hit Settlement.

Police of the international areas estimated fifty persons, including half a dozen foreigners, were wounded by misdirected shells, apparently from both sides. There were no American casualties. A projectile struck the roof of the United States marine barracks, but failed to explode.

FULLER WINNER IN AIR RACE BY 258 MILE SPEED

Earl Ortman Gets Second Place.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Municipal Airport, Cleveland, O., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Frank Fuller, millionaire sportsman pilot from San Francisco, today set a new record for the Bendix trophy race by flying the 2,080 miles from Los Angeles to the Municipal airport here at an average speed of 258.2 miles an hour. His elapsed time was 7 hours 54 minutes, including one stop to refill his fuel tanks at Kansas City.

Then without landing here Fuller continued eastward at his record-breaking pace. He landed at Bendix airport, New York City, one hour and forty-one minutes after passing over Cleveland to complete the transcontinental crossing in 9 hours 35 minutes. The average speed for the 2,450 mile air journey was 255 miles an hour.

Exceeds Haizlip's Record.

Fuller's flight in his gleaming Seversky military fighter with its 1,100 horse power twin Wasp engine, surpassed the old Bendix trophy mark set in 1932 by Capt. Jimmy Haizlip. Haizlip's average speed for the trip was 245 miles an hour and his elapsed time 8 hours 20 minutes.

The flight on to New York was the fastest coast to coast time ever made in connection with national air race competition. The previous record time was that of Col. Roscoe Turner, who flew it in 10 hours 2 minutes 51 seconds, in 1934.

This time, of course, is not even close to the 7 hours 32 minutes Los Angeles-New York crossing made last spring by Howard Hughes, the Hollywood motion picture producer. Hughes' record speed was 332 miles an hour but it was made while flying with a 100 mile an hour tail wind and over a slightly shorter course.

Wins $13,000 Prize Money.

The racing pilots today had no such natural aids and all agreed that Fuller earned the $13,000 prize money he won. Of this sum, $9,000 was for his first place in the Bendix race, $2,500 for his new coast to coast Bendix time, and another $1,500 for being first to arrive at Bendix field, which is a newly developed air terminal.

Earl Ortman of Los Angeles was declared second place winner with an elapsed time of 9 hours 49 minutes and 21 seconds. He flew a tiny black Keith-Rider monoplane with a twin Wasp motor. His prize money was $5,000.

The only woman in the race, Jacqueline Cochran of New York, flying a green Beecraft biplane with a 550-Wasp engine, won third place. Her elapsed time was 10 hours 29 minutes 8 seconds. She received $3,000 prize money and a $2,500 bonus for the first woman to finish.

Sinclair Finishes Fourth.

Frank Sinclair, chief test pilot for the Seversky factory, was fourth. His elapsed time was 11 hours 2 minutes 33 seconds. His prize was $2,000.

Milo Burcham of Los Angeles, piloting a Standard Lockheed 12 eight place monoplane, was fifth. His elapsed time was 11 hours 23 minutes. Aboard the plane were the two owners, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hall of Oklahoma City, where the ship made one refueling stop. His prize money was $1,000.

The Halls, who were the backers of the late Wiley Post, said the journey was uneventful and made without pushing the motors.

Eller C. Sunderph of Cleveland, in a special ship of his own design, was sixth. His elapsed time was 12 hours 17 minutes 8 seconds.

Lieut. Joe Mackey, who was flying Col. Roscoe Turner's Wedell-Williams racer, dropped out of the race at St. Louis, with engine trouble. He was the only starter to fall out.

German Flyer Escapes.

TRIAL BALLOONS

Fail to Send Cash Collected for Spaniards

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—The American Committee for Spanish Relief, of New York, accepted $30,753.96 in contributions, sent nothing to Spain, spent $25,793.72 on "administration and publicity," and had $3,340.22 in cash on hand July 31, according to a summary of contributions and their dispositions made public by the state department today. It was compiled from reports required by the neutrality act since last May 1.

Twenty-three organizations, duly registered under the law and licensed to solicit contributions, reported that they had received $376,926.91 in contributions, sent $139,193.40 to Spain, spent $124,986.97 on administration and publicity, and had $133,006.44 on hand.

Funds Received Before May 1.

In few cases are the reported figures actually in balance, but the report explained that the cash balances on hand, in some cases, included funds received before May 1 and were not at that time required to be reported.

The largest amount of contributions was reported by the Medical Bureau to Aid Spanish Democracy, of New York. This organization has taken in $96,921.98, of which $58,753.87 was sent to Spain.

Next came the North American Committee to Aid Spanish Democracy, of New York, which reported receipts of $61,597.47, with $18,841.12 sent to Spain.

Many Other Groups Report.

Other principal reporting organizations included the following:

Spanish Societies Confederated to Aid Spain, of Brooklyn—Receipts, $39,277.45; sent to Spain, $9,452.65.

American Friends Service Committee, of Philadelphia—Receipts, $34,905.43; sent to Spain, $15,729.32.

Friends of the Abraham Lincoln Battalion, of New York—Receipts, $38,834.87; sent to Spain, $18,697.75.

Comite Popular Democratico de Socorro a Espana, of Tampa—Receipts, $16,845.51; sent to Spain, $5,500.

Central Spanish Relief Committee for Republican Spain, of Washington—Receipts, $11,832.56; sent to Spain, none.

Trade Union Relief for Spain, of New York—Receipts, $13,162.73; sent to Spain, none.

Emergency Ambulance committee, of New York—Receipts, $16,373.11; sent to Spain, none.

The Brooklyn Tablet, Brooklyn—Receipts, $1,884.60; sent to Spain, $4,942.50. Presumably the amount to Spain involved contributions received before May 1, on which no report was required.

American League Against War and Fascism, New York City—Receipts, $584.65; sent to Spain, $584.65.

American Friends of Spanish Democracy, of New York—Receipts, $2,821.66; sent to Spain, $1,290.94.

A number of other smaller contributions and their disposition were included in the report.

In keeping with the seasonal trend, the count of ragweed pollen, one of the principal causes of hay fever, rose Thursday to 276 grains per cubic yard of air, according to O. C. Durham of the Abbott laboratories in North Chicago. The count Wednesday was 125.

Quiz Gambler on Mystery of Missing Wife

The reported kidnaping of Mrs. Olive Borcia, 25 years old, former Chicago cabaret entertainer, grew more mysterious last night as Sherif Joseph F. Dorr of Walworth county, Wis., questioned the woman's husband, John Borcia, 39, a Chicago gambler with a police record.

Borcia told of being forced to the roadside near Lake Geneva late Thursday night by two gunmen who robbed him of $60, then carried off his wife as a hostage, demanding $5,000 ransom. On the theory that the woman might have been slain, sherif's deputies searched all roads and lonely buildings in the region.

At Cottage Several Months.

Another theory, that Mrs. Borcia was a willing victim of the kidnaping also was being investigated. It was learned that she had been living with her mother, Mrs. James Goudie, at a summer cottage near the southwestern end of the lake, for several months. Borcia appeared there last Thursday.

On Thursday night Borcia, who formerly was manager of the Chesterfield tavern, 2827 North Clark street, and his wife drove to the Lincoln inn, a tavern and night life place in the heart of the town of Lake Geneva, which is at the eastern end of the lake. They left the inn at 11:15 p. m.

Borcia said he was not acquainted with the roads of the region and his wife drove the car, a 1937 model of expensive make. Instead of taking a direct lakeside route back to the Goudie cottage, Mrs. Borcia followed another road, which would lead them several miles out of their way.

Tells $5,000 Demand.

Soon after they passed through the village of Linton, Borcia said, the two gunmen drove up beside his car, forced him to give up his money, and ordered his wife into their sedan. They asked him if he could produce $5,000 and, when he replied with a jest, they said:

"We'll just take her along. You'll hear from us in a few days."

Several points in Borcia's story puzzled the investigators. He said his wife made no outcry as she was carried off. He said he failed to note the license number of the kidnap car. He mentioned being robbed of several pawn tickets, but later denied having such tickets.

Mr. McGowan Wins $5 for Polite Driving

BY HAL FOUST.

Mr. McGowan, you win $5 for your courtesy in Jackson boulevard trafic yesterday.

The prize is the first of daily awards to be made by THE TRIBUNE to polite motorists to be chosen by a reporter and a chauffeur in driving about the city. The awards will continue as long as they seem to arouse the interest of car owners in more considerate driving.

THE TRIBUNE roadster headed west from the loop in the late forenoon in search of the day's polite driver. For two hours in west side boulevards it did not appear that it was going to be easy to make a choice.

Many Courteous Drivers.

It was noted that the great majority of the motorists are thoughtful and courteous, notwithstanding a popular conception to the contrary. The drivers must be considerate as well as skilful for thousands of independently operated machines to stream between two curbs without more accidents than there are.

For two hours no outstanding act of courtesy was noted. The occasional act of discourtesy that was seen probably accounts for the notion that all motorists are ill-mannered.

The driver of a sedan with license 712-734 [issued to James G. Kankaras, 6949 Indiana avenue] blasted his horn four times in three blocks in Washington boulevard behind motorists who were also being delayed by a trafic jam ahead. He narrowly averted a headon collision in swinging to the left of the pavement to pass a crowd.

Noisy Auto Noted.

In Garfield park a flivver with license 1-106-656 [issued to the Lite Products corporation, 1814 South Michigan avenue] disturbed the quiet of an entire neighborhood by the loud hiss of a defective muffler or leaking gasket. In Jackson boulevard a car with license 1-149-111 [issued to Harry Goldman, 6200 Kenmore avenue] went through a red light at Paulina street. In Augusta boulevard a coupe with license 387-595 [issued to Cornelius Jacob Van Zytveld, 1169 East 61st street] was trailed east from Noble street holding two lanes of automobiles to its 18 mile an hour pace.

Then, as reporter, chauffeur, and photographer were becoming discouraged, a sedan which at the time had the drive to itself was noted a block ahead in Jackson boulevard, traveling about 30 miles an hour next to the center line to avoid the bumps at intersections. A few moments later it was overtaken by a half dozen machines that began passing it on its right, next to the curb.

He's the Winning Driver.

The sedan driver, glancing in his rear vision mirror and twice taking a quick glimpse over his right shoulder, pulled to the right of the pavement at his first opportunity to allow free passage of other faster automobiles.

The driver, Earl McGowan, 444 Sigel street, is the winner. He is 43 years old and has driven 847,500 miles in the last 22 years. He was a taxicab driver for 10 years before going to work for an automobile radio manufacturer 12 years ago. He said that in this 22 years of driving he has not received a single trafic ticket and that his only accidents were two minor collisions.

"I don't think I'm unusually polite," he said. "It's just that if you want to be careful for your own safety you have to be careful of the safety of others, also."

AIR FROM ARCTIC ON WAY TO ROUT CHICAGO'S HEAT

Forecaster J. R. Lloyd yesterday predicted perfect weather for the Labor day week-end with a return to cool summer temperatures after twelve days of enervating heat. The change in the weather should occur early today when the wind shifts from the southwest to the northwest and north, Mr. Lloyd said.

The mass of cold air which brought freezing temperatures to the Yukon and Mackenzie river basins is now moving down across Minnesota, said Mr. Lloyd, and its arrival will keep Chicago temperatures around 70 degrees. Lake winds also are expected to bring relief, with the prospect of cool sunny weather tomorrow and Monday.

Around the summit of Pike's peak yesterday a blizzard swirled, depositing a six inch blanket of snow, according to dispatches from Colorado Springs. More than 100 automobiles were stalled above the timber line.

C. I. O. BOSS HITS DEMOCRAT AIDS AS 'TRAITORS'

Threatens 3d Party Movement.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Raging at President Roosevelt and the leaders of the Democratic party, whom he denounced as traitors and ingrates, John L. Lewis tonight raised the threat of a farmer-labor third party movement—the popular front which the communists announced as their objective when they embraced the C. I. O.

The C. I. O. dictator thundered his indignation in a nation-wide radio broadcast, stealing a march on the American Federation of Labor speakers who will bombard the radio audiences over the week-end and on Labor day. Lewis hinted at a third party just before congress adjourned and left the administration's wages and hours bill buried in the house rules committee, but tonight he proclaimed for the first time an alliance with the farmers and attacked President Roosevelt directly.

Strikes at President.

"It ill behooves one who has supped at labor's table and who has been sheltered in labor's house to curse with equal fervor and fine impartiality both labor and its adversaries when they become locked in deadly embrace," Lewis said.

This blast referred to Mr. Roosevelt, for whose reelection Lewis raised more than $600,000. The President "cursed with equal fervor" by saying "A plague on both your houses," the C. I. O. and the independent steel companies, when Lewis was losing the strike against "little steel."

Lewis did not stop with this assault upon the President for professing impartiality in the steel strike. He denounced the "perfidy of politicians" in not keeping their campaign pledges to labor.

Claims Nonpartisan Policy.

"The objectives of this movement [the C. I. O.] are not political in a partisan sense," Lewis declared. "Yet it is true that a political party which seeks the support of labor and makes pledges of good faith to labor must, in equity and good conscience, keep that faith and redeem those pledges.

"The spectacle of august and dignified members of congress, servants of the people and agents of the republic, skulking in hallways and closets, hiding their faces in a party caucus to prevent a quorum from acting upon a labor measure, is one that emphasizes the perfidy of politicians and blasts the confidence of labor's millions in politicians' promises and statesmen's vows."

Lewis was referring to the caucus of house Democrats on the wages and hours bill, when southern members refrained from responding to the roll call to block a quorum.

Denounces Kelly, Gov. Davey.

Lewis denounced federal, state, and municipal officials, whom he accused of aiding the steel companies in the ill-fated C. I. O. strike, in which a mob led by communists armed with clubs and stones was dispersed by the Chicago police. He named particularly Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, and "the infamous Gov. Davey of Ohio."

In the C. I. O. Memorial day riot at the Republic Steel company's South Chicago plant, Lewis said, "Mayor Kelly's police force was successful in killing ten strikers before they could escape the fury of the police, shooting eight of them in the back . . . none but strikers was murdered, gassed, injured, jailed, or maltreated."

Gov. Martin L. Davey, he said, was successful in the last election because of his reiterated promises of "fair treatment to laber, yet he used the military power of the commonwealth on the side of the Republic Steel company and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company." Gov. Davey first used the National Guard to keep the steel plants closed and break up a back to work movement, but later he employed the militia to protect the workers when the plants were opened.

Calls Davey Puppet.

Lewis said the "steel puppet Davey" was still governor of Ohio, but that he wouldn't be for long—"The people of Ohio may be relied upon to mete out political justice to one who has betrayed his state, outraged the public conscience, and besmirched the public honor."

"Nearly half of the staggering mil-

tary expenditure incident to the crushing of this strike in Ohio was borne by the federal government through the allocation of financial aid to the military establishment of the state," Lewis asserted. During the strike the C. I. O. leaders boasted that four agencies of the federal government were with them, and that the WPA would feed all strikers who needed relief.

But tonight Lewis placed the federal government on the side of the steel companies. "The murder of these unarmed men," he said, "has never been publicly rebuked by any authoritative officer of the state or federal government."

Boasts of Membership.

Lewis' speech, however, was not all an alibi for the loss of the steel strike. He boasted that "The Committee for Industrial Organization has a numerical enrollment of 3,718,000 members." He said there were thirty-two affiliated national and international unions and some 200,000 members in 507 directly affiliated local industrial unions including vegetable canners and agricultural laborers.

This was the first membership claim ever made by the C. I. O. Previously the highest estimate ever used was 3,200,000, based on the aggregate membership claims of all the C. I. O. unions. A. F. of L. leaders scoffed at the claim of 3,200,000, pointing out that it credited the United Mine Workers with 600,000, while the official report of the U. M. W. as of June 1 showed only 460,000. The padding of the mine workers' membership figures by 30 per cent, if taken as an average, would give the C. I. O. about 2,450,000 members, as against 3,600,000 claimed by the A. F. of L.

Charges Propaganda.

Lewis said the industrialists were carrying on propaganda among the farmers, telling them that the increased cost of machinery and farm supplies was due to increased labor costs.

"And yet it is the industrial millions of this country who constitute the substantial market for all agricultural products," he declared.

ROOSEVELT OFF LONG ISLAND IN GAME FISH HUNT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard Press Boat with President Roosevelt, off Montauk Point, N. Y., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Cut off temporarily from the worries caused by foreign and domestic happenings, President Roosevelt this afternoon trolled for swordfish and tuna near Block Island, noted refuge for rum runners in prohibition days.

The President made an overnight run from his Hudson river estate to Fort Pond bay, where the government yacht Potomac was anchored for two hours this morning.

A pouch of White House mail was brought to the yacht by seaplane and the President hastily scanned reports on the Sino-Japanese situation.

SUPREME COURT UNSHAKEN, SAYS VAN DEVANTER

Yellowstone Park, Wyo., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Willis Van Devanter, retired justice of the United States Supreme court, today said "The foundation underlying the Supreme court has not been disturbed" by the controversy over reorganization.

"The recent flurry soon will be forgotten," he said in an informal talk before the Montana and Wyoming Bar associations.

Justice Van Devanter said when he became a member of the court cases were from eighteen months to two years behind. The last five years the court has been up to date.

"The Supreme court," he added, "is the cornerstone and the foundation stone of our government."

Whazzat? Louder! Or Try New Noiseless Phone Booth

How often have you stood in a stuffy telephone booth on a hot day, a finger plugged in one ear, trying in vain to hear the voice at the other end of the wire while street cars rumbled in the street outside and the man in the next booth shouted at his wife? Take a trip to the Rosenwald Museum of Science and Industry in Jackson park and see what science and invention have done. On exhibition there yesterday was a telephone booth, made soundproof by walls made with a layer of balsam wool.

Point to Federal Position Given Kern.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Was John W. Kern sold a lemon when he was induced to resign as mayor of Indianapolis yesterday to become a member of the United States board of tax appeals? There was speculation on this question in Indiana political circles tonight that Kern certainly did know Washington. He will fill only an unexpired term, ending next June.

As mayor he would have continued in office until the end of 1938. In actual salary he loses by the transfer, although in resigning he mentioned the new post as "financially attractive."

Chairman at Throttle.

There is one fact evident to everybody, however. The hand of James A. Farley is at last at the throttle of politics in this most populous of Indiana's counties and in the city hall of the state capital.

It was asserted by some here tonight that Kern certainly did know the appointment was a stopgap one, but that he seized it as an opportunity to quit the Indianapolis city hall because of the bitter political feudism of which it is one center.

Apply Political Screws.

Political screws are being applied as never before in the Democratic state administration's drive to defeat Frederick Van Nuys for United States senator when he seeks reëlection next year. Van Nuys is a Democrat veteran—indeed, he was once state chairman of the party, but his political demise has been decreed because he opposed the President's court packing plan, and the statehouse faction has pledged itself to effect the plank-walking.

Obviously the national administration joined with the state administration in getting Kern out of city hall. The move was doubly interesting to Hoosiers because it is the first major piece of federal patronage that has come to Indiana since appointment of Paul V. McNutt to be high commissioner to the Philippines.

LEWIS' SPEECH IS CENSORED BY RADIO SYSTEM

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Some of the phraseology John L. Lewis intended to hurl in his broadcast address tonight proved too strong for Columbia Broadcasting system and radio officials felt it was imperative to censor his remarks.

They announced that at their "suggestion" Lewis agreed to leave out a word in one passage of his text and a whole paragraph in another.

4,000 Seek Payment for 1937 Soil Conservation

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Four thousand McLean county farmers have made application for payment under the 1937 agricultural conservation program and their fields are being measured by township agents. The farmers have until Oct. 31 to spread limestone to qualify for soil building payments.

14 RIDERS HURT AS STREET CAR RAMS ANOTHER

Fourteen persons were injured, three seriously, yesterday when two Chicago Surface Lines cars collided at Chicago and Milwaukee avenues. An Elston avenue car which was north bound in Milwaukee avenue, was struck in the center by an east bound Chicago avenue car with such force that it was knocked from the tracks.

Those seriously hurt are Philip Robeno, 45 years old, 1334 Huron street; Albert Winters, colored, 30 years old, 851 Milwaukee avenue, and Carl Gunderson, 53 years old, 680 Milwaukee avenue.

Racine avenue police questioned both Motorman Louis Moos of the Chicago avenue car and John Skitty, motorman on the Elston avenue car, and passengers about the accident. Moos, 61 years old, 804 South 17th avenue; Maywood, told the police that the car brakes failed to hold when he applied them. Surface Lines officials were also conducting an investigation.

MAYOR HOPEFUL OF MEETING CITY RELIEF DEFICIT

Mayor Kelly expressed a belief yesterday that some means would be found to meet a deficit of about $1,000,000 in the city's September relief budget. He added that he did not intend to ask Gov. Horner to call a special session of the legislature to supply the necessary funds.

Meanwhile, in Springfield, Gov. Horner said at the conclusion of a conference with Leo M. Lyons, Chicago relief administrator, that the state had gone as far as it could in providing relief funds and recommended that the relief rolls be purged of unworthy recipients. "Of course, we are doing that every day," Lyons told reporters.

CAR KILLS BOY, 5, AT HIS PARENTS' FILLING STATION

Child Climbed on Bumper, Driver Asserts.

Linton Noling, 5 years old, 15135 Vincennes avenue, Harvey, was killed yesterday when he was run over by an automobile driven by Joshua Cunnigan, 30 years old, 15233 6th avenue, Phoenix, a steel worker. The accident occurred on the driveway of a filling station at 152d street and Vincennes avenue in Harvey.

Cunnigan, who was held for the inquest, told Sergt. George Kaur of the Harvey police that the boy must have climbed on his bumper and fallen off after he had started to drive away from the filling station. He said he felt the car pass over the boy 30 feet away from the pump.

Boy's Mother Near By.

Mrs. Laura Noling, the boy's mother, who had sold Cunnigan some gasoline a few moments before, did not see the accident. Her husband is an attendant at the station.

Samuel Demaria, 2 years old, 901 South Oakley boulevard, died yesterday in County hospital of a skull fracture suffered Thursday afternoon when he wandered into the path of a car driven by Otto Ahrens, 32 years old, 4217 North Whipple street, near his home.

Mrs. Anna Anderson, 65 years old, 5052 Ohio street, who was injured Aug. 24 by an automobile at Chicago and LeClaire avenues, died yesterday in St. Anne's hospital. Howard Phillips, 28 years old, 1304 Pine avenue, driver of the car, was not held.

Aged Man Is Killed.

Sam Finley, 76 years old, a resident at St. Paul's Home for the Aged, 3831 North Mozart street, died late last night in the Martha Washington hospital of injuries suffered a few hours earlier when he was run down by an automobile at Mozart avenue and Irving Park boulevard. The driver was Fred Wiedirshien, 24, of 236 Grove street, Montclair, N. J., a salesman.

Fred Healy, 43 years old, a stables employé at the Washington Park race track, was killed last night by an automobile in Route 1, a mile south of Crete, in Will county. He was on his way home from visiting friends at the Lincoln Fields track near Crete. The driver was Donald J. Pardy of Beecher.

Four Hurt in Crash.

Mrs. Annabelle Righter, 39 years old, of West Trenton, N. J., was seriously injured yesterday in a collision of two cars at 159th street and Western avenue, in Harvey. Her husband, Sergt. Irving S. Righter, 43, of the New Jersey state police, and two other women were slightly hurt in the same accident.

Mrs. Righter was driving east in 159th street, and struck a machine driven by Mrs. Margaret Brockman, 21 years old, of 160 Western avenue, Thornton township. Mrs. Brockman and her mother, Mrs. Rudolph Wallace, 46 years old, who lives with her, were injured. Mrs. Righter was taken to the Ingalls Memorial hospital in Harvey.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 697 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 539 were killed in Chicago, where 15,116 were injured.

Triple Holiday Starts Rush from City to the Open Road

BY HAL FOUST.

The van of a heavy week-end trafic departed from Chicago last night at the beginning of a triple holiday for many workers. The three day rush to the highways is expected to see approximately 850,000 motorists on the roads of Chicagoland. It was the beginning of the end of the 1937 summer vacation season.

Last night's departures were mainly for the lakes, woods and streams of northern Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota. Fishermen as a class are hard drivers. Taking turns at the wheel, they push on through the night to be tossing bait 300 to 500 miles from their homes in the morning.

Set Out for Visits.

This morning and this afternoon, a more leisurely class of excursionists will be setting forth with wives and children to spend two nights with friends or relatives or at summer resorts.

No serious trafic congestion is expected before tomorrow afternoon. And even then delays will be due mainly to Sunday drivers dallying on thoroughfares in the way of autoists with a destination to reach.

The big jam is likely to occur in the late afternoon and early evening of Labor day. Those who have spent three days away from the city will be homeward bound. On the roads with them will be others who have been on one day outings, those returning from summer vacations, and those who adhere to the custom of closing their summer homes on Labor day. Such expected congestion brought warnings from public officials and civic organizations, pointing out the necessity for unusual care in driving.

Points to Alternate Roads.

Bert Vanderwarf, manager of the Chicago Motor club, said that the worst congestion and its concomitant hazards can be avoided with a little forethought and consultation of maps. There are alternate roads that circumvent familiar bottlenecks if motorists will only vary from their habitual routes.

Opening of Skokie road as U. S. 41 to the Wisconsin line eliminates congestion on Illinois route 22. Formerly the U. S. 41 markers followed this two lane highway for three miles as it connected Skokie road, opposite Highland Park, with Waukegan road.

One bottle neck remains on the four lane superhighway between Chicago and Milwaukee. This is a two lane pavement for three and one-half miles in Kenosha county, Wis., where construction of the main route is under way. There are four Illinois highways connecting with Skokie road north of Lake Forest.

Milwaukee Road Adequate.

Milwaukee road north of Half Day through Libertyville is adequate for holiday demands. There is an alternate route northwest from Half Day through Volo toward Lake Geneva that will be heavily traveled but not as jammed as Milwaukee road.

Rand road and the Northwest highway will have congestion parades beyond the present outer limits of their 40 foot widths, 30 or 40 miles from Chicago.

In the Fox River valley, the West River drive is usually filled with slow drivers on holidays. Most of the main highways to the west will also be jammed in the suburbs.

To the south and southeast, the recent improvement of pavements carrying the U. S. 12 and 20 markers through South Chicago has bettered conditions, but the streets are still unable to move holiday trafic with ease. Torrence avenue is closed for construction for most of the distance between 95th street and Sibley boulevard.

Dodge Heiress and Doyle, Pugilist, Hope to Wed Soon

Reno, Nev., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Delphine Dodge Cromwell Baker Godde, automobile family heiress, here to divorce Timothy Godde, New York importer, tonight announced she would marry Jack Doyle, Irish pugilist and athletic opera singer, when she obtains her divorce from Godde and as soon as Doyle obtains his Nevada divorce from Judith Allan. Miss Allan got a California divorce, but it will not be final for several months, so Doyle is asking a Nevada divorce, too. Delphine said: "Jack will not fight any more. It's too brutal."

SHOW VISITING FIREMEN POWER OF NEW FIREBOAT

As a prolog to the first national fire fighters' tournament, opening tomorrow, the Fred A. Busse, the world's largest and most powerful fireboat, gave a colorful and effective demonstration of its power in the yacht harbor at the foot of 8th street last night.

Hundreds of visiting firemen from all parts of the country, and thousands of citizens watched the display. The fireboat shot sixteen streams of water more than fifteen stories high into the air, as colored lights played on them. More than 10,000 gallons of water were pumped out each minute.

The fire fighters' tournament will begin at 1 p. m. tomorrow in Soldiers' field as part of the Chicago Charter Jubilee celebration, and will carry over through Monday. Admission to the show is free. Volunteer teams will compete for trophies and prize money amounting to $2,750, the trophies to be offered by Mayor Kelly and the money by the Chicago Board of Underwriters.

SAFETY JUDGE ENDS HIS TERM— AND DRIVING OF 7

Dougherty Jails 2; Braude to Take Bench.

Judge Charles S. Dougherty suspended the driving privileges of seven motorists yesterday as he ended his three month term in Safety court. Judge Dougherty was the first to invoke the new state law which empowers a court to forbid trafic violators to drive.

Judge Dougherty will be succeeded on Tuesday by Judge J. M. Braude, who has been sitting in Trafic court. On the trafic bench Judge Braude started the practice of sending drivers to the Municipal court behavior clinic for psychiatric tests, and suspending defendants from driving if they were shown to be emotionally unstable.

Provide for Safety Clinic.

Additional space was allotted yesterday to the behavior clinic in the Central police building. Two cell blocks will be available for detention of prisoners, and provision was made for the safety clinic, which will test defendants in Safety and Trafic courts for emotional and physical capacity to drive.

Two of yesterday's defendants in Safety court were sentenced to ten days in the Bridewell for driving while intoxicated. In addition they were ordered not to use their cars. They were Edward Dudek, 22 years old, 2335 Belden avenue, who crashed into a parked car in Webster avenue, and Ralph Osterholtz, 40, of 670 West 74th street, a cab driver arrested for drunken driving near the Coliseum. Dudek was ordered not to drive for six months and Osterholtz for 20 days.

Five others were fined and lost use of their cars for reckless driving. They are Anton Tijunaitis, 52, of 2419 West 45th place, fined $10 and suspended for one year; James Jackson, colored, 48, of 1348 West 111th street, fined $10 and suspended for 15 days; George W. Ford, 57, of 10730 Glenroy avenue, fined $5 and suspended for 30 days; Sam Melfi, 35, of 209 North Pulaski road, fined $10 and suspended for 30 days, and John Yancy, colored, 42, of 4638 South State street, fined $5 and suspended for 60 days.

900 Get Summons in Two Days of Auto Test Drive

Edward J. Gorman, deputy vehicle commissioner, announced yesterday that approximately 900 summonses have been issued to motorists in the first two days of the renewed drive to round up those lacking 1937 safety windshield stickers. There are 45,000 cars on the streets that have been rejected three or four times at the inspection lanes, he said.

HOW TO COMBAT PARALYSIS TOLD BY DR. CUTTER

Preventives for Home Use Are Described.

BY DR. IRVING S. CUTTER.

Definite evidence is available showing that infantile paralysis passes from person to person probably through mucus from the nose and saliva and secretions from the nose and throat.

Without doubt there are hundreds of mild cases in which the patient is sick for but a day or two with symptoms of a cold or a stomach upset. In such instances no paralysis ensues. However, from one of these mild cases [if it is a true infection with the paralysis virus] a severe case may develop.

The theory that insects are carriers has not been proved.

In the presence of an epidemic every child who does not feel well should be put to bed regardless of the character of the illness. Other children should be kept away from the patient until it has been shown that no serious trouble exists. Dishes, eating utensils, and other articles used in the sickroom should be washed thoroughly with soap and boiling water.

How Virus Enters System.

The virus of polio enters the nervous system through the nerves of smell which terminate in the mucous lining of the upper portion of the nose. When this membrane is inflamed or irritated the virus gets through more easily. Therefore anything that protects the air passages will be helpful in warding off the infection.

A helpful—but not positive—preventive is to insert a small piece of white vaseline, half the size of a pea, into each nostril. The heat of the body will melt the material and distribute the oily coating over the lining of the air passages. Tip the head backward to assist the distribution of this oily film.

About three years ago Armstrong and Harrison of the United States public health service, advocated the use of a nasal spray which consisted of a solution of alum, picric acid, and common salt. This preventive was used in the Alabama epidemic of a year ago, but no definite conclusions as to its value were reached. Some cases were reported in which the picric acid proved too irritating.

Monkeys Used for Tests.

Recently investigators at Stanford university and the University of Michigan have reported experiments on monkeys, in which a spray solution composed of 1 per cent zinc sulphate, ½ of 1 per cent sodium chloride, and 1 per cent pontocaine prevented polio. After the spray had been applied to the nasal passages the polio virus was introduced into the nose and none of the sprayed monkeys developed the disease. Unsprayed animals succumbed. The atomizer employed is equipped with a long, slender tip which is directed toward the top portion of the nasal space. A trifle less than one-fourth of a teaspoonful is used for each nostril.

These investigators recommended that the solution be applied on two successive days and once every two weeks thereafter as long as the epidemic continues. Home application should not be attempted.

No Bad After Effects.

The only discomfort is a smarting or burning sensation and—occasionally—headaches which last two to four hours. No bad after effects have appeared. Zinc sulphate in quantities is poisonous. The amount recommended, however, is not sufficient to cause trouble unless some sensitivity to the drug exists. The reason this particular chemical is advised is because it hardens the mucous surfaces, making it impossible for the virus to penetrate. It has been suggested that weaker solutions may be used with very young infants.

It should be emphasized that the ordinary atomizer is practically useless. While some protection might be secured there would scarcely be enough to justify the procedure.

Children who are kept at home and are not allowed to roam about the neighborhood are comparatively safe unless they are visited by carriers of polio.

Any physician can refer to the article in the Journal of the American Medical association for June 26, 1937, where explicit instructions are set forth.

CITY TAKES NEW STEPS

Health and municipal officials took further steps yesterday to prevent an epidemic of infantile paralysis by closing eight city swimming and wading pools and thirty-eight playgrounds to children less than 16 years old. These steps, combined with other measures, including postponement of the public school opening and barring youngsters from motion picture theaters, are expected to reduce juvenile congregation to a minimum.

The Y. M. C. A. swimming pools were closed to children yesterday and Boy Scout troops were ordered not to meet until further notice.

Because of a threatened shortage in convalescent serum, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, asked for blood donations yesterday from individuals who have recovered from infantile paralysis. These persons were asked to telephone either the health department [Randolph 8000] or the Deutsch Serum center at the Michael Reese hospital [Calumet 5540]. A fee of $10 will be paid each donor.

SALESMAN ROBBED AND BEATEN.

Two colored bandits stole $8 and a $25 watch from John O'Donnell, 1748 East 84th place, a salesman, yesterday at Maryland avenue and 78th street and then struck him on the head to prevent him from pursuing them.

Miraculously his only injuries were scalp lacerations, although it appeared that he could hardly have escaped instant death, for the machine crashed while upside down during an inverted dive across the airport.

There was a spout of dust, a horrified gasp of fear from the spectators. Then, while mechanics and motorcycle riders converged upon the wreckage, the dauntless count crawled out.

After his head was bandaged he told interviewers that his special aerobatic safety belt had become loosened in the maneuver and it interferred with his handling of the ship. He explained his escape by saying that the ship had touched lightly and then slid to a stop. The upper wing had prevented him from being crushed.

As usual at the races the flying of the army, navy and marine corps pilots provided the best show from purely an entertainment standpoint.

Standard Army Fighter.

Fuller's airplane is one of the most remarkable ships ever to compete in the Bendix race. It is a standard army fighter, exactly like 77 ships being delivered to Selfridge field pilots except that its military load has been cut down and extra tanks installed.

This machine with its 1,000 horse power twin Wasp engine had a cruising range of almost 1,000 miles today—an unheard of distance for military fighter types which ordinarily fly not more than 500 miles without refueling. Fuller himself has had no previous experience in the race, being a sportsman flyer only.

JURY ABSOLVES FATHER, SLAYER OF BURGLAR SON

A coroner's jury yesterday exonerated Jacob Duda, 63 years old, 5019 32d place, Cicero, of blame for the fatal shooting of his son, Alexander, 29, early in the morning when the son and a companion attempted to break into the father's tavern at 5009 32d place, in the suburb. Edward Pietrzak, 21, of 5057 32d street, Cicero, named as the son's companion, is being held on a charge of attempted burglary.

At the inquest, Duda said he was sleeping in the rear of his tavern when he heard someone trying to break in. He armed himself, and listened. Two men were talking and he recognized the voices of his son and Pietrzak, he said, adding that he then fired through a curtain to frighten them.

Police records showed that young Duda had been arrested fourteen times for minor offenses since 1933, and that Pietrzak also had a record.

WIFE DEAD; SEEK MATE TO TELL HIM.

3 PAIRS OF YOUNG BROTHERS WRECK A SCHOOL; SEIZED

Three pairs of brothers, including a set of twins, ranging between 6 and 9 years of age, were seized by North Racine avenue police after they had done thousands of dollars of damage in the Carpenter public school, Erie street and Racine avenue.

The boys are Chester and Leo Froelich, 9 years old, the twins, of 661 North Racine avenue; John Rudecki, 9, and his brother, Walter, 8, of 723 North Ada street, and Walter Milands, 8, and his brother, Norbert, 6, of 1229 Noble street.

According to Lieut. Thomas McLaughlin, the boys on Thursday night broke into a dozen classrooms, spattered ink on the walls, hacked blackboards, pulled down clocks, dismantled a piano, and scattered the keys and chords about, ruined new school supplies such as paper, pencils, and pens; smashed typewriters, and injured the cafeteria kitchen equipment. They had sold several undamaged typewriters for 50 cents each. They were captured when they returned to the school to pick up some more loot last night.

Charge Harrisburg Teacher with Seducing a Student

Harrisburg, Ill., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Herman Rupp, teacher of agriculture at the Harrisburg Township High school, has been charged with "seduction of a female," according to State's Attorney Lloyd H. Melton. This action followed a message from Rupp to Principal Harry Taylor of the high school saying he was resigning. The charge was filed by Mr. and Mrs. John Girot, parents of a student 16 years old.

BOY ON ERRAND VANISHES.

Mrs. Charlotte Victor, 9130 Woodlawn avenue, asked the Burnside police yesterday to search for her son George, 12 years old, who disappeared Thursday morning when she sent him on an errand.

PLAYBOY TRAIL OF 2 RUNAWAYS ENDS IN CELLS

Horses and Wild Parties Take Stolen $2,695.

Francis [Bud] Hecox and Robert Potter, office boys, walked out of the Reuben H. Donnelley Publishing company on June 30 with $2,695. and never came back. Last Tuesday they were arrested when they tried to steal a ride on a train and were put in jail at Gainesville, Tex.

Yesterday they confessed theft of the money, which had been intrusted to Hecox to take from the first to the eighth floor of the publishing plant at 350 Cermak road. Both waived extradition and will be returned next week to Chicago. Police are already on their way to Texas to bring the two boys home.

A Two Month Adventure.

Bud, who is tall, shy, and 19, lived at 1113 Ainslie street, and Robert, who is short, amiable, and 18, and lived at 4758 Kenmore avenue, told the Gainesville police a story of two months' adventure on stolen money.

They headed first for Texas, in a rented car that they neglected to bring back, and made their first stop of any length in Dallas. Bud took the name of Edward Allison Strange. Bob called himself Thomas Joseph O'Hare.

They spent a day seeing the pan-American exposition, bought some bright snappy clothes, and then began to be playboys in a big way.

Decide to Be Cowboys.

"We decided we wanted to be cowboys," said Potter. "So we bought two horses—one a race horse and the other a cow pony, and shipped them to Alpine, Tex., by truck. We rode in the cab with the driver. At Alpine, we made bets with cowboys on our horses."

But the nags rarely seemed to run in the money. The boys bet on other horses, but these, too, always came in behind. Potter, in telling how they spent the money, mentioned one $69 trip by taxi to El Paso.

"We threw plenty of parties in Jaurez, too," said Potter, "but managed to get by for $25 or $30 a night."

One Gets Engaged.

The snappy clothes and the horses, together with the honest demeanor of the boys [who had previously been known to relatives and employers as model youths] won them standing in Alpine. Potter became engaged to a school teacher there, and said yesterday that he'd go back and marry her after the five or ten year term in Joliet he predicted for himself and Hecox.

When it became necessary to go back to working for a living they obtained jobs with a cotton compress in Wichita Falls, Tex. They were arrested while trying to get to Kansas City to borrow money until their jobs started.

MOVE IN SECRET, TO END MYSTERY OF PARK MURDER

Expect New Arrests by Courtney's Men.

Solution of the murder of Herbert W. Lee, Evanston merchant slain in Grant park Aug. 22 while walking with his sweetheart, a night club butterfly, appeared near last night.

While State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney and his first assistant, Wilbert F. Crowley, refused to confirm rumors that a break in the case was near, the activity of their police squads indicated that new arrests were expected.

Several police squads were despatched to unannounced destinations after the appearance in the Criminal court of the principal suspect, Leonard Doxey, alleged procurer and sweetheart of Lucille Buehler, the girl who was Burns' companion the night of the murder.

Continues Habeas Hearing.

By agreement with Doxey's lawyers, Harold Levy and Arnold Harris, Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley continued until Tuesday the hearing on a writ of habeas corpus. Mr. Crowley announced that Doxey would be charged with some part in the murder by this afternoon.

With Mr. Courtney and his staf maintaining silence, rumors circulated through the Criminal court building that Doxey had confessed some connection with the murder. It was also reported that he had named the slayers.

These rumors indicated Doxey had admitted he drove the automobile in which the killers reached Grant Park and in which they fled after slaying Burns, supposedly in a robbery. They were said to have robbed him of $280 and a diamond ring.

Burns was slain when he resisted the bandits, according to one report. In the scuffle, it was also said, one of the bandits was accidentally wounded by the discharge of a pistol.

Report Alibi for Girl.

This story of the slaying credited Doxey with giving the Buehler girl an alibi, although the fact that one of the killers slapped her face at first led police to believe she might have known them.

Doxey was seized in St. Louis, Mo., after he fled from his room in the Metropole hotel a few hours after the shooting. Also held for questioning are Miss Buehler and John Martin, a friend of Doxey's, who was arrested with him at St. Louis.

3 SLAIN, 2 SHOT IN GUN BATTLE; 2 BANDITS FLEE

2 Peace Officers Victims; Robber Killed.

Springfield, O., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Two peace officers and a robber were killed today in a vicious gun battle fought at a small lake resort near Medway, 15 miles southwest of Springfield.

A third officer was wounded and another bandit shot and captured. Two other gunmen escaped. The battle followed the $1,300 pay roll robbery of a Springfield café proprietor.

Reports tonight that the two were hiding in a cornfield near North Lewisburg resulted in a search that revealed no trace of them.

The dead were Springfield Policeman Martin Randolph, 38 years old; Chief Deputy Sherif Edward Furry, 45, and the bandit, who was identified as Robert Cornette, Hamilton, O., who had served part of a life term for second degree murder. He received a parole because of sickness last Dec. 10.

Policeman, Robber Wounded.

Patrolman Martin Donnelly was wounded in his shoulder in the furious exchange of shots. The captured robber, Harry Chapman of Chicago, was shot in his body and head, and was not expected to live.

The gunmen abducted Robert M. Smith, café proprietor, from a city street about noon. Smith said three men forced him to enter their automobile and carried him out into the country.

On the way they robbed him of money he had just obtained from a bank for his café pay roll. Out on a country road the three holdup men met a companion.

Overtake Bandit Car.

After he was released the café owner notified police and the sherif's office by telephone. The three officers quickly took up the chase and overtook the bandit car near Crystal lake, at Medway.

The gunmen immediately opened fire when the pursuers came up to them. Two of the officers fell fatally wounded, but Patrolman Donnelley survived to see one of the robbers dead and to capture a second.

After the battle the two bandits escaped in their automobile toward Dayton.

Ohio authorities notified Chicago police that Chapman carried papers with the address 4141 Washington boulevard, the home of his aunt, to whom he was paroled last April after serving nine years of a 25 year sentence for bank robbery in the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus.

DRAFT PLANS TO MARK BIRTHDAY OF CONSTITUTION

Many civic leaders and organizations have promised to coöperate in Chicago's observance of Constitution day, Sept. 17, according to an announcement yesterday by Julius H. Miner, general director of the committee guiding the event. Among the organizations which will participate are the Grand Army of the Republic, American Legion posts, and the Anti-Defamation League of the B'nai B'rith.

The chief event on the day's program will be a celebration at the Chicago Stadium to mark the 150th anniversary of the signing of the constitution. A patriotic pageant will be presented, floats depicting the lives of the Presidents. A speakers' committee of the Chicago Bar association met yesterday in the association offices, 29 South La Salle street, and discussed plans for Constitution week, Sept. 12 to 17.

GAMBLING RAIDS SWEEP N. SHORE PLEASURE SPOTS

Last Warning! Courtney Tells County Police.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney telephoned Chief Lester Laird of the Cook county highway police yesterday afternoon and repeated his demand that the police close all gambling in the county and take out all slot machines.

"I told you Wednesday," said the state's attorney, "to take the blindfolds off and stop the gambling. Last night my men found gambling going at full blast at the Villa Moderne, the Skyrocket, and the Everglades in the Morton Grove territory. Get out there. This is my last warning."

Mr. Courtney's talk with Chief Laird took place shortly after noon. At about 5 p. m. Lieut. George Le Grue of the Morton Grove station and a squad raided the Villa Moderne, at Skokie highway and the county line, the Skyrocket, nearby, and the Everglades, at Skokie highway and Dundee road, and found them virtually deserted. No gambling was in progress.

Five Seized in Two Raids.

Chief Le Grue explained there was delay because he and his men were busy raiding 17 other alleged gambling places in Niles Center, Wheeling, and No Man's Land. They closed two places and arrested five men.

At Churchill Downs, 3500 Church street, Niles Center, Lieut. Le Grue dispersed 150 patrons, tore down horse racing sheets, and arrested Joseph Davis, 34 years old, 1625 Florence avenue, Evanston, as keeper, and Frank Wagner, 24 years old, 1517 Fowler street; Thomas Allen, 30 years old, 5692 Ridge avenue, both of Chicago, and James Franks, 24 years old, 2012 Church street, Evanston, as inmates.

Then Le Grue and his men went to the Chicago House in Wheeling, where they arrested Jack Ross, 28 years old, Wheeling, as a keeper, and Ted Webb, 34 years old, 5820 Kenmore avenue, as an inmate.

Suspects Are Arraigned.

All of the men were taken to the Morton Grove station and arraigned before Justice of the Peace Charles F. W. Forberg. Both keepers were released on bond of $100 each, and the inmates on bond of $25 each. Their cases were set for Sept. 8.

As was the case Wednesday, when he launched the war on gambling and rebuked Chief Laird for the prevalence of gambling, State's Attorney Courtney gave his ultimatum to Laird yesterday in the presence of newspaper men.

Names Gambling Clubs.

"I thought you said all gambling places were closed," the state's attorney said, referring to a quotation attributed to Laird in the morning papers. "Here are three that aren't closed," he continued.

"The Villa Moderne has gambling on the second floor behind barred doors. It was running full blast when my men were there last night. Six roulette wheels were going. All three places were open with roulette, chuck-a-luck and other dice games. Now, take off the blindfolds and get out there and do something. This is my last warning."

Mr. Courtney declined to explain his final words. Observers suggested however, that if gambling does not stop, the state's attorney may move against county officials he holds responsible by bringing malfeasance charges before the grand jury.

The state's attorney launched the gambling war on Wednesday when he called Chief Laird and demanded a series of raids on houses investigators had found open. The raiding started at once and slot machine operators, included in the Courtney warning, got the machines out of sight.

Orders Laird to Act.

Yesterday Mr. Courtney said that the ban would stay on. His men will patrol the county over the week-end to prevent reopenings. The sherif's police will be busy handling holiday trafic.

Assistant State's Attorney Gordon Nash yesterday continued to call in slot machine operators to tell them that the state's attorney is serious about keeping the machines shut down.

"No matter what the syndicate tells you, you're not to reopen," he said. "We won't allow any machines to run. We'll ask the limit in fines."

LAWYER DOUBTS SPEEDY ACTION FOR STEPHENSON

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—The attorneys for D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan and political czar of Indiana, say they do not know of any immediate action for his release from state prison. Stephenson is serving a life sentence for murder of an Indianapolis young woman.

Alban Smith, mayor of La Porte, who has represented Stephenson in recent litigation, asserted today that a petition for a writ of error is possible, but he is not ready to seek such a writ now.

"While I am interested in the outcome of the Virgil Kirkland case I don't see a good comparison in the legal standing of the two cases," Smith said. "Stephenson was convicted of a murder, while Kirkland was sentenced for assault with intent to commit rape. I understand the state clemency commission established a rule that 15 years in prison would be the minimum before a life term prisoner could obtain clemency."

Stephenson entered prison in 1925.

Paysoff Tinkoff Loses Another Round with Courts

Paysoff Tinkoff, now free on bond from a federal prison term imposed for aiding a client to evade income tax payments, was denied a stay of mandate yesterday by the Illinois Supreme court which disbarred him last June from practicing law in the state. Tinkoff also must show cause on Sept. 25 why he should not be barred from practicing in the federal courts in Chicago.

"YES, I SHOT MY MAN," MOTHER OF 12 TELLS SHERIF

Prairie du Chien, Wis., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—A mother of 12 children, who had confessed killing her husband, was not permitted to plead guilty late today when she was arraigned before Judge Sherman E. Smalley at Lancaster.

The judge expressed the opinion the woman should have the benefit of counsel before entering a plea. He appointed Attorney J. S. Earll of Prairie du Chien to represent her.

"I intended to plead guilty because I thought it was the best way out for all concerned," declared the defendant, Mrs. Elizabeth Heisz, 37 years old.

A warant for manslaughter was issued against her earlier in the day. The charge carries a penalty of two to four years' imprisonment.

"Yes, I shot my man," the raw boned, undernourished farm wife was quoted as saying after several hours' questioning. "I only wish I had done it years ago.

"I did it because he threatened to kill me and the children. He just didn't care for his children. He fed his 12 hound dogs regularly, but would let me and my babies starve. It didn't make any difference to him even when the children were so hungry they were crying."

Mrs. Heisz said she killed her husband, Edward, 38, with a shotgun charge when he returned to their home near Eastman early yesterday morning after attending a dance alone. She said he was "drunker than I'd ever seen him."

Former Alderman Settles with Ex-Wife for $3,500

Irving J. Schreiber, 3321 Harper avenue, former alderman of the Fifth ward, and his ex-wife, Mrs. Marcia B. Schreiber of the Windermere East hotel, yesterday settled their alimony troubles. Attorneys Paul R. Simon for the husband and Frank Teed for the wife told Master in Chancery John Sbarbaro that the Schreibers had agreed to a $3,500 settlement of all alimony claims. Schreiber will pay $500 down and $50 a month. The settlement took account of a $970 arrearage which caused his arrest last week.

SCIENTIST CALLS HITLER WORLD'S BEST HYPNOTIST

Another Finds England Facing New Slump.

NOTTINGHAM, England, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The British Association for the Advancement of Science today heard that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's ultimate reputation in history will be as the world's "greatest psychotherapeutist" and that Great Britain will have another economic slump about 1943.

Dr. William Brown, director of the institute of experimental psychology at Oxford, told of Hitler's powers of healing by mental suggestion.

Sir William Beveridge, until recently head of the London university school of economics, predicted the new depression.

"Hitler is the greatest psychotherapeutist of nations that the world ever has known," asserted Dr. Brown. "He will go down in history as such.

Finds Modern Psychology.

"Whatever opinions may be held regarding the political aims of Fascist countries, there is no doubt that their methods of obtaining efficiency as nations under individual leadership find support in modern psychology."

Dr. Brown indicated the belief that the popularity of both Hitler and Premier Benito Mussolini in Germany and Italy, respectively, is due to their power of hypnosis.

"It is a great mistake to suppose their followers in those nations are slaves copying their leaders from fear," he said. "Rather, their own aggressive tendencies are liberated in protest, and their heightened enthusiasm and confidence in their leader makes what might have been a timid crowd into a powerful army, race, or nation."

Birth Rate Drops During War.

Sir William pointed out that Britain's birth rate dropped one million during the war. Normally, he said, these unborn would have been marrying, getting wedding presents, renting houses, and buying houses about 1943.

"How long is the business man going to ignore facts like these in planning the year ahead?" Sir William asked.

Dr. Brown also suggested a mild form of hypnotism to help stomach aches and inferiority complexes. He said that persons who have indigestion and those who think they are inferior can get this kind of hypnotic relief by lying down and relaxing; then letting a good psychologist convince them that everything is all right.

Tells of India Marriage Custom.

Dr. Christoph von Furer-Haimen Dorf, talking of marriage customs among the Konyak Nagas of Assam, India, told the association that there the wife does not go to live with her husband until she has borne her first child. The husband may or may not be the father. Regardless of paternity, the scientist explained, the child becomes the husband's legal heir.

U. S. DIPLOMATS SPLIT OVER GOING TO NAZI PARLEY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Two high ranking American diplomats accredited to Germany apparently have split on the question of whether the United States should be represented at the forthcoming Nazi party congress at Nuremberg.

Well informed persons reported today that Ambassador William E. Dodd, now in this country, has criticized the plans of Prentiss Gilbert, chargé d'affaires in Berlin, to attend the Nuremberg gathering with other foreign diplomatic representatives. Dodd voiced his criticism to Secretary Hull, it was said.

State department officials declined to comment. They did say, however, that the United States has not been represented in previous years.

THREE BIRTHS IN FAMILY TANGLE RELATIONSHIPS

New York, Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. Loretta Rushman and her two stepdaughters, all of whom gave birth to babies within sixty-five hours, showed their offsprings today at Margaret Hague Maternity hospital, Jersey City, N. J. All were in one big room.

Mrs. Rushman, 37 years old, whose husband is a hardware salesman, rested comfortably in the center bed with Arthur Robert, her third child and Mr. Rushman's eighth. To the left was Mrs. Louis Rutherford, 22, whose husband is a utility man, with Robert Jr. To the right was Mrs. Irene Hampton, 18, wife of a truck driver, with Patricia May.

The three mothers had a gay time figuring out the relationship of their three children and other members of the family.

MARTHA RAYE TO SUE FOR DIVORCE, SAYS ATTORNEY

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Definite announcement that a divorce action will be filed for Martha Raye, movie comedienne, was made by her attorney today following the disclosure by police that her husband, Buddy Westmore, was involved in a fist fight in a Hollywood night club she attended last night.

Lieut. William Burris said Westmore, his brother, Purc; an unidentified waiter, and Pete Bauman, who was with Martha's mother in another party, fought in the men's room of the café.

MRS. ELEANOR M'MILLAN.

Judge Michael Feinberg yesterday granted Mrs. Eleanor Grove MacMillan, 16 years old, 3500 Euclid avenue, Berwyn, annulment of her marriage to Donald MacMillan, 25, a window trimmer. Mrs. MacMillan, when questioned by her attorney, Benjamin Wham, said she falsified her age when she was married to MacMillan in a Crown Point elopement Aug. 18. Deliberate evasion of the Illinois hygienic marriage law was also cited in the bill as ground for annulment, but was not pressed at the hearing.

A Wife's Forgotten Man Causes Annulment Suit

Walter F. Querl, 30 years old, 605 St. Clair street, a barber, charged yesterday in a suit for annulment filed in the Circuit court by Attorney Norman Becker that his wife, Laura, 28, failed to divorce her first husband before she was married to Querl last May 7. She became the wife of Charles Thomas in May, 1935, the suit charges.

JEWS ORDERED TO SHUT SHOPS FOR NAZI RALLY

But Must Illuminate and Decorate Them.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 3.—All Jewish shops in Nuremberg must be closed during the annual Nazi party rally there beginning on Monday. That order was issued to "prevent disturbances."

However, Jewish shop windows must be decorated and the blinds not drawn. They also must be illuminated in the evenings. Jewish shop owners will be permitted to decorate their shops with green garlands, if they desire.

With termination of the league of nations control commission in Upper Silesia, the so-called Nuremberg ghetto laws now apply in that part of Upper Silesia within German borders. A total of 52 Jewish notaries have been removed from their posts.

Rally to Be Filmed.

The filming of the rally will be made under the direction of Hermann Stoess. Previous rally films were directed by Leni Riefenstahl, actress, appointed by Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, to be film expert to the Nazi party.

No explanation was given for the change. It is presumed Miss Riefenstahl still is engaged on the Olympic games film to be realesed next year. Recent rumors that Miss Riefenstahl had fallen into disfavor with Hitler were denied.

Mussolini to Visit Germany.

Next in importance to the rally is Premier Mussolini's impending visit to Germany. An official communique issued tonight said his visit will be in the latter part of this month. Mussolini will attend the German army maneuvers and later will visit Berlin. The communique said:

"The chief of the Italian government, Benito Mussolini, comes to Germany in the second half of September on the invitation of the fuehrer and reich chancellor [Adolf Hitler]. It is an event of unprecedented supreme importance that the creator of Fascist Italy and the creator of National Socialist Germany thus will meet personally.

Life of Peoples Reshaped.

"The meeting shall and will serve to demonstrate the relationship and unity of the powerful revolutionary movements which in both countries have led to a new shaping of the entire life of the people and state.

"The whole German nation united in National Socialism shares with its fuehrer deeply felt joy at being able to welcome Il Duce of Fascist Italy in the near future on German soil."

Meanwhile, church and college affairs interested many in the nation.

The provincial committee of the Evangelical church of the old Prussian union has been dissolved by Hans Kerrl, minister for church affairs, following the resignation of two members of the committee.

Two Will Control Affairs.

The functions of the committee will be carried out by the president of the Evangelical supreme church council and the president of the financial department of the same council.

Duels of honor in which "alte herren" are engaged are to be fought with heavy sabers, the National Students' league decided today. The "alte herren" are university graduates who in their student days belonged to a university corps, and still retain membership.

The sabers were chosen for defending the honor of these men because they used such weapons in their youth.

ACTION ON COVADONGA DIVORCE BEGUN; BRIDE MAKES NO CHARGES

HAVANA, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The count of Covadonga, once heir to the lost throne of Spain, and his bride of two months began final divorce action today.

For the Bourbon it was his second divorce action in fifteen weeks. He and the first countess, formerly Edelmira Sampedro, were divorced in May.

"By mutual disagreement" was the cause of action filed in court of first instance, eastern division, by Dr. José L. Pessino, who represents both petitioners and who married them.

The bride, formerly Maria Rocafort, set forth in her petition that there are no possible heirs, no charges made, and no alimony asked. In the absence of complications Cuban courts follow a rapid fire divorce procedure.

Some such actions have been executed in 60 hours. The maximum allowed for ratification of the petition and final decree is 35 days. Both wives of the count were Cuban commoners.

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

FIELD PORTRAIT?

By CALEB

Marshall Field & Co.
Caleb:

I have been reading with interest the series of single column advertisements that you have been publishing recently in The Chicago Tribune and I gathered that your store was an ideal place in which to shop, so I entered your store on Friday expecting something out of the ordinary in service, stock, and organization.

I wanted some rubber bottle stoppers to put in ginger ale bottles after the cap had been taken off, so I went to the department on the second floor handling bar equipment. I stood around for ten minutes without the slightest attention being paid to me by any of the girls, so I finally collared a man rushing through the department, by main force, and he directed me to the Household Utilities Department on the ninth floor.

Arriving there, I informed a gentleman of my needs and he sniffed disdainfully and haughtily told me to ask one of the girls. I asked the first one I could stop but that wasn't her department either, so I wandered around for another ten minutes. I again stopped another girl rushing by, almost by main force, and she directed me to a department over in the corner of the main department.

When the girl actually told me that I was finally where the bottle stoppers were sold, I could scarcely believe my ears but alas, she couldn't find them. It seems that Miss Miller knew where they were kept, but Miss Miller wasn't there. So she screamed "Miss Miller" at the top of her voice! Honestly, I didn't know whether I was in a fish market or at a hog calling contest! Can't you do something about that shouting from one department to another? I'm sure your customers would appreciate it! Miss Miller shouted back and, after a long distance conversation, the first girl informed me that you were entirely out of rubber bottle stoppers! I wearily wended my way out of your store, disgusted and disappointed at the miserable service and the wasted half hour. I guess any store is only as big as the people it employs!

A Disillusioned Shopper.

JAPS REPULSED AS NEW BATTLE JARS SHANGHAI

Foreign Ships Are Warned by Nipponese.

other foreign warships was indicated. A Japanese navy spokesman said its vessels, rather than continue to submit to heavy pounding from the Chinese land batteries, would shift into positions from which they could reply effectively regardless of the dangers to which foreign men of war might be exposed.

Early Friday Chinese shore batteries, especially in Pootung, began pounding the Japanese at Shanghai. The gunners scored three direct hits on the Japanese consulate general on the Whangpoo water front. Three Japanese consular policemen and a Japanese newspaper man were wounded seriously.

Many Japanese sailors on shore or shipboard were killed or wounded. Many Japanese civilians in the Hongkew district, which the Japanese hold, were reported killed. A Japanese naval spokesman said grimly, "there will be retribution."

The United States navy supply ship Gold Star ran the gantlet of shell fire down the Whangpoo to evacuate about 100 wives and children of American marines.

Chinese officers said 200 Japanese had been killed in an unsuccessful attempt to land on Pootung point, opposite the Japanese consulate general.

Clash North of Shanghai.

Fighting continued with hardly a pause along the Woosung-Lotien-Liuho line north of Shanghai, and the Japanese admitted heavy losses in their attempts to drive inland from the Yangtze. Less than a score survived the effort of a Japanese infantry company to relieve a village near Lotien surrounded by 5,000 Chinese.

Chinese in Shanghai took courage from reports that several regiments of the Manchukuo army had revolted against the Japanese controled régime, threatening serious difficulties for Japan in China's former Manchurian provinces. The reports, however, lacked confirmation from independent sources.

Meanwhile in the conquered Peiping-Tientsin area the Japanese steadily tightened their domination. They began restoration of the Confucian rites of the old Chinese imperial court, and Chinese saw in this an indication that the Emperor Kang Teh of Manchukuo, once the boy emperor Hsuan Tung of China, would be brought back to Peiping to the dragon throne to rule over Manchuria and North China.

ANNOUNCE NEW STATE

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Sept. 4 [Saturday].—An autonomous régime will be proclaimed today in Chahar province, northern China, according to the Domei [Japanese] news agency. While the head of the new state has not been named, the newspapers Nichi Nichi and Yomiuri, published in Tokio, significantly printed a photograph this morning of Prince Teh, and referred to him as ruler of Mongolia.

Prince Teh is the hereditary ruler of the Sunnet tribes and the self-proclaimed commander of the Inner Mongolian army.

Informed quarters, commenting on the movement, pointed out that the objective of the Japanese army is to crush the Chinese army. In 1931 the objective was the creation of Manchukuo.

$737,000,000 Jap War Chest.

TOKIO, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The cabinet today approved an increase of Japan's war fund for the campaigns in China to approximately $737,000,000.

With more than 500,000,000 yen [$145,000,000] already appropriated, the ministers approved a third supplementary budget for 2,042,000,000 yen [about $592,000,000]. The $737,000,000 total is more than the empire spent altogether on its wars with China in 1894-'95 and Russia in 1904-'05.

[The Chinese war in 1894-'95 cost 200,000,000 yen or $58,000,000, and the

The 737 millions involved in the present Japanese-Chinese war represents the sum approved by the Japanese cabinet to date, but not yet spent. Practically all of Japan's budget, now before parliament, is for war purposes.

Virtually All For War Use.

All of the new budget is allotted to war purposes except 20,000 yen [$5,800] for bacteriological research.

Cabinet approval was hastened in order to prepare the appropriations for adoption by a special session of the diet which organized today and adjourned until tomorrow, when Emperor Hirohito will read his message from the throne.

The new appropriations set aside 2,000,000,000 yen [$580,000,000] for the army and navy. Finances for all other government departments were concerned directly or indirectly with the war.

Japan Charges Invasion of Manchukuo by Russians

TOKIO, Sept. 4 [Saturday].—(AP)—The Domei [Japanese] News agency reported today from Harbin that two soviet gunboats had disregarded the frontier, penetrated thirty-one miles into the far northeast Manchukuan province of Sankiang and seized a number of Manchukuo residents who were seeking to escape bandits. The prisoners were taken into Siberia, the agency said.

DIES OF HEART ATTACK.

Jacob Tahl, 69 years old, 4423 Clifton avenue, a retired dress manufacturer, died of a heart attack in his home yesterday.

A. FELIX DU PONT DIVORCED, REWED IN NEVADA DAY

Bride from Delaware Marvel Family.

Reno, Nev., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—A. Felix du Pont, member of the famous munitions manufacturing family and vice president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., was the author of two surprises in this state today.

Shortly before the usual hour of court adjournment in Carson City he appeared there and after a brief hearing behind closed doors was granted a divorce from his wife of thirty-five years, Mrs. Mary Chichester du Pont.

A few hours later Mr. du Pont appeared in the home of his lawyer, Lester D. Summerfield, near Reno, and married Mrs. Ann B. De Armond of Rehoboth Beach, Del. The ceremony was performed by Judge Thomas F. Moran, famous as a divorce court jurist, and was witnessed only by Mr. Summerfield, Mrs. Summerfield, and a few other friends.

Leave for California.

Tonight the newlyweds were somewhere between here and California. They left by motor shortly after the wedding ceremony. The new Mrs. du Pont is the former Miss Ann Marvel, member of the famous Delaware Marvels, one of whom, the late Josiah H. Marvel, was a president of the American Bar association.

The divorce plan of Mr. du Pont was not generally known. He had been living the required residential time in this state at an isolated ranch south of Reno. To a few persons he was known as Mr. Ames. The fact he sought the dissolution of his old marriage in Carson City rather than here naturally helped prevent earlier publicity.

Charges Mental Cruelty.

Mr. du Pont charged mental cruelty. A property settlement, said to be quite substantial, was arranged, but not made public.

Mr. du Pont, a member of the Alexis du Pont branch of the du Pont clan, married the woman he divorced today at Philadelphia in April, 1902. They had three children.

Ex-Kaiser's Wife Out of Danger After Operation

BERLIN, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Anxiety of the Hohenzollern family for former Kaiser Wilhelm's second wife, Hermine, was relieved today when surgeons announced she was out of danger after a serious operation at a hospital near Potsdam last week.

ESCAPES SHANGHAI BOMBS BY TWO DAYS, RETURNS TO CHICAGO

Mrs. Adolph Klein.

Mrs. Adolph R. Klein, 2323 Commonwealth avenue, who left Shanghai two days before the bombardment of the International settlement there, arrived home yesterday.

"No one was frightened or upset in Shanghai by the outbreak," she said. "Although I saw thousands of people, with household possessions piled up in their rickshaws, going toward the International shelter for protection, no one thought it would ever be touched.

"My friends said—'There's nothing to worry about. We'll just move into the Cathay hotel.' And the Cathay hotel was one of the first places struck by the bombs."

YOUNG CHINESE IN CITY DANCE TO AID HOMELAND

Several hundred young Chinese couples, members of the Young China club and the Young China auxiliary, danced last night at On Leong hall, 2216 Wentworth avenue. Funds raised at the dance will be added to the war chest being raised by the city's Chinese to be sent to Shanghai to aid in the conflict with Japan.

At the same time members of the executive committee of the Chinese emergency relief fund met at the hall to discuss means of reaching their campaign goal of $300,000 for the aid of war victims in China.

James P. Goodrich, Former Indiana Governor, Ill

300 ARE HURLED TO DEATH BY A 6 FT. TIDAL WAVE

HONGKONG, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The death toll of the typhoon which devastated Hongkong yesterday rose tonight when it was disclosed that at least 300 persons died at one point where a six foot tidal wave was hurled half a mile inland by the mighty wind.

Many bodies were found in the ruins of Taipo village and the nearby market place, a few miles from Hongkong. Police estimated that at least 300 more had died at other places, while it was still impossible to estimate the loss of life at sea.

Strong gales still whipped Hongkong harbor and nearby waters, but the main storm roared on to the north, hugging the China coast. Weather men said it probably would strike again with destructive force, perhaps between Amoy and Foochow on the Fukien coast, and likely would pass close to war gripped Shanghai.

FRANCE CHARGES ITALIAN BASES MENACE SECURITY

Demands Mediterranean Forces Be Withdrawn.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 3.—France will take advantage of the Mediterranean powers' conference during the league of nations meeting in Geneva next week to declare that the Italian air and submarine bases in the Balearic Islands and on the Spanish mainland are a menace to her communications with Africa.

She will, accordingly, call on Italy to withdraw armed forces from these bases and abandon them.

A clear indication that this will be the position of the French delegation at the conference was obtained tonight from a semi-official source. The meeting probably will be held in Lausanne.

French "Mean Business."

The French also may denounce Italy for violation of the international accord for nonintervention in Spain, but the French stand frankly will be based on national security rather than the juridical point. This suffices to indicate that the conference will be a "serious business" meeting of powers who "mean business."

Public denunciation of Italy as a treaty breaker and a French dossier of evidence regarding Italy's rôle in the pirate attacks on shipping in the Mediterranean will be made, if at all, before the league of nations council and presumably only if the Mediterranean talks break down.

If the conference succeeds, the French believe it will lay the foundation for a Mediterranean security pact and perhaps eventually a settlement of the Spanish civil war.

If it fails completely, war between Italy and France is likely to result.

The likeliest result of all, however, is neither failure nor success, but a temporizing compromise which will necessitate another showdown a few weeks or months hence.

State Italy's Position.

Italy, it was learned here, is willing to attend the meeting, and there is said to be an agument between France and England on the fundamental aims of the conference. The details still are being negotiated. Tentative results of these negotiations so far were believed to be as follows:

Italy wanted the government of Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish rebel commander, to be represented as a Mediterranean power, and France insisted that only the Valencia-Madrid government should send representatives.

France and England now have agreed it is better not to invite either. Italy's position on this point is not known.

England wanted recognition of the Italian empire to be on the agenda of the conference. France cannot admit this officially. France wants the Black sea considered as part of the Mediterranean and invitations be sent to Russia and Rumania accordingly. Great Britain disapproves. No decision has been reached.

Soviet Ships Hunting "Pirates."

Late tonight rumors reached Paris that soviet Russia has dispatched a fleet to the Mediterranean, presumably from the Black sea, to protect her shipping against pirate attacks. If confirmed, this will overshadow all other phases of the Mediterranean problem and give diplomats something to worry about.

Today, the British admiralty ordered the eleventh destroyer division to join other destroyers now on the east coast of Spain to hunt for "pirate" submarines attacking shipping.

This brings its destroyer force in the waters to thirteen. The new division consists of the Fury and the Forester from Portsmouth, and the Firedrake and the Fortune from Chatham.

BOTH IN COURT

Mrs. Mildred Geller (left) and Mrs. Virginia Geller.

Mrs. Mildred Geller, 5340 Wrightwood avenue, had rather a full day yesterday in the county building. She succeeded in having Judge Michael Feinberg order her ex-husband, Alfred C. Geller, 32 years old, 1812 Chicago avenue, Evanston, to pay part of the $1,200 he owes for support of their daughter Elaine, 9, on threat of jail.

LOYALISTS GIVE UP AREA ALONG BAY OF BISCAY

But Government Forces Capture Belchite.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The last remnant of Spanish government territory in Northwest Spain, a strip about 90 square miles along the Bay of Biscay, tonight was shrinking rapidly.

With insurgent legions sweeping from three directions on Gijon, last government stronghold in the Biscayan country, most government sympathizers were resigned to its loss.

Remnants of government troops who arrived as refugees in French ports and insurgent officers at Irun, Spain, both told the same story.

Seek to Save Lives.

The Spanish northwest, they said, is convinced that further resistance against the insurgents is hopeless. They want Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces to complete their occupation quickly so as to prevent useless bloodshed.

Franco's coastal column, based on insurgent held Santander, reached a point just outside Llanes, about 60 miles east of Gijon.

The insurgent defenders of Oviedo, on the aggressive for the first time in more than a year, organized a column to attack Gijon, about 20 miles distant, from the south.

Franco's third column, pressing in on Gijon's only other land side, was at Pravia, near the coast and about 30 miles west of the apparently doomed city.

Loyalists Win Belchite.

The fall of Belchite to hard driving government troops was announced tonight in a communique issued by the Spanish ministry of defense in Valencia.

Government troops took the town, 22 miles southeast of Saragossa, on the Aragon front, late today, after five days of furious fighting, it said.

Observers said its capture was of strategic importance in the government's offensive in Aragon because it meant strengthening the line between the Saragossa sector and the Teruel front, to the south.

The communique said 1,500 insurgents were killed in the battle and 500 captured. Hundreds deserted to the government ranks, it added.

BEST EFFORT OF U. S. PLEDGED TO SAVE DAHL'S LIFE

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Effort is being made by the state department at Washington to obtain the release of Harold E. Dahl, Champaign aviator who was captured by the Spanish rebels and who, it is reported, will be executed.

Mrs. Ida Dahl, mother of the aviator, who was shot down when flying over the rebel lines in July, today was cheered by receipt of a telegram from State Secretary Cordell Hull in which he stated every effort was being made by the state department to induce Gen. Franco to release Dahl.

"While we fully realize your feelings and anxiety it is not possible for us to do more than use our best efforts to induce Gen. Franco to prevent the execution of your son," Secretary Hull's message said. "We have sent several telegrams to this end to our consular officers in Spain."

8 More Rightist Enemies of Soviet Rule Executed

MOSCOW, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Eight more persons convicted as rightist enemies of the soviet régime were shot and killed today in Leningrad province and two others were sentenced to 10 years in prison. They were reported to have confessed attempts to hamper development of collective farming in the Krasnovardisky district.

Soviet's Big Defense Loan Reported Oversubscribed

MOSCOW, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The soviet's 4,000,000,000 ruble [$800,000,000] defense loan was reported oversubscribed today when the lists were closed. Officials said subscriptions totaled 4,950,807,000 rubles. The government floated the loan last July 1, paying 4 per cent interest, and announced the purpose was "consolidation of national defense."

ARE YOU FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS?

When Chicago began to report an increasing volume of infantile paralysis cases, in excess of the totals of any recent year, there was only one prudent course to follow. That was the course taken by school authorities at the suggestion of the city board of health in ordering that schools remain closed until danger of an epidemic is passed. That is assumed to be coincident with the arrival of permanently cooler weather.

The action taken was in keeping with the soundest rule of public health administration—that it is better to prevent an epidemic than to fight it after it has gained headway. Toronto took similar action three weeks ago. Buffalo, Omaha, Council Bluffs, and Milwaukee have followed the example of Chicago, and Cleveland was considering it at the last report.

The wisdom of the steps taken, and these also include small parks, pools, and playgrounds, seems so self-evident that no comment would have been necessary had not certain critics of the city administration made a frantic effort to find a hidden political motive for the action where none existed. To them the question might well be put: "Are you for infantile paralysis or against it?"

BEST WISHES FOR THE CUBS.

The Chicago Cubs at this writing are again behind the New York Giants. What happens between this writing and the publication of tomorrow's newspaper must be taken into account, and also must be discarded. The major question is the final outcome of the National league pennant race as our favorite Cubs are involved in it. Many of the most loyal Cub fans hope that their fellows remain at the end of the season about two points, or one if it is possible, behind the Giants.

No loyalist in this respect could possibly wish the Cubs to go into a post-season series with the murderous Yanks. These periods of misery have been experienced by the Chicago loyalists a number of times. Mr. Wrigley's young men do very well in their own league, but they do very badly when they are out up against the money competition of the world series. It may easily be that they want their share of the money as the loser, but it is too much of a strain on the emotional city of Chicago, which is generous and expansive, to welcome this contest which will bring only municipal grief and sorrow.

It may be contended that if the Cubs do not succeed in meeting the Yankees in the world series they will have to come up against their natural and successful enemies, the White Sox. Yet this does not happen to be inevitable. The Cubs, if they finish one game behind the Giants, can say that they are too tired to meet the White Sox and thus they can avoid being licked forthright to the consternation of all their supporters. A second place team in any league can avoid meeting its city opponent or another opponent.

The premonition of what would happen if the Cubs meet the Yankees is so ominous that we who are Cub fans and are entirely in support of Mr. Charles Grimm hope that he will not succeed in putting his team in the predicament which would ensue if he were to lead his young men to a victory in the National league. Some distresses should be spared the community. This is one of them. The Cubs should become a strong runner-up in the National league and then retire from all future entanglements.

Let New York have the world series and have all the disturbing emotions which will come from the result.

It is all right to indorse Mayor Kelly's policy of keeping Chicago ahead, but don't let's try it with Mr. Grimm's young men against the Yankees—the thing will be too terrible.

THE TRACTION IMPASSE.

The Chicago traction problem seems again to have entered one of its protracted rest periods. As the matter stands, the surface lines have submitted a plan that would involve a consolidation of the street car and motor coach companies. Following the merger, duplications of service would be eliminated, all surface line equipment completely rehabilitated, and trolley buses substituted for trolley cars on many streets. This promises something for local transportation, but what of rapid transit? Mayor Kelly insists that the elevated lines must be fitted into the picture. The operating companies maintain that this will be impossible under present circumstances.

In the meantime, Reporter Bromage of THE TRIBUNE staf has been writing a series of articles on the traction problems of Boston, New York, and Philadelphia following personal observation of conditions existing in these cities. In some cases the service, and particularly rapid transit, is far better than that available at Chicago. In other cases it is worse. In one particular, however, Chicago leads all other metropolitan centers. Its traction industry is privately owned, and is not only paying its way, but has subscribed substantially to a traction fund. In the eastern cities rapid transit is subsidized by the taxpayer. The seven or ten cents paid by the Chicagoan covers the cost of transportation, whereas the New Yorker's nickel is merely a "down payment," with a further instalment of from nine to fifteen cents added to rent and grocery bills.

While this review may make the long suffering strap hanger feel better, the fact remains that the vacation season is over, and folks are returning home to produce the normally busy fall season. Facilities will prove more inadequate than ever, and this retarding condition must have its effect on the local as well as the express lines. The trolley-coach combination should be able to see that the lack of rapid transit is hurting them as well as the rest of the city and that some offer to assume both obligations is due from them. They must be aware that the express route of the elevated could be of incalculable advantage to them either as bus or skip-stop service routes for their equipment. Pressure should be brought to bear upon them to submit a revised plan that will include all facilities.

ARE WE ALREADY RUSSIANS?

The report of the International Institute of Agriculture issued at Rome asserted that "unless the world is to acknowledge utter bankruptcy and admit that its planned economy is a system of bold economic suicide, it eventually—and the sooner the better—must change the direction of its planning efforts."

The report contains the conclusions of the experts of 72 nations, including the United States, who have viewed the economic, social, and political conditions in a world-wide survey. They agreed that no community could advance in prosperity and civilization if it continued indefinitly a system of crop restriction. Here in our own country Mr. Roosevelt frequently observes that one-third of the people are ill fed, and supports and advances Mr. Wallace's scheme of crop reduction and subsidy.

The inconsistency would seem to lay itself wide open. The ill fed cannot be nourished by lessening production and pricing it out of reach. The ill clothed cannot be clothed by reducing the production and increasing the price of raw materials, and the ill housed cannot be put under decent roofs by the government housing schemes, whether they are known as slum clearance or as Tugwell resettlements.

A significant paragraph in the international report puts the United States in the communist and Fascist group with this paragraph: "In the United States, which after the totalitarian states and soviet Russia is the country where government intervention in economic activity under Roosevelt administration has been the most thorough and comprehensive of all, agriculture and trade have been placed under the strictest control."

FEEDING HAWAII.

Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, who is taking command of the Sixth corps area at Chicago after two and a half years as commanding general of the Hawaiian department, has drawn attention to a serious weakness of our Pacific Gibraltar. This is the failure of the islands, which have some of the finest agricultural lands in the world, to feed themselves.

The principal island, Oahu, on which Honolulu and the great naval base of Pearl Harbor are located, imports 85 per cent of its foodstuffs from the American mainland, from other islands of the group, or from other lands, from which it might conceivably be isolated in time of war. The army and navy can provide a sufficient food reserve for their own personnel, but there is an additional civilian population of 210,000, and Gen. Drum sees an increase of small farming as the only feasible means of providing for them.

The failure of Hawaii to remain self-sustaining may presumably be traced to the same cause which is the root of so much of Cuba's political and social trouble. This is the fact that it is more profitable to use land for production of sugar, pineapples, and other fruit, which are exported to the United States, than to raise foodstuffs for local consumption.

Under such economic conditions it is doubtful whether much can be accomplished toward self-sufficiency without government intervention, but if there was ever an argument for regimented agriculture the military value of Hawaii furnishes it.

No agricultural group has been a more persistent seeker of governmental favors than the sugar industry, and the Hawaiian producers have not been backward in demanding their share of the favors. In return for these favors it should be demanded that enough land be set aside on Oahu to make the island reasonably self-sustaining. The probable economic loss to commercial agriculture on the island could very fairly be charged off as an insurance premium helping to guarantee continued American control of properties there.

Editorial of the Day

WHY BRITAIN IS PERTURBED.

[Nashville Tennessean.]

Ambassador Bingham, catching a fast boat from London, expects to be in Washington soon for a brief visit that has "no especial significance."

But England, alarmed at last over the fate of her vast investments in Shanghai and the Yangtze valley, has been making overtures to the United States to see how much coöperation and backing it can expect in making representations to Japan. And there is a strong suspicion that Mr. Bingham comes bearing messages in line with the recent British publicity campaign to convince the United States that any trouble in the far east is essentially America's problem.

The extent of British uneasiness is revealed in the comment of the London Star this week:

"The hush-hush over Shanghai is as quiet as the passing of Chinese dividends is going to be. A frank statement on the Japanese plans there ought to be made by our foreign office, who have the information. Mr. Eden prefers to keep it in his sleeve for the present lest the British financiers, investors and business men become scared.

"The Japanese desire complete freedom in Shanghai. They want the entire international settlement liquidated. They want the British, the Americans, and the French to evacuate their areas completely, and to allow the Japanese to take over.

"The suggestion has created consternation among our diplomatic people. Such a move would leave Japan strategically and commercially at the gate of the Yangtze. The other foreign powers would never be able to return."

Similar ideas prevail on this side of the water, the only difference being that Washington apparently does not feel impelled to do anything about it. Remembering the disappointment of 1931, when Sir John Simon let them down with soft talk, our diplomatic experts have a natural reluctance for stepping out in front in this new emergency.

Secretary Hull doubtless will be glad to hear England's views as confided to Ambassador Bingham, but regardless of persuasive talk from London his first job is to keep the United States out of the China mess as far as is possible.

FAIR.

We came as soon as gates were swung ajar—
We'd gone our choring rounds by lantern light.
I never miss the fair; my farm lies far—
We'll leave when yellow stars are out tonight.
Today we saw old neighbors; not a half
Of those we greeted will we chance to see
Until next year; our chickens and a calf

The band break into music; oh, how fine
The morning is; the sky is blue and clear—
No better melon ever graced a vine—
Our threshing's done; our fodder's half in shock;
Our day! The races start at two o'clock!

Sam from New York blew into Rocky Gulch and got in the poker game behind the Kid's saloon. The first pot was won by a miner who said he had three aces, but failed to show his hand, although called. It was explained that it was the local custom merely to report holdings. For an hour after that Sam did well. As he raked in a pot he looked toward the ceiling and saw hanging to the rafters two coffinlike boxes. What, he asked, were they? "Them, pardner," said the dealer slowly, "is eastern fellers that come in here and miscalled their hands."

CLEANSE YOUR SKIN—AVOID IMPETIGO.

SCHOOL will open soon, and among the skin diseases that may affect many pupils is impetigo. This is an unsightly affliction, characterized by an acute inflammation of the skin. It generally occurs about the mouth and nose, on the cheeks, chin, hands, and forearms, and arises because the causative organisms are acquired from some one who has the difficulty.

The cause is thought to be a certain strain of the staphylococcus, although streptococci also are nearly always found in the eruptions. It may be disseminated by the common towel or drinking cup, the fingers, clothing, etc. One case may and usually will lead to others, particularly if the same objects are handled.

The lesions show up first as small, red, raised regions which develop rather quickly into flat appearing blisters, the fluid within them soon becoming pus-like. As these blemishes dry they form crusty looking masses, yellowish brown in shade, and when removed forcibly the surface beneath will bleed. Several may coalesce [run together], extending over considerable territory—three or four inches in diameter. Especially in young children the eruptions may spread rapidly and their edges unite. It is not a rare experience to find a large proportion of the epidermis of the buttocks, back, or abdomen undergoing this type of inflammation. Most patients will have a slight rise in temperature, but this may not be noticeable, and, as a rule, itching is not a typical symptom. It is far more serious in infants than in older children or adults.

The infection is sometimes planted through some other skin irritation that has caused itching, which in turn has led to scratching with dirty fingers. Any break or crack in the outer layers of the cuticle may open an avenue for the offending germs. Mosquito bites may incite enough scratching to inoculate the organisms. The presence of head lice [pediculosis] may prepare the soil for impetigo.

The first case or two in a schoolroom may be observed in children who are likely to come from less clean homes. Many a lad resents the admonition to wash his face and hands frequently, though he may be just the one who will carry disease to others. This is not always so, however. As no part of the body is exempt, neither is any age, sex, or class of society. The story is related of a prominent society woman who rushed home from Europe to consult her dermatologist about a stubborn skin affection that had defied continental experts. It proved to be a simple impetigo.

The condition is not difficult to recognize; in fact, school nurses often are first to "spot" it. Once detected, the patient should be retained within the confines of his own house and yard to protect others and for a period long enough to insure complete healing.

Remedies include almost every known antiseptic. The accepted routine treatment consists first in softening the crusts through the application of bits of gauze soaked in sterile olive oil. These compresses may be allowed to remain for twenty-four hours, after which the scabs may be lifted from the skin without injury. This is followed by the application of a 5 per cent ammoniated mercury ointment, the dressings being changed at least every ten to twelve hours.

Recovery under this plan occupies from two to four days. If gauze pads are not used, the ointment itself may be put on the lesions every three or four hours, but the dressings are more efficient, kept in place with a fairly firm bandage. Adhesive tape is not advised, because the infection may creep beneath the rubber strips where they come in contact with the skin.

In young children and infants, where the blisterlike affairs are large, each should be punctured with a sterile needle and a 10 per cent boric acid ointment applied. Tincture of gentian violet is also recommended, but the ointment has the advantage of keeping the skin soft and avoiding fissures or cracks.

Ultraviolet light and the X-ray have both been employed. The former is a valuable aid to treatment, especially when the disorder is extensive. British writers prefer ultraviolet, the exposure involving the whole body at a distance of three feet. This no doubt raises the level of resistance somewhat and helps the system to overcome the disease.

Occasionally these sores exist for weeks or months unrecognized. They may be seen on the hands and face of adults who do not cleanse the skin with sufficient thoroughness, as on the bearded areas in men. Many of these persons are constantly picking at the crusts, making their fingers a source of infection to others. Newborn babes are unusually susceptible, and—despite the most scrupulous aseptic precautions—epidemics may break out in nurseries.

When all is said and done, impetigo is a filth disease. Its prevention demands extra good hygiene of the skin.

CAN BE CURED.

Constant Reader writes:

Due to the fact that I have had to help support a large family, I have never been able to think of marriage, and at the age of 35 I am still single. There is a man who would like to marry me, but I learn that he suffered from syphilis about five years ago [contracted while under the influence of liquor]. He had immediate treatment and claims he is now cured. My family tells me there is no cure and wants me to forget him.

1. Is there a cure for syphilis?
2. Would it be advisable to marry a person of this type?

REPLY.

1. Yes. Early and continuous treatment will effect a cure.
2. Your health would not be endangered if periodic tests prove his blood to be negative.

WALKING.

H. R. W. writes: I feel that the essential importance of walking cannot be too strongly or too frequently advocated. Walking, swimming, and horseback riding are probably the three best all round forms of activity. Am I not right in putting walking first? I have practiced what I preach from youth into old age with no end of benefit.

REPLY.

I agree with you entirely. Walking is the ideal form of exercise. Furthermore, practically every one can indulge.

NEEDS NEW FOUNDATION.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—[Friend of the People.]—I am sending this letter in regard to the house next door. The foundation is giving way and the house is leaning over about a foot on our property. We have complained several times but have had no results. I feel that the house standing as it is is very dangerous. J. L.

Our inspector reports that the foundation posts of this brick residence are leaning to the west, putting the building out of plumb. The owner has been notified to put in new foundation and make all repairs necessary to keep said building continuously in a good and safe condition.

This department will proceed according to law in the event repairs are not made.

WALL IS BUCKLING.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—[Friend of the People.]—Directly across the street is a large warehouse and the brick wall is bulged out and the foundation is in bad shape. In view of the fact that children almost constantly play alongside of this wall it is extremely dangerous. Please help us to remedy this condition. E. F. G.

Our inspector reports that the east 100 foot wall of this one story warehouse is out of line and out of plumb. The owner has been notified to take down and rebuild said wall, and if the work is not done at the expiration of time allotted in our notice we will proceed as the law directs.

ATTENTION SENATOR DIETERICH.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—From talking with a number of citizens I find the opinion prevails that it is wrong for a senator or congressman to accept money for voting for or against a proposed act of congress; but that it is not wrong for him to so vote in consideration of the appointment of a person selected by him to a public office or position.

It seems to me that on this question the following act of congress is pertinent:

United States code annotated, Title 18, Section 199: Accepting bribe by member of congress. Whoever, being elected or appointed a member of or delegate to congress, or a resident commissioner, shall, after his election or appointment and either before or after he has qualified, and during his continuance in office, directly or indirectly, ask, accept, receive, or agree to receive, any money, property, or other valuable consideration, or any promise, contract, undertaking, obligation, gratuity, or security for the payment of money or for the delivery or conveyance of anything of value to him or to any person with his consent, connivance, or concurrence, for his attention to, or services, or with the intent to have his action, vote, or decision influenced, on any question, matter, cause, or proceeding, which may at any time be pending in either house of congress or before any committee thereof, or which by law or under the constitution may be brought before him in his official capacity, or in his place as such member, delegate, or resident commissioner, shall be fined not more than three times the amount asked, accepted, or received, and imprisoned not more than three years; and shall, moreover, forfeit his office or place and thereafter be forever disqualified from holding any office of honor, trust, or profit under the government of the United States.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Is it possible to demand from our white livered administration at Washington some protection for our nationals now in China—and get it for them? Now, how about a few of our battleships to Shanghai to protect American rights there? CHARLES G. OVERWATER.

THE LETTERS ON SPAIN.

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 31.—In "A Loyalist Lieutenant's'" reply to Mr. Schaible's letter two great surprises are encountered. To send a wounded man on leave from Madrid to Chicago, especially when there is such a derth of loyalist officers, is a fact unprecedented in the annals of fighting anywhere. How generous of the Valencia government! Secondly, this same government has, for some mysterious reason, concentrated all the Reds on the Toledo [Schaible's] front, completely purging other fronts not only of Reds but also of Pinks. What a strange procedure for an administration controled by the U. G. T. [Stalinist communist minority faction]!

The attentive analytical reader upon comparing the two above mentioned communications feels, whatever his opinions regarding the Spanish controversy, that Schaible's letter is based upon direct observation truthfully presented, while that of the Loyalist Lieutenant [?] has the ring of a pretty fabrication. O Propaganda, how many fibs are uttered in thy name! S. V.

THOSE RESERVED SEATS AGAIN.

Chicago, Aug 31.—Mr. Heifetz's appearance at Grant park Sunday night afforded Chicago's music lovers a rare treat.

The occasion was marred, however, by the wholly uncalled for segregation of the choicest section [some 1,500 seats], made accessible to holders of special passes only.

To reserve a few seats for a number of assorted dignitaries may be justified in view of the unselfish services they have undoubtedly rendered to the community.

But it is hard to condone the appropriation of such a large center section that—thanks to six heroically battling policemen—even to the very end of the concert a good number of choice seats remained unoccupied. E. RAPOPORT.

THE LOUIS-FARR FIGHT.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Judging from the reports by the sports writers during the past few weeks regarding the Louis-Farr fight, I think the sport writing fraternity needs some "new blood" worse than the Supreme court. They have certainly shown a serious lack of good judgment. They not only heaped ridicule and even abuse on Farr, but they fooled the public, and kept tens of thousands from seeing one of the best fights for years. F. W. STILWELL.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—I would like to give credit to our fire department for their promptness when called to a fire at 6601 Olmsted avenue.

I also want to give credit to all of the firemen for the way they cleaned everything after the fire. They did not do any unnecessary damage, as they so often are accused of doing. There were only two windows broken, which was absolutely necessary. MRS. A. H. DEHLINGER.

"Find This Girl"

BY ROY VICKERS [Copyright: 1937: by Roy Vickers.]

SYNOPSIS.

Bessie Mersand, a nurse, is acquitted of the charge of administering a fatal dose of sedinal to an elderly patient. Gwynneth Bentley and her lover, Roy Gleason, attended the trial. Later Gwynneth meets Bessie, who has changed her name to Mathews, and, waiving references, gives her a job caring for Gwynneth's invalid husband. She plans to kill her husband and plant the guilt on Bessie. Sedinal tablets for Gwynneth's sleeplessness are placed in Bessie's charge. Gwynneth hides a valuable jeweled dagger, then puts the ground tablets in her husband's food. She then gives Bessie the day off, and sends away Bessie's luggage to make it appear that Bessie has fled. In London Bessie meets her friend, Jim Watkin, who has heard of the crime over the ticker at his club. He hides Bessie in his apartment while he tries to gain proof of her innocence. To his friend Inspector Rason Jim introduces Bessie as his sister. Jim tricks Gwynneth into admitting that Roy Gleason is her lover, and gets Roy to admit that he and Gwynneth attended Bessie's trial, so knew her identity. Bessie had had a duplicate key, supposedly for her jewel case, made for Gwynneth. It was really a key to the safe containing the dagger. Jim learns Gwynneth knew of the locksmith who made it through her criminal brother.

INSTALMENT XXIV.

THE SUSPECT FOUND.

There were no clews whatever as to the missing nurse's whereabouts. That meant that the Yard was dependent upon the public finding her. And all that the public had been given was a description—which never helps much—three or four very indifferent photographs and a specimen of handwriting in that morning's newspapers.

"The handwriting won't be of any use," Inspector Rason opined—and therein he was very wrong indeed.

It was a long day, lasting until 7 o'clock in the evening.

Just as he was leaving, Yelland, his junior, came into the room.

"About the handwriting, sir. There's a postal official called."

"Well, you don't need me for that," returned Rason. "You can attend to him yourself, Yelland. I'm going home."

Some ten minutes later Rason was actually walking out of the building when Yelland ran up to him.

"Sorry to bother you, sir, but I think that handwriting business is rather important."

The postal official was an elderly, insignificant little man, swollen now with a tremendous sense of importance and secrecy.

"I'm a telegraph clerk in the telegraph office at Euston station," he explained as if this itself were a state secret. "I saw that picture of the handwriting in the papers this morning and I said to myself: 'I've seen that handwriting before. So I've brought you the actual telegraph form, out of the files, used by the young lady herself."

"What young lady?" asked Rason.

"Ah! She hasn't put a name. Had the best reasons for not doing that I shouldn't wonder. But if it isn't the same handwriting you can call me a Dutchman."

With many a glance at the door he took out a pocket case from which he produced a telegraph form.

"You can see that it was handed in at 2:20 the day before yesterday—must have been about an hour and a half after she left the poor man to his death."

He handed the telegraph form to Rason who instinctively read the text first.

"Pelicans at 4 if you have nothing better to do."

"I happened to look at the licensing trade list," continued the little clerk. "There's not a pub nor a hotel in all London called the Pelicans. Shouldn't be surprised if that was in code, would you, Mr. Rason!"

Rason did not answer. He was staring in sheer amazement at the name and address.

"James Watkin, Architects club, Pall Mall."

The little clerk was waiting expectantly.

"I think this will be of very great help indeed," said Rason absently. "If you'll let me keep it for twenty-four hours I will take care to return it to you undamaged."

By 8 o'clock the experts were unanimous in their opinion that the handwriting was that of the same young woman.

So Watkin had seen Nurse Mersand since she left Uplands! Since the murder. And he had kept it to himself.

He rang Watkin's flat and could get no answer. He went there in a taxi and through the glass panel saw that the flat was in darkness.

Then he settled himself down to wait.

"Our first duty," said Watkin, "is to avoid anything in the nature of depression. Tonight I propose to entrust to Miss Greta Garbo the task of alleviating the gloom that is inseparable from large doses of my society."

"I'm not gloomy, Jim, because I simply don't let myself think about—things," returned Bessie.

They went to the film but when Watkin suggested they should go on to supper somewhere afterward she declined.

They drove back to the flat. Watkin always refused to walk an unnecessary yard. They went upstairs to the landing—and on the landing Watkin saw the silhouette of a tall figure.

"Rason, by Jove!" he exclaimed. "Funny thing, isn't it!" he added to Bessie. "I had a sort of feeling the Yard would get into difficulties if I left them alone for twenty-four hours. Don't rag him. He's wearing the official face."

"That's because I'm tired," said Rason, and the three of them entered the flat.

"While you two are busy with your great thoughts I'm going to make you an omelette," said Bessie and disappeared into the kitchen.

The two men went into the sitting room.

"No, thanks."

"You sound down in the mouth, laddie. What's the matter?"

"You've been pulling my leg, Watkin."

Inwardly Watkin sprang on guard.

"You never mind that as a rule. What's biting you?"

"The fact that you have been hiding the woman we're looking for—while pretending to help me find her. "Look at that!" said Rason, and put on the table the telegraph form in Bessie's handwriting.

"I'm dead sore with you," continued Rason. "All the same, I'm not enjoying myself at this moment." He paused, cleared his throat, and added: "I've come for her, Watkin."

Through the shut door Jim Watkin could faintly hear Bessie clattering about in the kitchen making them an omelette. He wondered how long it took to make an omelette. Long or short, he had just that amount of time in which to talk Rason over.

"I'm sorry I pulled your leg," he began. "And I'll own up I'm sorrier still that you found out. If only you hadn't found out I'd have saved you from what is going to be the biggest mistake of your career, Rason. Are you willing to listen to me?"

Rason shrugged his shoulders.

"I'll listen, if you like. But I know what you're going to tell me—that the girl is innocent. You've said it before."

"She is. I'll make you believe it ——"

"You can save your breath, Watkin. I'm not the judge and the jury and you know it. It doesn't matter to me whether she's innocent or guilty. My job is to pull her in."

True, and a pretty nearly hopeless obstacle! Jim Watkin made a desperate attempt to crash through.

"This is how I know, Rason. . . . After her trial I followed her to St. James' park and spoke to her at the lake. I've met her there since from time to time. I was actually with her when she went to Denting to collect that key. I knew as well as you did that it wasn't the key of a jewel case—but the girl didn't. She wouldn't have been such a fool as to let me see it if she had been up to any game."

M'KINLEY SETS RECORD AS CHIEF OF CRIME COURT

Only 82 Cases Pending as Harrington Steps In.

Judge Michael L. McKinley ended his term as chief justice of the Criminal court yesterday with only eighty-two indictments pending on the court's docket, the best record in recent years. Judge McKinley will be succeeded as chief justice by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington, who will be inducted with ceremonies at 10 a. m. Monday. The new term will start Tuesday.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney went to Judge McKinley's court yesterday to compliment him on his record. "I wish to congratulate you on your splendid administration and also to extend my appreciation of the coöperation you have shown in carrying out the work of law enforcement in this county," Mr. Courtney said.

Gives Credit to Judges.

Judge McKinley replied that credit for the accomplishment should be spread among the various judges. Their coöperation, he said, made possible the reduction of the docket, which stood at 144 cases when he took office, despite the fact that 2,000 new indictments were returned during the term.

Judges who served with Chief Justice McKinley in the Criminal court are Peter M. Schwaba, Benjamin Epstein, Rudolph Desort, Robert C. O'Connell, John Prystalski, and Robert Jerome Dunne.

The state's attorney's office also had an especially good year, it was pointed out at the meeting of Courtney and Judge McKinley. The state had a record of 39 per cent convictions and 65 per cent of all cases were closed within thirty days of the indictment.

1,093 Sent to Prison.

There were 2,105 indictments disposed of during the year. Of the defendants, 1,093 were sent to the penitentiary, 441 were sent to the Bridewell, 326 were placed on probation after being found guilty, and 240 were found not guilty.

Mr. Courtney revealed that the rate of automobile thefts in Chicago had descended to an average of eight a day in August, which is usually the high month in such thefts. During the peak of automobile thefts a few years ago an average of ninety-seven cars were stolen daily.

7 DIRT HOUSES BUILT IN SOUTH BY U. S. RENTED

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Rammed earth houses built nearly 12 months ago by the resettlement administration in an attempt to develop a low cost dwelling for the rural population of the nation, today show little or no signs of deterioration.

Seven of the 75 houses in the RA's Gardendale project, 13 miles from here, are of rammed earth, which means simply "dirt."

Six of the experimental houses are occupied and the other has been rented.

The dirt for the dwellings was scooped up on the project and tamped into walls approximately 17 inches thick. All are one story and contain a combination living room, dining room, kitchen, bath, and three bedrooms.

MOTHER OF ANN HEWITT REPORTS JEWELS MISSING

New York, Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. Maryon Cooper Hewitt McCarter of Atlantic Beach, N. Y., complained to the district attorney today that she had been unable to obtain $40,000 worth of jewelry and furs she had given to a woman friend.

The furs were to have been stored and the jewelry sold, the proceeds to go to Mrs. McCarter, but she asserted she was unable to obtain furs, jewelry, or the cash.

Mrs. McCarter, the widow of Peter Cooper Hewitt, inventor, has been sued by her daughter, Ann, for $500,000 in San Francisco on a charge that a sterilization operation was performed on the girl without her consent.

Brother's Description Identifies Lake Victim

The body of a woman taken from the lake eighteen miles northeast of Kenosha, Wis., last Wednesday, was identified by a ring and a wrist watch yesterday as that of Miss Antoinette J. Naylor, 51 years old, who checked out of the Lorraine hotel, 411 South Wabash avenue, on Aug. 25. Her brother, L. P. Naylor of New York, telephoned her description to police after receiving a farewell letter from Miss Naylor.

Former Trainmen Official Hangs Himself at Home

Randall McMurtry, 46 years old, a switchman, hanged himself yesterday in his home, 7145 Champlain avenue. His mother, Mrs. Catherine McMurtry, 70 years old, said he recently resigned as treasurer of local No. 964, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, because of illness.

SATURDAY NEWS OF NEW BOOKS

Weary Woman Tells Her Lot in Hard Life

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Claude," by Genevieve Fauconnier. [Macmillan, $2.50.]

"The Song of the World," by Jean Giono. [Viking, $2.50.]

"CLAUDE" is one of two fine novels translated from the French, and trailing clouds of critical glory, which recently have come to us. It tells with exquisite simplicity and with perfect use of the exact word a tale much less important than the manner in which it is told.

Genevieve Fauconnier.

It purports to be a series of note books in which a middle aged woman [when the cares of her large household and her farmer husband and the farm itself permit] sets down the slight events of her present life and some of the motivating ones of her past.

Little except hard work, worry over her children, the gruffness of her husband, rabbits to be fed, milk to be cared for compose her lot—little, that is, except the realization of her true love too late in life to be fulfilled, but in time to give her a new impetus for life when living seemed done.

As a novel "Claude" is formless, and it has only the merest shadow of a plot. But as a study of feminine character it has subtlety and beauty.

Lauren Ford has done a good translation. It is gentle with the original's gentleness. But like some of the most delicious and delicate wines of the country, "Claude," even with the greatest possible skill in handling, does not travel perfectly—well, but not perfectly, and just a faint aroma is lost in the journey from French into English.

Genevieve Fauconnier is a sister of Henri Fauconnier, whose unforgettable first book, "Malaise," the most memorable of all the Malayan idylls, won the coveted Goncourt prize in 1930. The author of "Claude," too, is a prize winner. Her book was crowned with the coveted Prix Femina.

Simple Story Primeval; Pulsing with Life.

Although written in French, and by a Frenchman considered by his contemporaries as "one of the giants of modern French letters," "The Song of the World" is no more the novel in which supremacy of phrase is supremacy of art than is a giant oak battling storm and wind on a mountain top the same as a gently tended sapling in an arboretum.

"The Song of the World" is as primeval as an earthquake . . . and almost as rare an experience in the lives of most readers. It is unlike any of the novels you and I have read. It is faintly like the nature terror filled tales of the Scandinavians and yet is in no sense the story of man vainly battling against his fate and nature.

It is fundamentally a simple story—so far as plot goes—of two men who go into a strange country to seek the wandering son of one of them, and of how they find him and a powerful and bitter band of men bent on revenge. The water of the river, the smells of the trees and the flowers, the rain and snow and the air itself are all intimate and intricate veins through which course the life blood of the book.

Perhaps not all readers will find "The Song of the World" good. It may be difficult to read. It is not a novel cut after known and popular patterns and thus to be enjoyed like the small talk of a gossiping friend. But it has rare and tremendous power.

Jean Giono [partly Italian] lives in French Basses-Alpes and writes of the primitive men and women about him. He does it with prose that achieves the impact of epic poetry. Two of his previous novels have been published in English, both in translations which did not do them justice. This time a French professor of English, Henri Fluchere, and the Paris reporter for a London paper, an Englishman, Geoffrey Meyers, have collaborated on an admirable translation.

Book Views in Brief

U. S. Ambassador Turns Searching Eye on Rio.

"Rio," by Hugh Gibson. [Doubleday, Doran, $3.50.]

Rio de Janeiro has been called the Paris of the New World, and its harbor is regarded as the most beautiful in the world. Hugh Gibson, who as United States ambassador to Brazil had an unusual opportunity to know the city, makes it clear in his informal observations why Rio has this remarkable reputation. Some of his best explanations are the brilliant photographs that sprinkle this pages.

Mr. Gibson, like a lesser Bacon, has taken all Rio to be his province. He hunts old Brazilian furniture with the zeal of the collector; he knows the best fishing grounds, and he has kept a tropical garden. The birds, beasts and butterflies of Brazil entrance him, and he has enjoyed himself at the gay-hearted carnivals. He has even delved into 400 years of Brazilian history—a story of conquerors and rulers as romantic as the country they governed — and knows the lore of ancient cathedrals and palaces. R. P. MacF.

Eerie Atmospheres Created with Skill.

"The Burning Court," by John Dickson Carr. [Harper, $2.]

The death of a wealthy old man in a Philadelphia suburb brings on an exciting sequel, as it is found he may have been poisoned. In the investigation a tomb is broken into, strange stories are heard of the "nondead" and reincarnations.

Mr. Carr is adept at creating such eerie atmosphere; he can invest a quiet street with a hundred terrors. The supernatural overtones make this a fine mystery story—not recommended for the nervous after midnight. S. M. K.

A Worthwhile Book on Mexican Architecture.

"The New Architecture in Mexico," by Esther Born. [Morrow, $3.50.]

The comments of Esther Born on modern architecture south of the Rio Grande published recently in the Architectural Record have been republished in book form. In addition there are supplementary articles on contemporary painting and sculpture by Justino Fernandez. It probably will surprise the average American who has never been to Mexico to learn that there is more "modern" architecture in this tropical metropolis than in Chicago, New York, and half a dozen other American cities put together. This well illustrated book is worthwhile reading for both architect and layman, both tourist and stay-at-home. A. C.

Kansan Tells Story of Daily Newspaper.

"The Daily Newspaper in America," by Alfred McClung Lee. [Macmillan, $4.75.]

The evolution of a social instrument, as this book is subtitled, describes in part its approach to the dramatic story of the press in this country. Also indicative is the fact that Mr. Lee is associate professor of sociology, as well as of journalism, at the University of Kansas.

Considerable repetition found in the 800 page volume may be of some value to students cramming for an examination, but it will not please the average reader. Much of the detail is needed only as proof of the author's industry.

However, forty graphs and tables contain information not as readily found elsewhere, and detail in this form does not slow down the story. G. T.

Characters Enhance a Conventional Plot.

"The Talisman Ring," by Georgette Heyer. [Doubleday-Doran, $2.]

When old Lord Lavenham, still wearing his powdered wig, died, to his disgust, one day earlier than he had planned, he left instructions that his beautiful niece, Eustacie, should marry her dour cousin, Sir Tristram.

In keeping with the approved pattern for romantic novels, Eustacie objects and prefers her handsome and disinherited cousin, Ludovic. Also in keeping with the romantic tradition, their struggle for happiness involves smugglers, a lost ring, a murder charge, and hand to hand combats in dark forests.

But only in plot is "The Talisman Ring" conventional. With her tongue in her cheek, the author has created some of the gayest and maddest people ever to desecrate a tale of true love triumphing over villains. The characters wisecrack and cavort from adventure to adventure. In other words, it is a funny book, not safe for reading in public places.—C. J. W.

Trio of Novels Add to Fame of Young Writers

Isabel Wilder Wins Praise with Her Newest

"Let Winter Go," by Isabel Wilder. [Coward McCann, $2.] Published last Wednesday.

The younger sister of Thornton Wilder, who already has won praise with two novels, burnishes the laurel wreaths about her brow with a well planned, well executed, and well told tale of human relationships, interesting in their commonplaceness rather than in the bizarreness which so often characterizes the human conflicts of modern novels.

Her principal characters are a young college professor and two students in his seminar, a boy he has encouraged through his college years to become a writer, and a girl graduate student with whom the boy falls in love.

They are all intelligent, pleasant, decent human beings. The young professor's wife has none of those simple characteristics. She is almost too much of a devil to seem real. But all the others are as recognizable and forthright and attractive as baked beans on Saturday night in Boston.

Fantastic Adventure; Characters Are Cuckoo.

"16 Rue Cortambert," by Anne Green. [Dutton, $2.50.] Published Wednesday.

Anne Green, like Isabel Wilder, is a sister of a brilliant novelist [Julian Green]. She has had, I suspect, despite Julian's great critical acclaim, a greater popular success than her brother. Her "The Selbys" is still remembered with amusement. This latest of her novels, however, will not displace that first one in readers' hearts.

If the characters and situations in "Let Winter Go" are simple and sane, those in "16 Rue Cortambert" are practically cuckoo. Its hero, a young American sent to Paris on a fantastic adventure, moves through the pages at high velocity, encountering one after another of a group of wholly mad creatures, accepted by them, and accepting whatever happens as if it were a draught of barley water instead of a highly explosive swindle.

Miss Green has outdone herself in creating fantastic characters and she has written what seems to this reader an almost completely incredible tale.

This Heroine Works But She Also Weds.

"Twenty-Four Hours a Day," by Faith Baldwin. (Farrar & Rinehart, $2.) Published Thursday.

Faith Baldwin is one of the most highly paid serial writers in America and her novels, when published in book form, always enjoy wide popularity. She knows what jaded readers want and she rarely fails her fans. She hasn't this time in this convincing story of a girl who tried to be a wife and a worker at the same time.

Her heroine was a very young and successful dress designer when she set eyes upon the son of the most exclusive dress house in New York. Her hero was a popular and successful young man about town when he set eyes upon the most attractive designer of the most attractive clothes in New York. Their union, business as well as marital, was as inevitable as—and it took far less time to achieve than—the opening of the new outer bridge. Life partners, in business and in the home, twenty-four hours a day, and it all seemed a perfect plan.

But there was a whole shop full of people by day, a whole social group by night to make demands which sniped like beebee shot at the delicate fabric of love.

Miss Baldwin writes understandingly of the difficulties of a truly modern type—the woman successful in business who really takes joy in her work and who must learn, sometimes bitterly, how to have and still eat the cake of life and love. F. B.

MAYOR SLASHES $300,000 FROM AIRPORT OUTLAY

Asks Quick Council Action for Larger Field.

Mayor Kelly announced yesterday that the city will be able to remove the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad tracks and enlarge the airport to a full square mile at an initial cost of only about $500,000, instead of $804,000. The tracks now bisect the space available for a landing field.

The mayor at the same time urged Ald. Roger J. Kiley [37th], chairman of the council subcommittee on aviation, to begin a campaign of education among the aldermen to swing them unanimously behind the plan for a larger airport.

Mayor Asks Quick Action.

Some aldermen have expressed opposition, the mayor said, to the expenditure of the money needed to remove the railroad tracks to another right of way supplied by the city. These aldermen, he said, favor offsetting the railroad's claim by countercharges for railroad encroachment on parcels of other city owned land.

"Such a course would only consume more time, and we need a bigger airport immediately," Mayor Kelly declared. "Work should be started as soon as possible, so that the field will be large enough to accommodate the new four engined 40 passenger sky liners which will go into operation next spring."

The original cost of $810,000 for removing the tracks, as agreed on by City Appraisers V. V. Boatner and H. W. Leal and the railroad, Mayor Kelly said, has been pared to $804,000.

Can Defer $207,000 Payment.

This includes three items. One, a charge of $207,000 to be paid by the city for the railroad's increased operating cost over a longer right of way, can be deferred for several years. The railroad, the mayor declared, has agreed not to demand payment until Chicago is better able to provide the money. Instead the city will pay interest of about $9,000 a year until full payment can be made. Thus the net initial saving is $198,000.

Another item of $377,000 covers the cost of removing the railroad tracks. This can be reduced by $100,000, Mayor Kelly said, since the city can expect to get this amount in WPA labor. There is no change in the third cost item of $220,000 set aside for probable condemnation suits.

Mayor Kelly said he hoped that with full cooperation of the aldermen, the necessary airport ordinance can be presented soon to the city council, possibly at its next meeting Sept. 22.

TRAILER CAMPS' CHILDREN FILL COUNTY SCHOOLS

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Trailer camps, established in various parts of Winnebago county, are creating a new problem for the county schools.

Persons stopping at trailer camps are sending their children to rural schools. Thirty children coming from four trailer camps in the Harry Morris school district have raised that district's school enrollment one-third. A similar situation exists in four or five other districts.

"The school districts receive no income from these people, except that the small amount of rent they pay helps to pay the tax on land on which the camps are located," said Irving F. Pearson, county superintendent of schools. "Maybe the best solution would be to have a school on wheels and let them pay tuition."

News of Radio

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Though Eddie Cantor decided to wait to Wednesday night to get away from that Sunday evening five ring circus composed of Edgar Bergen [and Charlie McCarthy], W. C. Fields, Nelson Eddy, Don Ameche and Dorothy Lamour, another Sunday evening sponsor has decided to fight back.

General Motors, which entered the 7 to 8 o'clock period last season on the NBC-Blue network when competition was not so keen, yesterday announced that it had contracted for the exclusive radio services of Grace Moore, Maria Jeritza, Helen Jepson, Richard Tauber, and Joseph Schmidt, noted European operatic and concert favorites, and Donald Dickson, the young American baritone who lately joined the Metropolitan Opera company. These notables, together with two more distinguished singers from the continent, yet to be announced, will form the permanent concert company of this sponsor's Sunday Nights at Carnegie Hall concerts, beginning Oct. 3.

The members of the company are to appear as soloists, in groups of two, three or four, and for at least one program as a full company.

HOPE ABANDONED FOR 15 MISSING SINCE SHIP SANK

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Little hope was held out by searching coast guardsmen today for fifteen missing members of the crew of the freighter Tarpon, which foundered early Wednesday in the gulf, 20 miles off the east pass to Choctawhatchee bay.

Nine survivors of the crew of 29 were rescued in a hunt started after Addley Baker, an oiler, brought news of the tragedy to Panama City in a heroic 25 hour swim to shore.

Two Negro members of the crew drifted ashore on floating wreckage. The rescuers later recovered two bodies. One was that of Capt. W. C. Barrow, 80 years old, who was making his 1,735th trip with his freighter when it went down, possibly from a boiler explosion.

UNVEIL BUST OF CITIZEN LINCOLN IN SAN MARINO

SAN MARINO, Republic of San Marino, Sept. 3.—(AP)—San Marino, 36 square mile republic surrounded by Fascist Italy, today unveiled in the palace a bronze bust of its honorary citizen, Abraham Lincoln.

San Marino, proud in the contention it is the world's oldest continuous republic, dates its liberal form of government back six centuries.

John Putnam, United States consul in Florence and the United States representative to San Marino, who took part in the ceremony, said:

"The action of the grand council in conferring citizenship of San Marino on the President of the United States pro tempore in October, 1860, as communicated to President Lincoln in March, 1861, creates a bond of friendship between our two countries which must cause sincerest gratification to every American."

The bust and tablet, executed by Raymond Barger, a young sculptor from Pittsburgh, Pa., were presented to San Marino by Prof. William Scott of Western Reserve university, Cleveland, O., a student of San Marino's history.

SERVANTS MOVE INTO 'BIG HOUSE'; WILL FIGHT ON

Tuxedo Park, N. Y., Sept. 3.—(AP)—The butler and the maid who moved up from the servants' quarters to the big house of their late mistress, Mrs. Julia Marshall Foster, stood fast tonight in the sit-down siege of Tuxedo Park.

And while this tight little colony of the fashionable politely restrained its horror at the contretemps, Butler William Lowe and Maid Olivia Olsen made plain there would be no falling back from the mansion pending settlement of the dispute as to who is to have it under Mrs. Foster's will.

"Possession," remarked Butler Lowe, turning an oft-turned phrase, "is nine points of the law. And we've got possession."

But, he added austerely, he and Olivia, as proper servants, were keeping their place.

Throughout the day everything was pretty calm. Once William made a sortie—out the back way—for a conference with counsel, by whose advice he and Olivia are holding the fort pending a judicial settlement of the will question.

Long Week-End a Busy One for Country Clubs

BY JUDITH CASS.

WITH Monday a holiday, many are taking advantage of the long week-end to take short trips, but more are staying at home and limiting their motoring to no more distant places than the country clubs, most of which have special golf events planned for the entertainment of men. Women and children shift for themselves on the Labor day week-end at golf clubs, but since most clubs have excellent tennis courts and attractive pools, as well as wide verandas and shaded terraces, this suits the women and children very well.

Whether Labor day is a successful holiday in the estimation of golfers depends somewhat on the weather, but more, probably, upon the sort of golf a man is playing this summer. The good golfers at the Barrington Hills club will have their choice of a wide and varied collection of prizes Monday, for the annual Labor day Fruits of Labor tournament will be held that day.

Each player, member or guest, must contribute something he has made, or produced in his garden, or an article that he sells, and these are the prizes. Live stock, vegetables, plants, car heaters — in fact, almost any and everything — are included. Tonight there will be a buffet dinner-dance at the club.

Buffet Luncheon at Shoreacres Club.

The Shoreacres club has planned nothing especial for the week-end except a buffet luncheon on Monday similar to the regular Sunday one. Tonight at the club a private dinner-dance will be given at which the Lloyd Laflins will be hosts. They are entertaining for the John Valentines, who are moving to New York.

Nothing special except golf matches will be going on at the Onwentsia this week-end, but that club will be very gay on the 14th and 15th when the international tennis matches will be held. There will be a buffet luncheon for the players on the 14th and a dinner-dance that night. The regular Thursday buffet dinner-dances will be held next week and on the 16th.

Monday's golf matches will be for the Byron L. Smith Memorial cup. On Monday at the Chicago Golf in Wheaton members will play for the Amy Irwin McCormick trophy and there will be a putting contest for women. Tonight there will be a dinner-dance and tomorrow, as some one at the club put it, "will be for recuperation."

The Indian Hill, Exmoor and Knollwood clubs are having dinner-dances tonight and special golf events for men on Monday. The Glen View club is having its weekly dances on on Fridays this summer, so it had its Labor day party last night.

Informal Hunt for Mill Creek Club.

The Mill Creek Hunt will have its first drag Sunday, the 12th, but next Monday morning at 11 o'clock there will be an informal hunt, after which Mrs. Merrill Hubbard and her elder daughter, Marie Merrill, will entertain at luncheon in the clubhouse. This afternoon there will be a pony drag.

Mrs. Hubbard and her two daughters—the younger one, Elizabeth, is called "Sister" by her family and friends—are leaving Lake Forest around Oct. 1. Marie will attend St. Timothy's school at Catonsville, and Mrs. Hubbard and Sister will spend three months in Middleburg, Va.

Clark J. Lawrence, master of the Longmeadow Hunt, arrived at his home in Winnetka from his summer home in the Adirondacks late last evening, but bright and early this morning he will be up to ride to hounds, for today's will be the first hunt of the season in the fields west of Winnetka.

There will another early hunt Monday morning and also on next Wednesday and Saturday. More formal hunting will be postponed until the weather is cooler.

Annie Mason Bride of Gilbert B. Smith.

From Coronado, Cal., comes an announcement by Mrs. Roswell Bertram Mason of Winnetka of the marriage of her daughter, Annie Warren Mason, to Gilbert Bristol Smith, son of Mrs. Gilbert M. Smith of Winnetka. The wedding took place yesterday in Coronado, where the bridegroom is stationed as an aviation cadet in the United States Naval reserve. He has just returned with 63 other cadets on the Lexington after searching for Amelia Earhart.

Mrs. Mason and her second daughter, Julia, who made her debut last year, were in the west for the ceremony, and Miss Julia was her sister's only attendant.

Miss Mason and her mother will return to Winnetka in time for the former to prepare for her departure for Smith college. Smith is the alma mater of the bride, too, who prepared for college at the North Shore Country Day school.

The bride, who was married in a print dress and a large hat, made her debut in Winnetka during the Christmas holidays of her sophomore year at college. Mr. Smith also attended the Country Day school before going to Andover. He is a graduate of Northwestern university. He and his bride left after the ceremony and small reception for a short trip to Mexico and at Christmas time they will come to Chicago to visit Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Smith. The latter, because she could not go west for the wedding, had some of her most intimate friends join her at her home for cocktails yesterday to drink to the health of her son and his bride.

Classic for School Wear

JUNIOR GIRL'S FROCK.

The two-piece costume is a classic for school wear. This year it has some interesting variations on the well-established theme. The pattern offered today provides two versions. At the left is a costume combining a plain top with a bright plaid skirt. A regulation collar tops the neckline. The long sleeves are puffed at the shoulders. Two pockets grace the bustline and buttons do their share for the chic of the bodice. The skirt is nice and full. Woolen is, of course, the logical fabric for this model.

The same pattern may be used for a printed silk dress, as shown in the sketch at the right. The collar is a stand-up type and is enhanced by a contrasting bow matching that at the belt. Down the front you may have buttons or a colorful zipper to harmonize with the print. The sleeves may be long or short. In either case, they are puffed.

Style No. 2008 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17 and 19 years. Size 15 requires 1¾ yards of 39 inch material for the blouse, with 1⅞ yards of 39 inch fabric for the skirt.

Bobby Breen Sings Tonight at Grant Park

Bobby Breen, the boy soprano who has made a place for himself both in radio and in the movies and who is prominently featured in the current picture, "Make a Wish," will come to the Grant park band shell tonight to appear as soloist with the Chicago Philharmonic orchestra, Richard Czerwonky conducting.

From the program printed elsewhere on this page it will be seen that Bobby does not confine himself to popular music. He is including the duke of Mantua's swaggering last act air from "Rigoletto."

The Grant park concerts have almost reached their end. One tomorrow evening and two Monday [matinée and night], a gala program by a 300 piece orchestra under Frederick Stock's direction a week from tomorrow—and the 1937 lake front series passes into history.

Since there is never an admission charge at Grant park the customers always get considerably more than their money's worth. Last night the value received soared still more spectacularly above the base price, for the concert ran three hours instead of two and the orchestra consisted of 110 men instead of the usual 74. The occasion was a public broadcast of the NBC Promenade from 10 to 11.

The soloist of the early evening concert was Harold Van Horne, who presented the Liszt E flat piano concerto under the baton of Leroy Shield. He emphasized the poetic qualities of the work rather than its bravura aspects and displayed the delicacy and cleanness of style which his radio following so justly admires. This is a type of playing which helps to produce a suave and intelligible performance on the air, yet one may question the correctness of minimizing to such a degree the audacious, virtuoso character of this particular concerto.

Mr. Shield and the giant orchestra preceded the soloist's appearance with Tschaikowsky's "Romeo and Juliet" fantasy and the Debussy "Fetes," followed it with excerpts from Herbert's "Natoma," and a sensitive, exquisitely calculated performance of the first suite from Bizet's "L'Arlesienne."

Good Morning!

Again the wizard Samuel Goldwyn turns out an engrossing, thought demanding adaptation of a stage play.

"Dead End" is strong meat—not for the appetites of those who turn shudderingly away from the contemplation of realities.

The point of the piece is, that tenements breed enemies of society; that society does nothing about it, and that evil environment spews out upon the world generation after generation of morally diseased children to prey on their fellows.

The action is backgrounded by the river front of the East 50s, New York. Here tall apartment buildings of the rich, guarded by supercilious doormen, flank the filthy hutches of the poor and the garbage littered streets, where adolescent potential gangsters play their already sinister games and hail as hero one "Baby Face" Martin, killer, much wanted by the police.

Martin—he has had his face changed to elude detection—accompanied by his vicious lieutenant, Hunk, is surreptitiously haunting his old neighborhood as the picture opens. He wants to see his mother and his one time girl, Francey. For "Baby Face" is in the money, is lonesome, and yerns for a place of his own—some spot where there will be a welcome for him.

Activities, grim, boding, terrible, transpire ceaselessly. Death puts an end to Martin's career. . . . But what of the kids who have started following in his footsteps? You are left to draw your own conclusions.

The boy players who won so much applause in the stage production dominate the action. Their portrayals are horribly, heartbreakingly real.

Humphrey Bogart turns out a crack, if sickening, performance as the gangster. Allen Jenkins—this is a new sort of rôle for him—qualifies splendidly as Hunk. Sylvia Sidney does a fine job as the hopeless, passionately resentful heroine, whose desperate efforts to make a decent boy of her young brother are apparently fated to result in naught. Joel McCrea plays well a dreamy architect, and I think you will like Wendy Barrie as the luxury loving girl in a nearby apartment building to whose charm he almost succumbs.

And what startling, soul grinding bits Marjorie Main and Claire Trevor present in their respective rôles of Mrs. Martin and Francey!

All of the acting is tops—I don't know how it could have been better. And if you can find a fault with direction, photography, or settings, you're a better trouble locater than I.

"Dead End" isn't pretty—not for one split second. But it IS real life drama of the first water—and deserves your patronage.

Kay Francis Sues to Set Aside Her Warner Contract

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Claiming that Warner Brothers have broken a contract which calls for a weekly salary of $5,250, Kay Francis, dark haired screen actress, today filed a petition asking that the agreement be set aside.

In her complaint Miss Francis says she had been promised the feminine lead in "Tovarich," a Warner production, and that the rôle was given to another actress. The other actress is Claudette Colbert.

Miss Francis says that her present contract was signed Oct. 5, 1935, and that it calls for a top salary of $7,000 per week in 1942 if options are exercised.

Enjoys Warm Days of Late Summer

Warm weather may not please every one, but to those who enjoy swimming in the lake or in the many pools in Chicagoland the longer the summer lasts, the better. This picture of Miss Betty Fuermann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fernando Fuermann of Kenilworth, was taken recently at the Indian Hill club.

WPA Theater Series Lacks Its Main Item

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The Federal Theater project's program of four one-act plays shrank to three in the heat of last night's opening at the Princess theater. The major item of the bill, Eugene O'Neill's "The Long Voyage Home," dealing with thirsty sailors on the London waterfront, was omitted because of "the sudden illness of one of the leading players"—a characteristic WPA excuse which is mentioned merely because it is an official announcement.

The three plays that were acted, with the usual WPA limpness of stroke, do not promise to start a renaissance of interest in the short forms of drama. They were:

"Love and How to Cure It," by Thornton Wilder, a whimsy about three mummers of the old school London "pantomimes," and a Cambridge student who was suicidally in love with a ballet dancer. The pretty young actress who calls herself Fannie Ellen is effective as a dumbbell ballerina who never lets love interfere with her professional exercises. The piece is light and graceful in a Barrielike way, requiring a deftness of interpretation that has not yet been found in Federal Theater project casts.

"Blocks," an allegory of pacifism and its preachments, by Molly Day Thatcher, staged in a pretentious vein of modernism and written in rhymed lines that sound like a high school girl's exercise in prosody. This is an exceedingly inept affair except, perhaps, for those who prefer the cruder forms of propaganda against capitalism.

"The End of the Beginning," a low comedy by Sean O'Casey, the Irish dramatist, which is in the vein of Lady Gregory's familiar sketch, "The Workhouse Ward." It deals with an Irish housewife and her peasant husband, each taking over the duties of the other for a day. Art Smith and Vivian Holt have the leading rôles.

SOON after a north shore matron obtained a cat from the North Side Animal shelter on North Damen avenue she telephoned back to say they would not keep it. "I'm awfully sorry," she said. "It's a dear, and we are fond of it, but the cat is a bird killer and we just can't have a bird killer.

"I'm sure my husband would be glad to make a contribution to the shelter for your trouble in taking the cat back," she added, "but he is up north shooting ducks."

TWO men, one in a La Salle street brokerage house and the other in an office on Wacker drive, played checkers via the telephone the other day. The board was a sheet of scratch paper squared off into the regulation number of squares. The man at one end of the line used the rubber keys from a teletype machine for his checkers; the other had removed the small lights from a switchboard for his.

NOMINEE for the Hall of Transitory Fame: The housewife who rolled up her rugs, carried them down to her car, drove to Lincoln park, spread the rugs out on the grass and gave them a good beating and sweeping.

A BADLY behaved boy in one of the county schools was given disciplinary treatment and finally suspended. His father approved of the whole business, according to a letter written to the principal by the father. The letter read:

"In request of the behalf of my son George I let you know, if he don't like to learn his lessons talk fresh back to him, correct him any old way, take a stick and let him have it I give the Permit to do it, there will be no charge against you solange you don't overdoing it."

THE following conversation was overheard in a Bloomington tavern between two men who had been patronizing the bar for some time:

"Why the ——— don't you pay me back that $3 you borrowed about a month ago?"

"I never borrowed any money from you."

"The ——— you didn't. I gave you three $1 bills."

"All right—just to show you the kind of a guy I am I'll pay you."

"Yeh, and to show you the kind of a guy I am I'll take it."

Panty Girdle Moulds Figure for Youngster

BY RHEA SEEGER.

For beginners just learning shape control there are some clever new colored twosomes of elastic fabric panties and a matching bandette with an elastic band that goes equator fashion around the high ribline.

Just enough control to achieve smooth outlines and supersmooth streamlines for the plastered-on-looking new dresses. Bulges disappear like snow in a heat wave, curves are remotely controled and you'll never know you have them on.

Another neat bit of trickery is the color . . . you'll find them in wine red, old gold, blue, and black. You can be swatned in color to match your pet jerseys and thin wool dresses. Even the menace of visible shoulder straps is lessened, for these, too, are the same color as the bandette. Besides, when you wear underlayers the same shade as the smart outside layer, you're starting very young to be fastidious, and it's a grand feeling.

The lace in the bandette has been dyed to match the elastic fabric in the firm fitting and amazingly comfortable French panty combination girdle affair. The girdles stay put and because they are the panty-girdle mixup, you'll not need garters if you belong to that particular crowd of young moderns.

Synagogues to Hold Jewish New Year Services Tomorrow

Rosh Hashanah, marking the observance of the Jewish religious new year 5698, begins at sundown tomorrow and continues through Monday. Services will be held in all synagogues throughout the city tomorrow night and in all orthodox synagogues on Monday as well.

Rosh Hashanah literally means the beginning of the year and is the first of the ten days of penitence which are an invitation to all men to judge themselves. The season reaches its climax at sundown on Sept. 14, the Day of Atonement or Yom Kippur, when according to tradition judgment is sealed.

Three Weddings Will Interest Social Circles

Three weddings of interest are taking place today, a small one in Winnetka this afternoon, a large one in Evanston this evening, and another afternoon wedding in Danville, Ill.

Miss Priscilla Guthrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brandon Guthrie, will be married to Alfred B. Novak, son of the John Novaks of Elm street, at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Christ church in Winnetka, with just the families present. The Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard, rector, will perform the ceremoney, and there will be a small reception afterward at the Guthrie home in Winnetka.

St. Mark's Episcopal church in Evanston will be the setting for the wedding of Miss Camilla Olivia Folds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Folds, to Arwed Boitel of St. Gall, Switzerland, at 8:30 o'clock this evening. Dr. Harold L. Bowen, rector of St. Mark's, will officiate, and there will be a large reception afterward at the Folds home in Asbury avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Tobin and their daughter, Miss Jeanne Tobin, are in Danville today for the wedding of the Tobins' son, Arthur Roche Tobin, to Miss Sarah Elizabeth Fisher, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Fisher.

The ceremony will take place at 4 o'clock at the Fisher home, with a reception there afterward. Hugh Mendenhall of Terre Haute, Ind., will be Mr. Tobin's best man. After a fortnight's wedding trip Mr. Tobin and his bride will be at home on the south side.

Miss Guthrie is the fourth Priscilla in her family to wear at her wedding the seed pearl necklace that her great-grandmother, for whom she was named, wore on her wedding day in 1839. Miss Guthrie's only attendant will be her cousin, Mrs. L. Bowdin de Forest of Winnetka, and Robert Hacket of Wilmington, Del., a classmate of Mr. Novak at Princeton, will be best man.

Two aunts of Miss Guthrie, Mrs. Francis J. Lemoyne and Mrs. Francis Sellers Guthrie, and a cousin, Miss Grace Biddle McIlvaine, all of Pittsburgh, are here for the wedding.

After a motor trip to the Adirondacks Mr. Novak and his bride will return to Winnetka and will occupy the Guthries' house while they are in South America. Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie expect to leave the end of this month for a six weeks' trip to Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires. On their return the young Novaks will take an apartment in Evanston.

Miss Claribel Goodwin, a former Chicagoan now living in New York, who was Mrs. Folds' only attendant at her wedding thirty years ago in Coronado Beach, Cal., has come to see her friend's daughter married this evening.

Miss Folds will wear the high necked gown her mother wore at her wedding with a veil of heirloom lace worn by Mrs. William Mansfield Pearce, the former Helen Johnson, at her wedding nearly two years ago in Evanston.

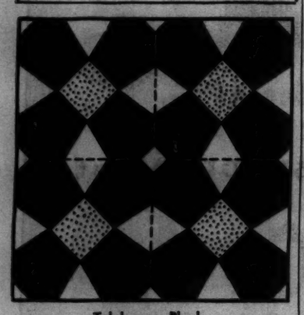
Orange blossoms sent by air mail from California by another friend who was at Mrs. Folds' wedding will lend a further touch of sentiment to the bride's costume.

Attending Miss Folds as matron of honor will be her sister-in-law, Mrs. Thomas McKey Folds of Exeter, N. H. Miss Betty Ann Eggleston of Minneapolis, a cousin; Mrs. Norman B. Johnson and Mrs. Richard T. Sidley of Evanston, and Mrs. Carl E. Range of Ottawa, Ill., the former Margaret Huxley of Evanston, will be bridesmaids.

Olivia Worm of Whitewater, Wis., another cousin, and Nancy Hobart, daughter of the Chauncey G. Hobarts, will be flower girls.

Charles W. Folds of Spray, N. C., will be best man for his future brother-in-law, and Thomas McKey Folds, Norman B. Johnson, Richard T. Sidley, and Robert Clifford will usher. George R. Folds Jr. and Charles Folds Mitchell will be junior ushers.

Quilt Is Popular in Middle West and the South



Talahassee Block.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Talahassee Block" is one of the few old pieced quilts the popularity of which seems to be sectional. Southern and middle western states know this pattern, which is the ideal block for a coverlet of an all-over design, yet the eastern and western states are only slightly acquainted with this quilt, which was named for the capital of Florida. This block takes little or no time to piece, and the thirty "Tallahassaa Blocks" are surrounded by a five inch border, which is bound with a one-half inch bias binding.

ENGAGEMENT

In Woodmere, N. Y., today, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Levy are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Helene, to Dr. Ernest David Bloomenthal, son of Dr. and Mrs. Jacob Bloomenthal of 549 Brompton avenue. Miss Levy attended Smith college, and is a graduate of Columbia university. Dr. Bloomenthal is a graduate of Northwestern university and Northwestern medical school.

Great Deal of Skill Creates a Table Salt

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The salt which you shook so absent mindedly over the meat or potatoes for last night's supper probably was formed deep in the earth millions of years ago.

Recently it was brought to the surface, perhaps in the form of a brine, where it was evaporated and refined to the pure product suited for your table and mine.

From the beginnings of recorded time, salt ["magic white sand" to the Indians] has had an important influence upon the destinies of the earth's people. The Greeks and Romans used it in their sacrifices, and considered the spilling of salt an evil omen. Ancient Chinese used salt as a medium of exchange. High taxes on salt helped to cause the French revolution. The British monopoly on this condiment caused trouble in India.

Hungarian peasants sprinkle salt on the doorsteps of a new house to keep out evil spirits. In Japan salt is used in sacrificial rites. In China it has a part in New Year's festivities. An Abyssinian gentleman carries a stick of rock salt about with him and offers a lick or two to his friend as a token of esteem. There are hundreds of beliefs about salt and dozens of folk stories woven about it from the first corner of this globe to the last.

The Roman belief about spilled salt carrying ill fortune with it has lingered through the centuries, even into present day superstition. Among pictorial evidences of it, the immortal Da Vinci picture, "The Last Supper," is famed. In front of the traitor Judas the artist portrayed an overturned salt cellar, symbol of impending evil.

Rock salt, used chiefly for special industrial purposes, is mined, and contains certain insoluble impurities. Table salt is produced by the evaporation of brines. To make the brines fresh water is pumped into deep wells drilled into salt beds, and then it is forced to the surface with its rich cargo of dissolved salt. The ocean and salt lakes also are important sources of salt.

The refining process is careful and intricate. The best of table salts undergo a process of refining which never knows the touch of the human hand, which might be a source of infection. It is packaged in moisture-proof and germproof containers, which keep it in good condition.

Salt isn't just salt. There are about 50 types of it, suited to many purposes, such as cattle feeding, bread making, cheese making, medicinal purposes, and the like. Table salt is specially prepared for a fine grain or flake which goes into solution easily.

It probably is true that most of us are inclined to salt our food too thoroughly. However, a certain amount of salt is necessary to the regulation of physiological processes in the body. Salt is constantly being thrown off through the kidneys and the various glands and this supply must be replaced. Nutritionists estimate that the human adult requires the intake of about two-thirds of an ounce daily to maintain a proper balance.

The medal will be sent to Gershwin's mother.

Long Week-End a Busy One for Country Clubs

Goes East for Wedding of Miss Elroy Bradford.

Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin is in New York for the wedding today of her niece, Miss Elroy Bradford, to Donald Joseph Setter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Setter of Buffalo. The wedding is taking place at 4:30 o'clock in Grace church. After the ceremony there will be a small reception at the home of Mrs. Eleanor P. Whitaker, a friend of Mrs. McLaughlin's and of the bride's late mother, Mrs. Earl Bradford of New Rochelle. Mr. Bradford also is dead.

The bride, wearing an alice blue brocaded dress and a navy blue velvet hat, will be attended by her sister, Miss Jane Bradford. Clarence M. Pinckney of New Rochelle, an old family friend, will give the bride in marriage. William Crosby will be best man.

One of the gay events of the week-end for young married folks will be the junior Ayres Boals' cocktail par tomorrow afternoon at their home in Winnetka.

The senior Mrs. Boal has come from Charlevoix and Mrs. Boal's mother, Mrs. Thomas Ellison, has returned from Frankfort, Mich., where she has been spending the summer, so they will be at the party, but the rest of the Boal family will spend the Labor day week-end at Charlevoix where Miss Henrietta Boal is giving a house party.

Championship Polo Match Tomorrow.

Polo fans will go to the Oak Brook Polo club's stadium field at York road and 22d street tomorrow for the championship game of the national 12 goal polo tournament. The match, which will start at 4 o'clock, will be between the champions of the Pacific coast from Santa Barbara, and the Houston, Tex., Huisaches, the southwestern circuit champions.

Busy Week-end for Debutantes.

The debutantes will have scarcely a free moment in the next two days, with a dinner and dance that Mr. and Mrs. Leslie L. Cooke are giving this evening at the Exmoor club for Miss Helen Shoemaker, a cocktail party for Miss Virginia Creigh tomorrow afternoon, and Mrs. John P. Hooker's barbecue supper for Miss Shoemaker, Miss Sally Jane Crowder, and Miss Marion Hall tomorrow evening.

Thomas Creigh Jr. has come from Kansas, where he is in business, to be joint host wit' his brothers, John, Fritz and Connor Creigh, at the cocktail party for their sister tomorrow at the Creigh home in Highland Park.

For her party Mrs. Hooker is setting small tables on the terrace of her Winnetka home, and is providing atmosphere with an artificial moon, peasant aprons for her feminine guests to wear and corncob pipes for the men to smoke.

Mrs. Clifford W. Barnes returned to her home in Lake Forest yesterday from St. Luke's hospital where she underwent a serious operation early in July. She is getting along nicely.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

Championship play has produced many refinements of the asking bids. As presented thus far in this chapter, the asking bids are simple enough for average players to use successfully. Advanced players will profit from a study of the special cases which make up the rest of this chapter.

Agreed Suit by Inference.

Ordinarily a suit is agreed upon by a direct raise. But it is possible to "set" a suit by inference. This is done, after both partners have made some bid, by one of them jumping to the level of four in a new suit. Such a bid is an asking bid and the agreed suit is the last one bid by the partnership.

The case of jump asking bids, where no suit has been raised, is very interesting. The reader will notice that after opening suit bids of one, it is always the level of three that is skipped by the asking bid. This level of three is usually a forcing bid. For instance:

South	North
1 heart	1 spade
3 diamonds; game forcing.
4 diamonds; asking bid; agreed suit, spades.

TODAY'S HAND.

The bidding [neither side vulnerable]:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Double
Pass	3 diamonds	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

South's three spade bid was a distinct stretch, but, due to the excellent "fit" he found, the defense had to be extraordinarily good to defeat the contract.

West opened the club king and, after he saw the dummy, promptly shifted to the spade jack. Dummy led a diamond, and East made a beautiful play: He put up the ten spot! Declarer won, and led the nine of hearts toward dummy. West ducked, and the jack held the trick. Declarer then ruffed a club and led another heart. West could not afford to stay off again, hence grabbed his ace, and then led the diamond jack. East overtook with the queen, and returned a spade. Declarer led the heart king, with the intention of dumping his losing diamond. But East ruffed, and declarer's last hope was gone; he had to surrender another diamond, for a one trick defeat.

Rarely have I seen finer coöperation than East and West's on this hand. It should be noted that, with the spade jack dropping, declarer could well afford to ruff a losing diamond in the dummy if the opponents were to permit it. How many players in East's position would put up the ten of diamonds, second hand? Without that play there could have been no defense.

With East playing low, declarer would merely pass the trick into West, and the latter would be unable to remove dummy's second trump. Thus, the defenders never could have prevented a diamond ruff.

West's coöperation with East's play was equally worthy of mention. He had to lay off the first heart lead and take the second, then had to avoid the pitfall of laying down the diamond king.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A friend of ours who belongs to the hay fever army tells us she's feeling no better than she did in other years, but that she's looking a lot better—which is some help in her season of sorrow. She has tamed the redness of nose which is the usual insult added to injury.

It's done with a very heavy foundation—a cream that was originally developed to cover birth marks. It's available in good flesh tints, is easily applied, and really makes an opaque but natural looking coating. Covered over with powder it conceals the painfully red area on nose and upper lip.

There is also a maskilke respirator on the market which the hay fever sufferers are taking to these days. It's hardly beautifying when worn over the nose and mouth, but it's grand for motor drives, we're told—and, of course, can be worn at night if you're a little self-conscious about parading the streets with it on.

The hay fever victims should be a little cagey these days about their choice of powders. It's now possible to have face powders blended especially for you, sans perfume or orris root. Some people, you know, are sensitive to these two fairly common powder ingredients during the sneezing season.

Another hay fever friend of ours tells us she couldn't get through the season without her bottle of cologne. Nothing, she says, soothes her like splashing herself freely with an unperfumed cologne frequently during the day and night. It soothes her screaming nerves to have a leisurely, cooling rubdown just before she goes to bed.

Movie Closeup

The Balaban & Katz new Cine theater—constructed of structural glass brick—will open at noon today at 2516 Devon avenue, in Chicago's northtown district. Batteries of colored lights set behind the glass walls of the exterior permit the entire color scheme of the theater to be changed at the will of the management.

Quarreling Is Often Common to Children

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-New York News Syndicate, Inc.]

Many of the disagreements that take place among children in the same family are given the blanket name of "quarreling." Sometimes all this hullabaloo or friction merits the name and sometimes it doesn't.

In large families there may be a certain amount of rather normal conflict without any real underlying ill feeling. When developing, and differing, and not very controled personalities are in constant contact with each other, rather harmless sparks may fly in the form of arguments and rough-and-tumble. This sort of thing does not mean that the children are not really fond of each other, or that there is anything out of kilter in their relationship with each other or with their parents.

There certainly isn't any set rule for the avoidance of quarreling nor, for that matter, is there any great unanimity of opinion about it among psychologists. Some people believe that children in the same family need never quarrel—others think that there is such a thing as a certain amount of wholesome conflict.

While, however, there is no formula for dealing with this problem, it may be helpful to group some of the forms that quarreling takes. Among these will be the following:

The bitings, scratchings, and slappings among little runabouts who are just beginning to play with others their own age—or, to put it in a language of the child expert, who are new to "social adjustment." They don't yet know what it's all about.

The rubs and irritations that arise when children are forced to play constantly together.

The conflicts between older children who are utterly different from each other and are not provided with different activities.

The tempests that arise between younger children who are too far apart in age to play the same games and to play with the same toys.

The tears that flow and fights that take place when one child teases or bullies another.

With these clues as to causes, recognizing the remedy is, in most cases, fairly simple.

This subject is discussed further in our leaflet, "Is Quarreling Necessary?" It will be sent out on receipt of a large 3 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

4 BODYGUARDS SEIZE BANDIT AS MAYOR LUNCHES

Aid Young Messenger in Loop Struggle.

Several hundred loop shoppers yesterday afternoon saw members of Mayor Kelly's bodyguard of policemen and a young messenger capture an ex-convict after he and an accomplice had robbed the messenger of $267.

The messenger, Thaddeus Dural, 22 years old, 2724 South Kildare avenue, a slightly built youth, was returning to the Kimball piano company at 302 South Wabash avenue, where he is employed. He had just obtained the money at a bank and carried it in a lether pouch.

Demand Cash at Elevator.

As Dural stepped from the elevator on the third floor of the Kimball building, two men confronted him and demanded the money. One held his hand in one pocket as if grasping a pistol.

Dural handed over the pouch, but as the robbers fled down a stairway he ran after them shouting, "Stop thief!" When the robbers reached the street level one man ran north and the other turned south in Wabash avenue, carrying the money.

Dural chose the latter as his man and pursued him. Evidently feeling secure in the crowd, the robber slowed his pace, and at Van Buren street, a block south, Dural caught him and began a tussle for the pouch as spectators shouted for the police.

Four Policemen Hear Shouts.

The shouts drew the attention of Policemen Michael Curtin, a winner of THE TRIBUNE hero award; John Enright, Thomas Casey, and Joseph Graney. They were waiting outside the Chicago club, at Van Buren street and Michigan avenue, while Mayor Kelly and Capt. Andrew Barry, head of the guard, had luncheon inside.

The four policemen ran toward the commotion, Curtin reaching the scene first, in time to collar the robber as he broke free from Dural's grasp. At the detective bureau the bandit was identified as Charles Fegan, alias Earl Young, alias Frank Cutler, 29 years old.

Mayor Kelly was told of the action going on outside the club and with Capt. Barry hurried to the street, where they learned of the arrest.

Freed from Denver Prison.

Fegan's record showed he had been put on probation for auto theft, and had served a seven year prison term at Denver, Col., for robbery. He escaped from the penitentiary there in 1931, but was recaptured the next day. He was released last summer.

Fegan was questioned last year about the murder of Mrs. Florence Thompson Castle in the Devonshire hotel on June 28, 1936. Fegan had been a prison acquaintance of Mrs. Castle's ex-husband.

MANVILLE HIRES NEW LAWYER TO AID IN DIVORCE

New York, Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Tommy Manville, the asbestos fortune heir who spent $10,000 on newspaper space advertising for a new lawyer to handle his marital woes, announced today he had hired an attorney introduced to him by his doctor.

The playboy said the attorney, Frank B. Devlin, "will cost me $100,000 on the nose, but he's a fighter and that's what I want." Devlin will represent Manville in a divorce suit contemplated by his fourth wife, Marcelle Edwards Manville, former actress.

Tommy denied he had engaged a physician to test his sanity in anticipation of a request by his wife's lawyer, Carl Helm, for such an examination. He said he had heard Helm was considering asking for the test but added: "I'm just as sane as I could be."

SUES SCHOOL ON RAT BITE; SAYS HEARING IS LOST

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 3.—(AP)—A white rat, described in the writ as "wild, vicious and ferocious," involved the town of Hamden today in a lawsuit.

Charles Hugh Hill, a sophomore at the Hamden High school, charged in the action filed in Superior court that he was bitten by the rat. He asked $40,000 damages. The suit charged the student was bitten at school and as a result has lost 45 per cent of his hearing. The Hamder school district and the science teacher were named defendants in the suit.

Episcopal Youths to War on Crown Point Weddings

Episcopal youths of the central west will discuss ways to combat the Crown Point marriage mill at a youth conference today at Racine college, Racine, Wis. The Rev. Walter K. Morley, executive secretary of the social service department of the diocese of Chicago, will propose that state social service agencies work in coöperation with marriage advisory agencies to be organized by churches. "Two out of three divorces could be prevented," said Dr. Morley yesterday, "if premarital instruction and family counseling were available."

Teacher Freed in Rape Case Loses School Job

Edward A. Strobel, 45 years old, suspended gymnasium teacher at the Darwin Elementary school, who in April was acquitted of a charge of raping one of his former pupils, has been discharged from the school system for misconduct and immorality, it was learned yesterday. Supt. William H. Johnson acted last Saturday when the dismissal was recommended following a civil service trial.

YOUNG YARROW AND WOMAN FACE PHYSICAL TESTS

Judge Eugene Holland yesterday ordered Philip Robinson Yarrow, 30 years old, son of the professional vice crusader, the Rev. Philip Yarrow, to undergo a physical examination, and continued a disorderly conduct charge against him until Sept. 17 in the Woman's court. He indicated he would dismiss the charge against Yarrow at that time if he is found to be free of venereal disease.

Mrs. June Stadelmann, 33 years old, with whom Yarrow was arrested early in the morning of Aug. 28 in her apartment at 7529 Colfax avenue, must submit to similar tests before returning to court on the same date. They said they would get certificates from their own physicians, and denied they were guilty of misconduct.

Mrs. Stadelmann was divorced last Wednesday from Oscar Stadelmann, 43 years old, a druggist, and now calls herself Miss June Wheaton. Stadelmann was a reluctant witness in court, declaring he wished to withdraw the charge, which caused the arrests.

PAROLED STORE ROBBER SEIZED IN NEW HOLDUPS

Seven years ago Edward Rose, 39 years old, alias Ross, alias Lorch, and a companion entered Joliet penitentiary for robbing National Tea company stores in Chicago. Rose was paroled July 26, 1933.

Using a toy gun Rose yesterday robbed another National Tea store at 3424 North Cicero avenue, taking $31.95 from the clerk, Miss Evelyn Katula, 25, of 4614 Warwick avenue. But Policemen Leonard Knudson and Irving Dienstl, overtook a street car on which Rose escaped and captured him. An hour later he had been identified as a robber by managers of three other stores in the grocery chain.

T. P. Sullivan, supervisor of paroles, said a warant for Rose's arrest as a parole violator was issued June 15 because he failed to make regular reports.

BUSBYS TO PAY $50,000 LAW FEE IN ESTATE FIGHT

Judge Michael Feinberg yesterday entered a consent order allowing two law firms $50,000 in fees from the estate of the late Leonard A. Busby, traction magnate, who died in 1930. Poppenheusen, Johnston, Thompson & Raymond and the New York firm of J. Anthony Panuch represented the widow, Mrs. Esther A. Busby, in her successful fight to make the First National bank settle with her for $285,296 after the bank as administrator had permitted the estate to suffer severe depreciation during the depression.

WHITE SOX MISTAKES GIVE TIGERS 4 TO 3 VICTORY

THROW FROM CATCHER PICKS DYKES OFF 2D

Two Chicago Errors Help Detroit.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 3.—The White Sox flatly refused to win the opener against the Detroit Tigers here this afternoon. Their persistence in doing the wrong thing at the right time finally returned them losers, the score being Detroit 4, Chicago 3.

Outstanding among the wrong things accomplished by the Chicago seekers of second place was a snoozing tableau by the frequently wideawake manager of the Chicagos, James Dykes. With the score 3 to 1 against them in the seventh, the Sox loaded the bases with none out on passes to Appling and Dykes and Piet's safe bunt.

Dykes Lost in Meditation.

Dykes was deeply gratified at the turn of events but made the mistake of taking a position near the short-stop to contemplate the victory which would have placed his team a game behind the Tigers. While James was thus posed in meditation, Catcher York tossed the ball to Gehringer who went over and aroused the Sox skipper.

Luke Sewell promptly missed a homer by inches when he drove a double against the top of the left field wall, Appling scoring and Piet pulling up at third. The runners held on while Gehringer threw out Kennedy and died when Owen threw out Pinch Batter Rosenthal.

Kennedy Hits Homer.

Kennedy pitched well most of the time and knocked his No. 2 homer to tie the score in the third. But one of the runs scored after he had made a two base overthrow in an attempt to catch a runner off first. Another run, the one which put the Tigers ahead 2 to 1 in the third, was the result of passes to the first two batsmen, a long fly and a passed ball with two out.

The winning run also involved a misplay, a two base error by Dixie Walker which allowed Charley Gehringer to go to third on a single in the seventh. The only untainted Tiger run was a homer with which Gerald Walker opened the home offensive.

Tigers Take Lead.

After the Sox had been retired without a run in their half of the first G. Walker, first Detroit batsman of the day, smashed his No. 17 homer over the left field wall.

Kennedy evened the score when he led off the third with his homer, a 375 foot shot into the stand in right center.

It was in the home third that Kennedy suffered a brief recurrence of trailer elbow or campers' cramp. With one down, Vern walked Fox and Gehringer. Greenberg flied to F. Walker, Fox taking third. Sewell let one of Kennedy's pitches get through to the screen, Fox scoring and Gehringer taking second. York was given an intentional pass. White flied to Kreevich.

Tigers Increase Lead.

The score became 3 to 1 for the Tigers in the sixth. Owen singled to right and reached third when Kennedy threw past first in an effort to catch him off base. He came home on Rogell's single.

Then came the Sox seventh with

MAX SCHMELING CATCHES UP TO LOUIS—IN JUNE

Agrees to Jacobs' Terms for Title Fight.

New York, Sept. 3.—(AP)—As a climax to the negotiations that have kept him busy for more than a year and have taken him across the ocean a half dozen times, Max Schmeling today signed a contract to fight Joe Louis for the world heavyweight championship next June.

The bout will take place under the promotional banner of Mike Jacobs somewhere in the United States some time during the month of June, 1938. Further details concerning the time and place will be ironed out later.

Confer for Five Hours.

It took some five hours of conferring today to straighten out affairs so that the German, who won the title from Jack Sharkey on a foul in 1930 and lost it to Sharkey in 1932, would put his name on the document that entitles him to another shot at the championship.

Schmeling finally accepted a 20 per cent cut in the gate receipts, which Mike Jacobs confidently asserts will be more than one million dollars, as well as substantial percentages of the radio and motion picture income. Louis will receive 40 per cent of the gate.

The contract, while it permits both Schmeling and Louis to engage in bouts between now and next June, gives the challenger complete protection in the event Louis should lose the title. If Louis should be beaten in the one or two tuneup bouts he expects to take on this winter, his conqueror is bound to defend the title against Schmeling.

Under Contract for 1939.

Likewise Schmeling's activities are limited to such as are not likely to impair his status as a challenger. If he fights anywhere outside of Germany the bout must be promoted by Jacobs and under no conditions will he be permitted to meet Tommy Farr, latest victim of Louis; Jim Braddock, the former heavyweight champion; Bob Pastor, Max Baer, or Buddy Baer.

If he wins the title the contract calls for Max to fight under the Jacobs banner until Sept. 30, 1939.

Schmeling, who sails for Germany on the Bremen tomorrow night, denied he had any intention of taking the title back to Germany and "sitting on it" if he should win.

Schwartz is head coach and director of athletics at Creighton university, Omaha. He is a native of Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Boucher Named Coach of Ranger Hocky Team

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 3.—Lester Patrick, manager of the New York Rangers of the National Hocky league, today announced that Frank Boucher has been appointed assistant manager and coach.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

FOR the first time since 1891, when football became an intercollegiate sport at Wisconsin, the Badgers this year will play without a regular captain. . . . The proposal came from last year's letter men. . . . A captain will be appointed for each game by Coach Harry Stuhldreher and an honorary 1937 leader will be elected at the close of the season. . . . Jim Lynah, athletic director at Cornell, is sponsoring a move to abolish spring football practice. . . .

Marcel Thil.

Harry Stuhldreher.

Green Bay is such a rabid Cub town that only the sports editor of the daily paper knows what league the White Sox are in. . . . Abe Attel says it will be at least two years before any one can tell whether Joe Louis is going to be a great fighter because it takes at least five years in the ring before a fighter knows what it is all about. . . . Marcel Thil, who has enough hair on his chest and shoulders to stuff a mattress, has been bald since he was 21. . . . Harry Mendel, manager of six day bicycle races and affiliated with the game since his youth, couldn't ride a bike from here to the next corner if his life depended on it.

Don Lash, world record holder in the two mile run, who completed his period of collegiate eligibility last spring, will return to Indiana university this fall and run unattached in major track meets. . . . He will defend his National A. A. U. cross-country championship in the late autumn. . . . He is scheduled to receive a bachelor of arts degree at the end of the first semester. . . . The New York Giants football team will use a shift this year for the first time in 13 seasons. . . . Buddy Myer, Washington infielder, wants to be a small town postmaster when he retires from baseball. . . . Whenever University of California football players become ineligible for scholastic reasons Coach Stub Allison covers up for them by saying they had to drop out because of low finances. . . . Once a year the Dallas baseball club has men's night on which only women pay admission.

How to Reduce.

Clark Hinkle, brilliant full back of the Green Bay Packers, can give you an effective reducing system from personal experience. All you have to do is play about three-quarters of a game against the College All-Americans in 80 degree temperature. When Hinkle returned to the Packers' dressing room Wednesday night he weighed exactly 15 pounds less than when he left the room three hours previously.

HENKEL BEATEN IN 2D ROUND OF U. S. NET SINGLES

Seeded American Men Win; Mrs. Fabyan Loses

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 3.—(AP)—A combination of oppressive heat, unfortunate playing conditions, and a comparative unknown who refused to be impressed by an international reputation today robbed the men's national singles tournament of one of its most attractive performers as thirty-two survivors of a starting field of 100 advanced into the third round.

The man for whom that combination proved too much was Henner Henkel, No. 2 ranking player of Germany and the foreign seeded list and, at 21, one of Europe's best court campaigners. The Teuton lost in four sets, 5-7, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4, to Martin Buxby, 25 year old real estate salesman from Miami, Fla.

Other Stars Win.

All the other front rank players came through. Don Budge romped through his first match in straight sets, as did Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany, the man most likely to clash with him in the final round.

Bobby Riggs, Frankie Parker, and Bryan Grant, next ranking Americans, and Jiro Yamagishi of Japan, Charles Edgar Hare of England, and Yvon Petra of France, placed behind Henkel in the foreign seeded list, also came out on top.

In the women's competition there was only one upset, the first round defeat—for the second year in a row—of Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan. The Boston brunette was beaten, 12-10, 0-6, 7-5, by Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, New York veteran.

Other Foreigners Beaten.

Buxby's conquest of Henkel was the principal development of the day's competition. Despite his ranking, Henkel was shoved out on a field court for his match and found himself sandwiched between two others, with the result that ballboys from the adjoining courts frequently got under foot. In addition the German had dropped from 180 pounds to 162 since his arrival, had been unable to sleep the last three nights, and was strictly on edge.

Henkel was not alone on the sidelines, though. He was joined there by Hideo Nishimura of Japan, Jacques Brugnon of France, and Clarence M. Jones of England. Nishimura's defeat by Sidney Wood, beaten finalist in 1935, and that of Jones by young Gilbert Hunt of Washington, D. C., occasioned no great surprise, but Brugnon's straight set elimination by George Toley, an unknown from Los Angeles, definitly ranked with the upsets.

Riggs Whips Mako.

Of the top rankers Riggs probably had the hardest task, as he was drawn against Gene Mako, Budge's doubles partner. Mako started off like the best singles player in the field to win the first set at 6-2, but lost the next three at 6-3, 6-4, 7-5.

Two of the seeded women went out with Mrs. Fabyan. One was eighth ranking Helen Pedersen of Stamford, Conn., beaten, 6-1, 7-5, by the English Wightman cup star, Evelyn Dearman; the other Mme. Sylvia Henrotin of France, No. 6 on the foreign list, who lost to Joan Ingram, Miss Dearman's doubles partner, 6-3, 0-6, 6-4.

Budge routed the Princeton university captain, Bill Winslow, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3; Von Cramm eliminated Alfred Jarvis, who last year drew Fred Perry in his first match, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2; Miss Jadwiga Jedrzejowska, foreign favorite for the women's title being defended by Alice Marble, disposed of Evangeline McLennan, 6-2, 6-1, and Helen Jacobs won from Helen Bernhard by the same scores.

Weight Packed on Marica in Lincoln Fields Race Today

BY FRENCH LANE.

Marica, Thomas D. Taggart's champion racing mare, will run in the six furlong Calumet handicap, one of the twin $2,500 stake events that will wind up the Lincoln Fields racing season this afternoon.

She must parade to the post with the weight crusher of 127 pounds on her back. Her job, if she wins, will be a big one. She gives away not less than fifteen pounds in weight to all her rivals. To most of them she contributes more than twenty pounds. However, a brilliant workout of :23 2-5 for a quarter mile and :47 1-5 for a half mile indicates she is on racing edge and that she has been pointed for the race.

Despite the heavy impost, Marica ruled as the 6 to 5 favorite last night. Bien Fait, in the race with 112 pounds, was the second choice at 5 to 2. There also was considerable backing for the Creech entry of Gold Mesh, Miss Dolphin and Reaping. This entry was at 3 to 1.

Dellor Faces Eagle Pass.

The other $2,500 stake offering is the La Salle at a mile and three-sixteenths. It promises to bring the long awaited battle between J. W. Parrish's Dellor, winner of the Arlington Handicap, and Valdina Farm stable's Eagle Pass. Both were named in the overnight field, which includes the older star, Rushaway, and The Queen, winner of the Latonia Oaks last June.

Dellor and Eagle Pass both mustered many backers. They will go to the post at about equal first choices at 2 to 1 in the betting.

Long Race on Program.

In addition to the two stake events, the final card is marked by the Long Trek purse, Chicago's longest horse race. Two trips around the Lincoln Fields track, two miles and an eighth in all, will be the journey in the Long Trek, which attracted six entries. The six steeds which have indicated they can run all day and night are Golden Nut, Mr. Mack, Monocle, Redress, Herbar, and Fair Prospect.

Last year the race was won by Zenka, which narrowly missed the American record for the distance even though running on an off track. There is a good chance that this afternoon's renewal over a fast track will find the figure shattered. The two mile and an eighth record of 3 minutes 42 seconds is the oldest in the book. It was set by the horse Joe Murphy at the old Harlem track in 1894.

LEHMAN ORDERS APPEAL AGAINST DOG BET RULING

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—An immediate appeal from the decision of Acting County Judge Richard W. Hawkins dismissing an indictment charging bookmaking at the Mineola dog race track was directed today by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman. To carry this into effect, Gov. Lehman directed an extraordinary term of the Appellate division, second department, to be convened in Brooklyn Sept. 10.

Gov. Lehman said: "I have directed the district attorney of Nassau county to give notice of appeal from Judge Hawkins' decision immediately and I am calling an extraordinary term of the Appellate division, second department, to meet next Friday to consider the appeal."

District Attorney Martin Littleton pointed out that it would be inadvisable to make any more arrests at the Mineola track, inasmuch as Judge Hawkins' decision stands as the law until it is changed by a higher court. The Mineola track was the only one in the state to remain open after orders were issued to stop the practice of betting on dog races.

NEW CONTRACT EXPECTED TO BE TONIC FOR CLUB

Open Wrigley Field Stand Today.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs, who during the last few weeks have discovered that even a good horseman can be bounced out of his saddle, will be back home today under the management of Charles Grimm. And the same Grimm will continue in charge at least through the season of 1938.

The vote of confidence in the team's manager was announced yesterday by P. K. Wrigley, club president and owner, following the westward train ride in which Mr. Wrigley was able to participate because of his hasty eastward plane journey to New York Thursday afternoon.

Wrigley appeared unexpectedly in the east for no other reason, as he explained it, than to determine if there was anything wrong with his baseball employés. He found nothing more than that the boys were momentarily down. So he decided that the needed tonic was a new contract for Grimm. The papers were signed late yesterday.

Expect Revival of Team.

The move made by Wrigley was logical enough. The Cubs for years have been the target for rumormongers who find ideas between the foam and the actual amber liquid in the mugs. The recent losing streak, in which the Chicagoans slipped from a seven game lead into second place during a four weeks' stretch, brought the tavern managers and even the baseball scribes into convention.

Since the seven game lead began to melt, Grimm hasn't been able to pick up a phone without being forced to answer that he was hopeful of another pennant and that he had heard nothing of being discharged. And the players, reading almost daily of internal dissension and the tottering of Grimm's throne, couldn't find the mental nourishment they needed, what with the added worry of keeping ahead of the 1936 champions. Now that Grimm's status is clear and he will be the man who will give advice about the figures in the 1938 contracts, there should be a grand revival.

Manager Since 1932.

Grimm became manager of the Cubs early in August of 1932. The late William Veeck, president of the club, figured that a change of horses in the middle of the same sort of a turbulent creek that is raging around the present Cub machine would get the team to the winning bank. So Rogers Hornsby was summarily dismissed and the Cubs went on to capture the pennant. Grimm has been in charge since then, his last flag achievement being in 1935.

The announcement that Grimm would be retained is similar to the pattern followed a few days ago by the New York Giants. Rumors were thick that Manager Bill Terry wanted a better contract or a release from the obligation which ran through 1938. The new contract was revealed just at the right moment—when the Giants reached first place—although the agreement is said to have been reached a couple of weeks ago. If Terry's new contract was intended as a stimulant for the Giants, a new contract for Grimm can work similarly for the Cubs.

Hitting Is Spotty.

The real answer to that thread bare question, "What's wrong with the Cubs?" can be found in the recent hitting and pitching. Of course, there have been errors, but they are part of the game and should not be as fatal as they have been to the team in the last few weeks. The hitting, while up to average, has been spotty, thus cutting down run production. And the mental state of the players probably accounts for this tightening up. Now that they've been out of first place for a few days they should relax.

It's far from too late to start another drive. They've done it before this season. They came home from their previous long trip on July 26 with a two game lead. In a few days, on Aug. 3 to be exact, the Chicagoans had swelled this edge to seven games and weren't knocked off the top of the heap until Aug. 30. Starting today against the Pirates they have twenty-two home games in which to climb back and stick, or at least to be there on the final day. They also have ten games away from Wrigley field.

Carleton Wins Twice.

The pitching performances during the trip which involved 16 games provided a fairly good line on the inconsistencies of this particular department. Only seven of the sixteen battles were started and finished by one pitcher, not a good average for a staf which on paper rates as the best in the league. Steady pitching, of course, wins pennants and offsets other weaknesses.

Larry French turned in two full games while on the road, losing one to the Pirates and winning one at Philadelphia. Tex Carleton twice went the route successfully one at

BRUCE HEAD IS NAMED STEWARD AT HAWTHORNE

$2,500 Labor Day Event Opens Program.

Bruce Head, general manager and a steward at Lincoln Fields for many years, has been named a steward for the coming Hawthorne meeting, President Charles Krutckoff announced yesterday. Head, one of the leaders in the sport here, will serve with William H. Shelley, now racing secretary at Lincoln Fields, and Christopher J. Fitzgerald, representing the state racing commission.

Stars in Labor Day Handicap.

The $2,500 Labor Day handicap, fashioned for the youngsters, is expected to bring together the Valdina farm's Teddy's Comet, Mrs. Thelma Ott's Employer, and Ben Friend's Co-Sport.

Teddy's Comet has not raced since he and Tiger ran a dead heat in the Arlington Futurity, but his work sheet at Lincoln Fields shows him to be in fine condition. Co-Sport is at his best now, while Employer is the one named by many to upset them all.

Open House Tomorrow.

Tomorrow has been set as the annual open house day at Hawthorne. Many improvements have been completed and all is in readiness for Labor day and the opening of competition.

Final tests of the Jones "lightning eye" camera have been made. It has proved successful. Because of the proximity of the camera booth to the finish line at Hawthorne, the images taken of the horses are among the largest at any track employing the device. A screen has been erected to show the pictures under the stands.

Double B. Has a Fast Finish and Wins Mile

Double B., owned by J. D. Weil of Lexington, Ky., won the mile Drake purse which featured yesterday's program at Lincoln Fields. He drove up on the outside to win in a thrilling finish from the 3 to 5 favorite, Colonel Ed, and Oddesa Girl. He paid $10.40 for a $2 ticket.

One of the biggest plunges of the Lincoln Fields season came on Smuggled In, winner of the Worth purse at 6 furlongs. Odds against him dropped from 5 to 2 to 9 to 10 in the last few minutes of wagering. He scored handily under a confident ride by Jocky L. Haas.

Jocky Paul Ryan got back into stride yesterday. He won with Petty Taw in the second race, finished second on Florence B. F. in the first race, was second on Eva R. in the third, was third on the long shot Bay Stout in the fourth, and again was third on Oddesa Girl in the Drake.

CAYNELL TINSLEY, ALL-STAR END, JOINS CARDINALS

Gaynell Tinsley, Louisiana State end, who scored the All-Americans' touchdown against the Green Bay Packers at Soldiers' field Wednesday night, joined the Chicago Cardinals football squad at Mills stadium yesterday. The Red Birds are working out there for the 1937 National pro football league race.

Tinsley will make his professional debut against his opponents of Wednesday night when the Cardinals open at Green Bay, Sept. 12.

With the former southern star in the lineup, the Cardinals have two of the best flank men in the national league. The other is Bill Smith, a veteran.

Hal Carlson, 225 pound De Paul tackle, and Sam Galovich, Knox college guard, also members of the All Star squad, will report to the Cardinals today.

Play Semi-Final Games Today in Amateur Baseball

Semi-final games in the Chicago Baseball federation championship playoffs will be held today at Bessemer park, 89th street and South Chicago avenue. The Korzeniecki A. C. of the West Pullman league meets the Allison Bedford Seniors of the Illinois State league for the southwest title. The northside title game will be played at Humboldt park between the Musketeers of the Humboldt Park league, and the Falcons of the Illinois State league.

HOWDOINO, slow to begin and under hustling tactics from the start, began to move up when racing wide on the stretch turn, continued resolutely under increased pressure in the stretch and was ready to draw out. FLORENCE B. F. took command under vigorous riding, was given a breathing spell on the turn and tiring after increasing her advantage in the stretch failed to hold the winner. SWEET SHOWNO, raced wide throughout and slow to respond, made up ground in the final eighth.

PETTY TAW on the outside throughout, rated under steady restraint for a half mile, was inclined to bear over while working her way to the front, and after getting up drew out fast. DANCE PRINCESS, forced the early pace under reserve and got to the front while holding on in improved fashion in the stretch but could not withstand the winner. BEAVER LAKE, never a great distance back, was caught in close quarters in the stretch and came again when clear.

RARE BEN, racing with improved speed and beginning fast, took command easily on the turn, was on the inside the final three-eighths and holding on well, was safe from EVA R.'s bid. Latter, raced wide, closed with determination, wearing down ANN JOY in the last sixteenth. Latter, under urging from the start, could not get to RARE BEN and tiring near the end, failed to hold EVA R.

MIDA R., on the inside throughout, made the early pace under restraint, shook off DUSKY MAID after five-eighths and drawing into a good lead was under fire from HANDS DOWN. Latter, slow to begin and forced to lose much ground, stood severe pressure gamely the final quarter and was getting to the winner. BAY STOUT, a factor from the start, weakened in the drive but outstayed DUSKY MAID.

SMUGGLED IN, away fast and eased back as HASTY GLANCE came over soon after reaching the turn, bore out slightly on the stretch turn, but responded strongly when straight and wearing down HASTY GLANCE, drew out to win with something left. Latter, hustled to the front, veered to the inside sharply before drawing clear on the turn, was under vigorous riding the final quarter and weakened in the late stages. Outstayed GALECO, latter bettered her position gradually, saved ground on the stretch turn and holding on well while racing on the outside, was wearing down HASTY GLANCE.

DODGERS LAUGH AT GIANTS, 15-7, AND HELP CUBS

Bucher, Phelps a Team in Themselves.

New York, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers whipped the Giants, 15 to 7, today and cut the New Yorkers' National league lead to half a game.

Led by Jimmy Bucher and Babe Phelps, the Dodgers pounded three pitchers for 18 hits, clinched the game as early as the fifth inning, and never were in trouble despite a Giant comeback which accounted for seven runs in the last three innings.

With the second place Cubs idle, the defeat shaved the New Yorkers' pace setting lead in half. Dodger hitters had a lot of fun at the expense of Cliff Melton, Don Brennan, and Tom Baker. Bucher and Phelps were the chief Brooklyn batters. Each collected five hits in six times at bat. Bucher knocked a home run with the bases full, a triple, and three singles, and drove in five runs, and Phelps hit a triple, a double, and three singles.

BEES, 7; PHILLIES, 2.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Jim Turner won his 16th pitching victory of the season today, but he had to have a lot of help from Roy Johnson and Vince DiMaggio before he turned the trick with a 7 to 2 triumph over the Phillies in 10 innings.

A five run rally in the first half of the tenth, featuring Roy Johnson's home run and DiMaggio's two run single, finally won the game. Johnson also hit a triple and single and drove in two runs, and DiMaggio batted three across with a double and a pair of singles.

VERNON COOK TO CONTINUE PLAY WITH HUISACHES

Vernon Cook will continue to play in place of Bob Farish for the Houston, Tex., Huisaches in the 12 goal championship game against the Santa Barbara, Cal., polo team tomorrow at Oak Brook.

Cook got his chance Tuesday when the Texans eliminated Fort Sill, Okla., in a 12 goal semi-final, 7 to 5. Called into service because of the illness of Bob Farish, Cook proved especially effective in blocking opponents out of play.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 3.—(AP)—East Lynn, Mass., won the American Legion national baseball championship here tonight by routing New Orleans, 13 to 5. The eastern champions captured the title series by winning three games in a row, being superior to the southerners in every department of play.

Yankees Lose to Mr. Chase and Senators

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—(AP)—The New York Yankees ran into young Kendall Chase today and were handed their third straight defeat, losing, 4 to 2, to the Senators.

Washington's rookie southpaw held the league leaders to seven hits. The defeat, coupled with the victory of the second place Detroit Tigers over the White Sox, sliced the Yankees' American league lead to nine and one-half games, the smallest it has been for weeks.

POLLAND TAKES CHESS TITLE AS TREYSMAN LOSES

David S. Polland of New York last night became champion of the American Chess Federation's annual masters' tournament when George N. Treysman of New York, Polland's only rival, was defeated in a tenth round match by Donald MacMurray of Chicago in thirty-five moves.

Polland drew a bye last night, and wins first place even though he should lose his final game today. Play in today's round will determine other positions.

Dietrich to Pitch for Sox Today Against Tigers

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 3.—Bill Dietrich will pitch for the White Sox tomorrow afternoon in the middle game of their three game series here. Tommy Bridges will perform for the Tigers.

Any member of the White Sox team who fancied it would be cooler in Detroit than in Chicago was disillusioned sadly on arrival here. Whew!

Manager Dykes kept Boze Berger at third because of his excellent hitting in the Boston double-header Thursday, though he announced he would unveil Mervyn Conners in the opener here. The state of affairs must have put a strain on Boze, for he whiffed his first two times, in contrast, one might say, with the two homers he made his first two times up yesterday.

Sox Mistakes Give Tigers 4-3 Victory

Encouraged by the curtailment of the Sox rally and a two base error by F. Walker, the Tigers scored in the seventh. Fox opened with a single but was out trying to steal second. Gehringer singled to right and took third when the ball went between F. Walker's heels. York's single brought him home.

Sox Get a Run.

The Sox scored one and developed a major tying threat in the eighth, despite the depressing effects of a double play. Kreevich walked and F. Walker hit into a double play. Radcliff and Appling walked, which caused Auker to be excused in favor of Poffenberger. Dykes singled to center, Radcliff scoring and Appling reaching third. Piet flied to Fox.

And here is the record of the fade-out after a good start in the ninth: Sewell opened with a double to right center and held second while Kennedy was being thrown out on a bunt. Hayes grounded to Poffenberger and Sewell was run down, Poffenberger to Owen to Gehringer. Kreevich forced Hayes.

MIDLOTHIAN AND WAGGONERS WILL OPEN TITLE PLAY

Midlothian and the Waggoner Greasers will open play for the baseball title of the Midwest league at Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets, tomorrow afternoon and the winner will play the Duffy Florals in the second game of a double-header. The first game will start at 1:30 p. m.

The Waggoners, who formerly played as the Sheridans and have been in the title competition four times, will start Rip Duncan or Roy Malstrom on the mound, with the veteran Mike Dempsey behind the bat. Pats Halley and Squint Klein will form the Midlothian battery. The winner of the title will receive the T. J. Bowler trophy and the Edward Kaindl cup.

CHICAGO PLAYERS MEET MICHIGAN IN CRICKET SERIES

A Michigan state cricket team composed of players from Detroit, Flint, and Ypsilanti will oppose Chicago elevens today and tomorrow in a two game series.

The Chicago Cricket club will meet the Michigan representatives today at 48th street and the outer drive and tomorrow a team picked from the Illinois Cricket association will take on the invaders at Washington park.

Other week-end cricket activity includes the invasion of St. Louis by an Illinois Cricket association team for a three game series beginning today and ending Labor day and one league battle—Garfield Park vs. Chicago at Maywood Monday in a contest postponed from Aug. 15.

American Giants Strive to Clinch Pennant Today

The Chicago American Giants will attempt to clinch the second half championship of the Negro American league in the three game series with the Memphis Red Sox starting today at the Giants' park, 39th street and Wentworth avenue. Leading the race by a margin of 1½ games over the Kansas City Monarchs, with whom they tied for first half honors, the Giants need only one victory over the Red Sox to assure their winning the second half. One game is listed for today and a double-header tomorrow.

Grimm Signs to Lead Cubs Through 1938

Cincinnati and the other at Brooklyn. Curt Davis beat the Pirates in a regulation performance, Charles Root turned the Reds' stockings inside out at Cincinnati, and Bill Lee went eleven innings against the Dodgers last Thursday, but was beaten.

Root's performance at Cincinnati, however, was costly. He started subsequently at Boston only to discover that his arm, which had done valiant rescue work earlier in the season, had gone dead. His arm is still bothering him and thus the team is without a man who, when summoned to save a game, is a good bet to make good in his act.

Lee's Failures Hurt.

Lee's defection, another costly happening, is just one of those things. The big pitcher, who was incapacitated for two weeks as the result of an injury to his side in the game of Aug. 7, has made four starts since his return to action. He insists the effects of his injury have vanished, but the four starts have been unsuccessful. On Aug. 21 the Reds routed him in 4 2-3 innings. Four days later at New York he appeared to be his old self and went into the ninth with a five run lead, only to collapse under the strain of a couple of errors that let the Giants move into a tie and win in the eleventh. Then the Phils knocked him out and Thursday at Brooklyn he weakened toward the close and lost.

All the above indicates the tall Louisianan has been in one of those periodic slumps common to all. The slump has about run its course. At least that is Manager Grimm's hope. And Grimm has placed some more of his hopes in Davis. He thinks the ex-Philly has shown lately that he has recovered some of his skill and should win at least three or four of the remaining 32 games.

Collins' Return Indefinite.

The immediate future so far as Rip Collins is concerned is foggy. The ex-Cardinal first baseman slid himself into a fractured ankle in the game of Aug. 10. Since then he has gone through the plaster cast stage, the crutch stage, and the limping era. But he has yet to subject the weak limb to exercise, so his return to his job is a matter of a week and possibly longer.

There is no reason to complain about what Phil Cavarretta has been doing as Collins' understudy. The Italian kid has hit well and fielded sensationally.

French will be assigned to today's opener of the two game series with the Pirates. The Reds will be here for a double header Monday, followed by the Cardinals, who have four dates to dispose of. Then the Cubs go to Pittsburgh for three games before meeting the four eastern clubs at Wrigley field.

Picard Leads at Hershey with 135 as 36 Hole Score

Hershey, Pa., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Henry Picard, home town pro, turned the $5,000 Hershey golf open into a one man show today. He set a new course record of 65, 8 under par, to take the lead at the halfway mark of the four day tournament. His 36 hole total of 135 was 11 under par.

Picard's amazing record, shattering the previous record of 67, gave him a three and four stroke lead, respectively, over Ralph Guldahl of Chicago, national open champion, and Ray Mangrum of Dayton, O., who tied for the lead at the end of the first round.

By equaling the old course record, shared by Picard, Guldahl, Mangrum, and Jimmy Hines of Garden City, N. Y., Guldahl added a two under par 71 to his opening 67 for 138. Mangrum carded a 72 for 139.

These three were far ahead of the field. Six strokes behind Mangrum was Wiffy Cox of Washington, D. C., who got a par 73 for 145. Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, Tex.; Sam Byrd of Philadelphia, and Andy Gibson of Baltimore were tied at 146, while Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Gene Sarazen of Brookfield Center, Conn.; Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.; Ted Luther of Girard, O., and Cliff Spencer of Washington, D. C., were deadlocked at 147.

Billows Will Meet Wehrle in Western Golf

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 3.—(AP)—A couple of high school buddies recently reunited by their quest for golf laurels led the way into the semi-finals of the western amateur tournament here today.

Bay Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., who attended prep school in Racine, Wis., defeated Bill Holt of Syracuse, N. Y., 2 and 1, in this afternoon's quarter finals.

Wilford Wehrle of Racine, who came west with Billows and meets him in the thirty-six hole semi-finals tomorrow, ran into a tartar in Harry Todd, Dallas, but finally won on the twentieth, 1 up.

Kocsis to Meet Burke.

Chuck Kocsis of Detroit, former national intercollegiate champion, and John Burke, Newport, R. I., will meet in the other semi-final.

Kocsis, twice Big Ten champion, downed Roger Kelly of Los Angeles in one of the hardest struggle of the day, 1 up. Kelly, medalist in the national amateur and California state champion, lost his chance to square the match on the eighteenth when his approach hit the green and bounded over through the crowd.

Kocsis sank a 40 foot putt on the ninth to go 1 up. They were square going past the fifteenth but Kocsis took the sixteenth when Kelly drove into the rough and took 3 to reach the green.

Burke edged out Young Davie Davis of Tyler, Tex., 1 up. They teed off even on the last hole but Davis caught a trap on his second. He came out 10 feet short of the pin while Burke laid his first putt stiff. Davis' putt rimmed the cup and Burke sank his for par 4.

Billows Is Favorite.

Billows, runnerup to Johnny Goodman in last week's national amateur tourney, had little difficulty eliminating Holt. He had Holt 4 down at the turn as Holt's tee shots went awry. Billows thus remained a distinct favorite to win the western.

Wehrle defeated Todd with a birdie 4 on the twentieth, when the Texan's tee shot barely cleared a trap and went into the rough. Todd's second was long and to the right, while Wehrle was on the edge of the green. Wehrle holed out in 2 and Todd's third was short. Each had 4s on the eighteenth and birdie 4s on the nineteenth.

Results of morning round:

Ray Billows, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., defeated Don Erickson, Alhambra, Cal., 3 and 2.
William Holt, Syracuse, N. Y., defeated Robert Thompson, San Francisco, 1 up.
Dave Davis, Tyler, Tex., defeated Frank Hixon, Los Angeles, 5 and 3.

National Supply.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information on National Supply company stock.—Mrs. E. D. K.

Answer: National Supply company manufactures pipe and other equipment used in the oil industry. The company also manufactures and distributes Diesel and gas engines.

Sales of the company vary with the state of business in the oil industry. Indicative of the recent activity in oil drilling and oil production is the increase of 1936 sales of National Supply to a volume 46 per cent larger than in 1935. Business in the first half of 1937 was substantially ahead of that for the corresponding period in 1936.

The present prosperity of the company, however, is only a recent development. Heavy losses were piled up during the depression. Preferred dividends were resumed in December, 1936, after a lapse of more than five years and no common dividends have been paid since May 15, 1931. Arrears on the preferred total $35 a share, giving effect to a payment due Oct. 1, 1937, to stockholders of record Sept. 20.

1936	$12,943,000	$3,484,000	$ 6.06
1935	8,467,000	671,000	$- 4.08
1934	7,200,000	†121,000	†3.36
1933	3,129,000	†2,816,000	†13.44
1932	2,216,000	†3,848,000	†14.63
1931	2,880,000	†4,496,000	†14.49
1930	13,564,000	2,625,000	4.95

†Per preferred share. †Loss.

On May 21, 1937, stockholders approved a plan to split the old $25 par common stock into three new shares of $10 par stock. This necessitated transfer of $5 for each old share of common from capital surplus to capital account. It also resulted in increase of authorized capitalization from 500,000 shares of $25 par stock to 1,500,000 shares of $10 par stock.

Gross income for the first half of 1937 was $10,737,000, and net income was $4,768,000 or $3.65 a share on the basis of the new $10 par capitalization. This compares with gross income of $6,469,259 and net income of $1,835,000 or $3.27 a share on the old $25 par capitalization in the corresponding 1936 period.

Current assets on June 30, 1937, were $43,290,000, including $8,440,000 cash, compared with current liabilities of $9,968,000.

Although outlook of the company as improved, both the common and preferred stock must still be regarded as speculative pending payment of the arrears on the preferred.

STOCKS RALLY FROM RECENT SINKING SPELL

Steel, Motor, Copper Groups Lead Rise.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 3.—Led by steel, motor, copper, and farm equipment shares, the stock market recovered today from its recent sinking spell. Gains in those groups ranged from fractions to about 3 points. Rail issues firmed and utilities worked irregularly higher. Volume for the day was approximately 691,000 shares.

Some new demand and week-end covering operations were regarded as mainly responsible for the improvement. The majority of traders, however, continued to move cautiously, it was reported, in view of the derth of outside interest, although some buying was said to have been invited by the fact the list was in an excellent technical position.

View War Scares Waning.

The firmness of the London market, which is usually responsive to international developments, also helped sentiment here, it was agreed, leading to the belief that the war scares on the far eastern and Mediterranean fronts had run their course. Another favorable development consisted of optimistic advices from retail and wholesale trade centers.

The early action of pivotal issues indicated that large scale offerings had dwindled, initial transactions pushing prices fractions to 1 point higher. U. S. Steel quickly touched 104⅝, up 2⅛ points, but at that quotation invited some profit taking, with the result its net gain was shaved to three-quarters of a point. Other steels also met fresh demand, notably Bethlehem and Youngstown, each up 1½, and Republic, up 1.

Farm Implements Strong.

Farm implements were, especially strong on the rally. Case Threshing closed 3¼ points higher on the day. Allis-Chalmers, Oliver Farms, International Harvester, and Deere gained fractions to 1¾ points.

General Motors was active in the motors division, appreciating a fraction, while Chrysler added a point. Lower priced auto stocks ruled unchanged to fractions lower.

Practically all nonferrous shares pushed higher. Noteworthy performers were American Smelting, up 1¼; Cerro, up 2¼, and Phelps-Dodge and Howe Sound, each up 1 point. Other leaders, including Anaconda and Kennecott, added fractions.

Rails were stronger. Fractional increases were noted for such issues as New York Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Chesapeake and Ohio, and Union Pacific. Atchison was an exception, losing almost 2 points.

Store Issues Uneven.

Merchandising issues were mixed in improved turnover. Sears-Roebuck was outstanding with a 1 point net gain after being 2 points higher at one time. Macy and Montgomery Ward worked counter to the trend, giving up fractions.

Radio corporation again moved in large volume, but could not break away from the $11 mark. American Telephone, up 2 points, and Western Union, up a major fraction, led the communication group.

Douglas added a point and other aviation issues gained fractions. Socony and Pure Oil were active in their group, appreciating fractions.

UNITED BUYERS PLAN HIT BY U. S. TRADE BUREAU

The federal trade commission yesterday issued a complaint against the United Buyers corporation, Chicago, and its member companies, alleging violation of the brokerage section of the Robinson-Patman act.

United Buyers corporation provides market information and buys merchandise for about 46 member grocery wholesalers. The commission's complaint specifically names six members as respondent buyers, and eight respondent sellers said to be representative of about 150 sellers from whom United Buyers makes purchases.

The commission contends that the respondent sellers pay to United Buyers brokerage fees or grant discounts which are passed on to member wholesalers as stock or patronage dividends, but that United Buyers does not render any service in return which warant the sellers' fees and discounts.

Seven Chicago concerns were named as respondent sellers. They are: Allison-Bedford company, Angelus Campfire company, Blue Seal Products company, Bordo Products company, Champion Chemical works, Dean Milk company and J. B. Inderrieden company.

Markets and Banks to Close Monday

All American and Canadian financial and commodity markets and banks will be closed Monday in observance of Labor day. European exchanges will function as usual.

The Chicago Mercantile exchange and other commodity markets that have been observing Saturday holidays throughout the summer will resume Saturday trading a week from today. Traders in these markets will have a three day holiday this week-end. The New York Stock exchange governors turned down a petition of members to declare a holiday today.

Hecker Nets $1,592,440 in Fiscal Year

Hecker Products corporation, manufacturer of soaps, salad dressings, and flour products, yesterday reported profit of $1,592,440, or 88 cents a share, in the fiscal year ended June 30, against $1,510,467, or 71 cents a share, in the preceding year. Several other companies also announced earnings.

Hecker Products, formerly the Gold Dust corporation, disclosed that all expenditures in connection with development of new products this year had been charged to operations. In the preceding year such expenditures, less sales of the products, were charged against reserve.

The company also pointed out that earnings in the 1936 fiscal year included $701,443 profit from sales of securities. No such extra income was earned this year. The company had 1,825,877 voting trust certificates for common stock outstanding on June 30, compared with 1,794,402 common shares a year earlier.

Reports Decline in Profit.

The Kermath Manufacturing company, maker of marine engines, reported a decline in profit for 10 months ended July 31 to $4,807 from the $8,799 earned in the corresponding 1936 period. The slump occurred despite an increase in sales to $550,112 from $450,910 a year ago.

Weisbaum Brothers-Brower company, manufacturer of men's neckwear, reported net income of $150,495, or $1 a share, for the year ended July 31. In the preceding year the company earned $127,593, or 85 cents a share.

B. Manischewitz company, baking concern, earned $118,820, or $2.11 a common share, in the year ended July 31, a substantial increase over net income of $94,908, or $1.63 a share, in the preceding year.

Plough, Inc., manufacturer of beauty preparations and household products, had net income for six months ended June 30 of $150,849, or 50 cents a common share, a decline from the $190,614, or 64 cents a share, in the first half of 1936.

TVA ESTIMATES REVENUES FROM SALES OF POWER

Washington, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Officials of the Tennessee Valley Authority said today that contracts already signed for power sales to private industries eventually will bring a yearly income of $4,300,000. Four new industrial contracts recently were added to the two already in effect.

Because some contracts are dependent on the building of new plants, the income from these agreements will not reach its peak until the TVA dam building program is completed about 1944.

In addition, TVA is serving seventeen municipalities and thirteen farm coöperatives. Officials estimated power revenues for the current fiscal year will reach $3,700,000, or about $1,000,000 more than in the preceding year.

Contracts already made with industrial companies and the expected yearly revenue when consumption reaches its peak include: Aluminum Company of America, $1,500,000; Monsanto Chemical company, $750,000; Arkansas Power and Light company, $750,000; Victor Chemical works, $500,000; Volunteer Portland Cement company, $60,000; Electro-Metallurgical company, $750,000.

U. S. TO REOPEN NORTH CAROLINA POWER HEARING

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Taking notice of recent statements of state officials in North Carolina that they were in possession of "information" indicating that the proposed power project of the Carolina Aluminum company on the Yadkin river near Tuckertown, N. C., would "not affect the interests of interstate commerce and therefore is not a proper subject for federal jurisdiction," the federal power commission announced today that the case would be reopened and set further hearing for Sept. 13.

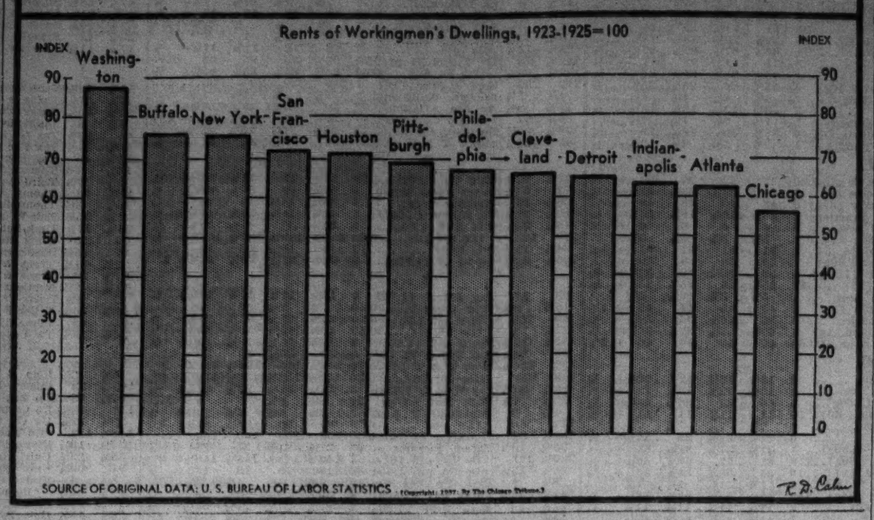
The commission took this action after the North Carolina state department of conservation and development had declined to accept the offer of the government to reopen the hearing for the purpose of permitting the state to submit whatever evidence it might have.

The state gave as the reason for declining the commission's offer the desire to avoid "further delay" in the commission's decision on the case, which involves the question whether the Aluminum company may build a $6,000,000 project without a federal license.

Expect Illinois Short Line Road to Be Sold for Junk

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 3.—(AP)—The forty-one mile long Jacksonville and Havana railroad was listed for sale today. Federal Judge Charles G. Briggle ordered yesterday that the railroad be auctioned on Oct. 4 to satisfy claims of creditors. The road was established in July, 1926, after a breakup of the old Chicago, Peoria, and St. Louis railroad system. Elmer Nafziger, receiver, said the line probably would be sold as junk, as no one other road has shown interest in the property.

How Rents in Leading Cities Compare with Prosperity Days



National Tea Fails to Act on Dividend

Directors of the National Tea company yesterday failed to take action on the common stock dividend. In the preceding quarter, directors voted to omit dividend action until later in the year, when earnings could be better estimated.

An extra dividend of 5 cents and the usual 10 cent quarterly payment on the common stock were authorized by directors of Creameries of America, Inc.

The Master Electric company declared a dividend of 40 cents for the quarter on the common stock. Previously the company paid 25 cents quarterly.

Pays on Arrearages.

International Products corporation, a Delaware corporation with meat and lumber interests in Paraguay, declared a dividend of $3 on the 6 per cent preferred stock to apply on arrears. On July 15, a dividend of $6 was paid. After payment of the present declaration, accumulations on the issue will be $10.50 a share.

An extra of 25 cents and the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents were voted by directors of the Pacific Tin corporation.

Michigan Bakeries declared an extra of 25 cents on the $1 par common stock. This will make a total of 85 cents that has been paid on the issue in 1937.

OIL FROM SALT WATER WELL IS HOPE OF HERRIN

Herrin, Ill., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—City officials of Herrin planned today to offer the town's salt water artesian well to any prospectors who desire to drill for oil. In 1914 the city drove a well down 1,700 feet in seeking water for a proposed water works system. Water was found, but it contained salt and could not be used.

The well is still cased, the salt stream is still running, and only a moderate amount of drilling would be necessary to strike oil if it exists here. Engineers have indicated oil and gas follow the coal vein in this locality.

Plan Another Test Well.

Mattoon, Ill., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—The Gulf Oil company will locate another test well on the Laughton farm about seven miles northwest of the Clay City field, it was announced today.

A NEW WELL PROVES AN EMBARRASSMENT TO 'BIG SHOT' OIL MEN

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 3.—(AP)—There were many red faces among Oklahoma's "big shot" oil men today—Tom H. McGilless' well blew in on property he leased from them near their exclusive hunting and fishing club.

The club membership embraces a majority of oil men, including W. G. Skelly and H. F. Wilcox, presidents of companies which bear their names.

When a special meeting was called to consider the lease to Auto Salesman McGilless, they told each other some persons were terribly dumb to believe there was oil near Verdigris, Rogers county.

Today, with oil at $1.40 a barrel, McGilless' well was flowing 400 barrels and he struck oil at only 765 feet.

A. F. OF L., C.I.O. CLASH, SO WORKERS LOSE PAY, PLANT LOSES PROFITS

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Six hundred and fifty employés of the Acme-Lee division of the Serrick corporation are losing wages amounting to $25,000 a week, and the corporation is losing profits of more than $1,000 a week as a result of a jurisdictional squabble started last week by C. I. O. organizers from Flint, Mich.

Difficulties began when the company signed closed shop agreements with American Federation of Labor affiliates for its tool and die polishing departments. Of forty-three employés therein, all except six belonged to this union. The six were affiliated with C. I. O. and were not eligible to work under the closed shop agreement. On their behalf and on behalf of all other employés the United Automobile Workers of America, a C. I. O. union, demanded to be designated as the sole bargaining agency for the plant.

Acme-Lee having previously signed a contract with the A. F. of L. affiliate, refused to recognize U. A. W. A. as the sole bargaining agency, but suggested that it bargain on behalf of its members, or that there be an election to determine whether it was in the majority. No agreement could be effected concerning either bargaining or an election and the C. I. O. union ordered a strike.

The plant is under control of a group of pickets headed by organizers for U. A. W. A., and the officers of the company are enabled to enter it only by passes issued to them by the Flint organizers.

WABASH ROAD TO BECOME OHIO CORPORATION

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Receivers of the Wabash railroad today filed incorporation papers with the secretary of state at Columbus, O., marking the first tangible step taken in the corporate reorganization of the road pursuant to a plan filed in federal court here July 14.

N. S. Brown, general counsel for the receivers and one of the incorporators, said Ohio was selected as the place of incorporation because statutes of that state "appear to be more in keeping with objectives of the new corporation than those of other states through which the railroad passes."

The articles of incorporation provide for the ultimate taking over of not only all of the Wabash properties, but also for absorption of the Ann Arbor Railroad company, a Michigan corporation.

Capitalization of the new corporation is fixed in the articles at $10,000 the capital stock outstanding being limited to 100 shares of $100 par value, subject to amendment.

"The capitalization will be expanded," Brown explained, "on receipt of authority from the interstate commerce commission, as is necessary."

STEEL INDUSTRY WORKERS, WAGES CLOSE TO PEAK

Employment in the steel industry during July rose to 594,000, which was only slightly below the record peak of 595,000 in May, the American Iron and Steel institute announced yesterday. The effect of strikes on employment was completely dissipated during the month, the institute said, although operations were 12 per cent under May.

Pay rolls in July amounted to $90,550,000, or 2.5 per cent under May. In June, 556,000 workers received total compensation of $87,520,000. Wage earning workers numbered 553,000 in July, compared with 495,000 in June and 535,000 in May.

Average hourly earnings amounted to 86.8 cents in July, against 87.7 cents in June and 86.6 cents in May. The higher figure in June was attributed to emergency conditions in plants affected by strikes. An average of 37.3 hours per week was worked in July, compared with 39.2 in June and 38.6 in May.

Mine Unions to Hear Plan for Strike Truce Tuesday

Leonard Bjork, regional director of the national labor relations board, said yesterday his plan for a truce to end a strike at mine B at Springfield, Ill., will be offered the presidents of rival Illinois unions at a meeting Tuesday. "We hope to arrive at a plan for putting the men back at work, leaving legal issues over union jurisdiction for settlement later," Bjork said.

U. S. Has Lost Ground in Steel Output Race

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 3.—(AP)—The United States has lost ground in the world output of steel during the biggest peacetime production boom of all times. Accelerated by post-depression needs and the hurried rearmament programs, steel began a spectacular comeback more than 18 months ago.

In 1929, when an all-time record of steel ingot and castings production of 118,500,000 tons was established by the 15 largest producing nations, the United States made 47½ per cent of the total. But last year, when a new record of 119,500,000 tons was set, America's production had dropped to 41 per cent.

Makes Gain This Year.

In the first six months of this year this ratio improved, with Uncle Sam making approximately 32,000,000 of a 71,208,500 estimated total, but experts predict a second half letup is like to lower the standing.

During 1936 Germany, soviet Russia, and the United Kingdom established new high marks in production, and are continuing a faster pace.

The United States' production last year was 48,330,000 tons of ingots and castings, compared with the 1929 top of 56,433,000. If the present production of 32,000,000 for six months is continued, however, the 1929 record will be easily beaten.

A. F. OF L. DEMANDS HIGHER WAGES AS PRICES RISE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—General wage increases this fall are the only alternative to further increased prices, the American Federation of Labor stated in its monthly survey of business, made public today. Organized labor, said the bulletin, is going to do industry a favor "by seeing to it that wages continue to advance substantially this fall."

With production costs increasing, cutting the margin of profit, industry must increase production to maintain total profits without raising prices, the survey said.

"Reduced profit margins this year also point to the importance of increasing buying power to raise production if we are to avoid undue price increases," it said.

"Rising costs of living make wage increases urgent," the bulletin said. "Any worker whose pay envelope this fall does not bring him five per cent more than last fall will be forced to a lower living standard. Living costs in July were already 4.3 per cent above 1936 [national industrial conference board index]."

NEW BANTAM CAR COMPANY GETS ORDER FOR 40,000

New York, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The American Bantam Car company, which purchased the plant of the defunct Austin company at Butler, Pa., signed its first contract today with the American Steel Export company, calling for an initial purchase of 2,500 cars and the eventual delivery of 40,000 cars.

R. S. Evans of Atlanta, Ga., president of the Bantam company, said the Butler plant would begin production of the new "Bantam 60" late this month or early in October. The plant's present capacity is 44,000 cars a year and the contract with the export company calls for delivery of one out of every four units.

The Bantam company is capitalized at $1,600,000 and the dies, tools, and fixtures of the old Austin plant are carried on the books at $1, Evans said. The stock was privately subscribed and no new issue is planned, he said.

U. S. SUES BAKER FOR REFUSING DATA TO FTC

Asks $40,000 Fine for National Biscuit.

New York, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The government sued the National Biscuit company for $40,000 today for not answering fully a federal trade commission questionnaire. The questionnaire resulted from a 1935 act of congress providing for a survey of the incomes of farmers and users of flour, sugar, molasses, milk, butter, cheese, eggs, raisins, and peanuts in milling, baking, and other processing.

The biscuit company was asked how much wheat and other produce, bread, cake, and biscuits it bought, manufactured, and sold in 1935; the names and purchase amounts of chain store and coöperative customers; its income and expenses, and the salaries and other compensations of its officers.

Explains Company's Stand.

In February, 1936, Vice President C. S. Stillwell of the company wrote the trade commission that "we are very hesitant to make public disclosure of information relating to our business with particular customers and our total volume of business, because we believe that dissemination of such information would place us at a distinct competitive disadvantage," and asked that the company be excused from answering.

The commission insisted on answers and the company asked how the information would be used, requesting that sales figures not be made public.

Continues to Refuse.

The commission told the company in April, 1936, that it had to give the "data identified by companies" to congress, but that it would not disclose "in identified form data presented by individual companies and by them regarded as confidential." The company continued to refuse on the ground that it had successfully opposed similar requests of the Securities and Exchange commission, which sued last year and then discontinued the suit.

The $40,000 represents a fine of $100 a day fixed by congress for delay in answering the questionnaire.

FREIGHT TRAFIC UPTURN IS MORE THAN SEASONAL

Railroad freight trafic last week made a more than seasonal gain of 6,126 cars over the preceding week to reach a total of 787,373 cars, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. This was an increase of 0.8 per cent over the 781,247 cars loaded in the week ended Aug. 21, and resulted chiefly from a rise of 11,992 cars in coal shipments.

Smaller gains were made in less-than-carlot merchandise, miscellaneous freight, and coke shipments, but there were sharp declines in loadings of grain, ore, live stock, and lumber.

Loadings in the week ended Aug. 28 increased 33,276 cars, or 4.4 per cent, over the corresponding week of 1936, and 106,525 cars, or 15.6 per cent, over the comparable period in 1935.

Trafic in all types of freight except coal and live stock was larger last week than in the like week a year ago. Ore shipments, although 2,005 cars below the preceding week this year, increased 17,100 cars over 1936.

The Dow-Jones seasonally adjusted loading index, based on the average of the last fifteen years as 100, advanced to 90.8 from 90.1 the preceding week.

JAPAN'S PRODUCTION OF RAYON MOUNTS; GAINS ON U. S. OUTPUT

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—(AP)—The commerce department announced today that Japan produced 161,067,000 pounds of rayon during the first six months of 1937 compared with 120,211,000 pounds in the corresponding period of 1936, a gain of 34 per cent. Officials said that during the first half of the year the Japanese industry worked under restrictions on production equivalent to 32 to 35 per cent of capacity.

A survey showed production increases planned by rayon yarn companies in Japan from May to September indicated aggregate prospective expansion of daily production by more than 500,000 pounds, which would bring the industry's projected annual capacity up to 475,000,000 pounds. Output in 1936 was 215,000,000 pounds. Last year Japan ranked second among world producers of yarn, exceeded only by the United States' 277,625,000 pounds.

The report said production of staple fiber has increased more rapidly in Japan than in the United States. Exports of rayon yarn in the first half of the year totaled 25,701,000 pounds, a gain of 792,000 pounds over shipments in the corresponding period of 1936. Exports of rayon piece goods for the half year totaled 239,631,000 square yards, a decrease of 18,010,000 square yards but a gain of nearly 3,000,000 yen [the yen is currently quoted at 28.95 cents] in value compared with shipments in the corresponding period of 1936.

China Is U. S. Best Customer for Aircraft

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—(AP)—China bought more American aircraft than any other foreign country during the first six months of 1937 the commerce department reported today.

Sales abroad up to July 1 reached $16,290,580, an increase of 90 per cent over the comparable period last year. Monthly shipments averaged $2,715,097, compared with a monthly average of $1,928,600 for all of 1936.

Chinese bought $2,415,922 in planes, engines, and accessories during the first half of this year. Japan, which has developed its own aircraft industry, bought only $832,883 in the same period.

Germany, with one of the most modern air forces in the world, took $390,673 in American aircraft, and Italy, another major air power, purchased $116,880.

Japan Buys Munitions.

The department said in another report that heavy munitions buying from other countries had helped to lift Japan's unfavorable trade balance to a "surprising magnitude."

"The unfavorable trade balance at the end of June stood at 618,144,000 yen [about $175,000,000]," the department said, adding this was "the highest figure on record with the exception of June, 1924, the year after the great earthquake."

In addition to "heavy purchases of munition supplies as provided in the huge budget," the department said other factors in creating the import surplus were:

"Unprecedented arrivals of machinery and raw materials to effectuate the nation's policy of expanding productive capacity, greatly advanced freight and commodity prices, speculative buying in anticipation of higher prices, increased tarif rates, and stricter state import control."

Machinery Exports Increase.

Industrial machinery exports reached an eight year peak in July, and farm equipment exports exceeded those of any month since February, 1931, the department also reported.

The $23,736,206 in industrial machinery sold abroad in July represented the highest month's total since 1929. Sales were 58 per cent more than those for July, 1936, when $15,012,150 was exported.

Tractors, harvesting machinery, and cultivating implements led farm equipment exports, totaling $8,186,409 in July, the highest month's value since February, 1931. Shipments for the first seven months of the year amounted to $42,690,170, compared with $43,993,315 in exports for all of 1936.

The department said the upward trend in industrial machinery exports continued steadily this year, the first seven months' shipments reaching $140,983,247, or 42 per cent larger than last year's $99,291,476 in the same period.

CHICAGO'S AUTO SALES SAG; NEW MODELS AWAITED

The approach of new model production in the automobile industry resulted in a decline in sales in Cook county last month, based on registrations of new cars. Volume amounted to 10,308 registrations, compared with 13,497 in July, 1937, and 9,195 in August, 1936.

Sales of Ford cars continued to lead all others, with Chevrolet second and Plymouth third. The position of the eight leaders was unchanged from the preceding month.

TREASURY PAYS STILL MORE ON NEW BILL ISSUES

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—The rate paid by the treasury on its short term discount bills advanced again today in the sale of about $100,000,000 of bills with maturities of 273 and 104 days.

The bids on the 273 day bills represented an average of 0.711 per cent per annum on a bank discount basis as compared with 0.524 per cent paid on a similar issue on Monday, and 0.459 per cent on the issue prior to that. The peak on 273 day bills in recent months was 0.738 per cent on May 4.

On the 104 day bills sold today, the average paid by the treasury was 0.48 per cent, as compared with 0.422 per cent on an issue of 110 day bills on Monday.

Four States to Intervene in New Haven Road's Plan

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—(AP)—The governors of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, and Massachusetts won authorization from the interstate commerce commission today to intervene in New York, New Haven, and Hartford Railroad company reorganization proceedings. The governors seek to limit stock holdings of the Pennsylvania railroad and the Penn-road corporation to 5 per cent. These companies now own 22.79 per cent of voting stock. The governors contended that if this control continues the Pennsylvania system will be able to dominate the New Haven system's trafic.

CEA SETS TRAP FOR COMMODITY MANIPULATORS

Viewed as 'Excuse' for Price Decline.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—The commodity exchange administration today set a "trap" to discover possible manipulations by large speculators in grain, cotton, and other farm commodities in violation of federal regulations.

The commission ordered approximately 900 registered brokerage houses to report all commodity accounts that are controled by any person other than the owner. Dr. J. W. T. Duvel, chief of the bureau, said there "is reason to believe that not all persons who control accounts having an aggregate open interest of 200,000 bushels of grain are reporting their operations daily" as required by law.

Trade's View on Order.

Because the action was given wide publicity, some quarters believed the order was an attempt by administration officials to make farmers believe the recent sharp decline in grain prices was the result of manipulation.

Duvel said the order was issued because it is "especially important to farmers that during the next few months when crops are moving from farms and the major part of them is being sold that there should be no concerted drive by speculators to manipulate prices."

He said that frequently clerks in commission houses control a number of accounts. Under the law an individual holding 200,000 bushels or more of grain must make daily reports of his transactions. Failure to do so is punishable by a fine of $10,000, or a year's imprisonment, or both.

Says Many Did Not Report.

Duvel said there were many instances in the past of large traders operating through various names who failed to report. He said that in 1933 one group of speculators was discovered operating through a single brokerage house and holding open contracts of more than 20,000,000 bushels. They had made no reports.

Yesterday's order also asked reports on any person advertising either publicly or privately that he is in a position to influence commodity prices and can guarantee profits if given authority to manage a trading account.

"Frequently," Duvel said, "such persons have a series of failures and bankruptcies behind them."

Wording of New Order.

The order requires registered brokers to report on "every commodity account controled through power of attorney, or otherwise by any person other than the owner."

Duvel said the open interest in wheat now amounts to about 133 million bushels and to 52 millions in corn. He said similar data for cotton is not available but will be soon when regulations recently issued become operative.

FRANCE OFFERS NEW LONG TERM 4 PER CENT LOAN

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Sept. 3.—[Special.]—Finance Minister George Bonnet, who recently announced the success of his conversion plan for treasury bonds of 1934, tonight made his second offer to test the French market's powers of absorbtion. He announced an issue of five and ten year 5 per cent treasury bonds which will be limited strictly to those holders of 1934 bonds who had not yet applied for conversion. He stated the offer would be confined to an issue not exceeding 2,180,000,000 francs, which is the difference between the total amount of the 1934 issue and the amount thus far converted into one year 4 per cent bonds.

The new offer, Bonnet explained, was aimed to attract those seeking long term investment, while his first offer was only for those in the short term market.

In order that there should be no unfairness, however, the 4 per cent, 1937, converted bonds would be accepted in payment for the new issue as well as the 1934 bonds. The rate of issue is 940 francs.

RESERVE BANK IN PHILADELPHIA TO REDUCE RATE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 2.—[Special.]—The Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia tomorrow will reduce its discount rate from 2 per cent to 1½ per cent, the federal reserve board announced here today. All other federal reserve banks except that at Cleveland, which already had a 1½ per cent rate, recently cut their discount rates.

Federal reserve officials here have said the reductions were made to provide large supplies of credit at cheap interest rates when fall business and agricultural borrowing expand.

The territory of the Philadelphia bank comprises eastern Pennsylvania, Delaware, and a portion of New Jersey.

Recommend Donnelley Plan for Ship-Shore Telephone

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—[Special.]—The federal communications commission today had received a recommendation from a commission examiner that Thorne Donnelley, Lake Bluff, Ill., be authorized to construct and operate a new coastal harbor telephone station at Lake Bluff. Donnelley's service would permit telephone calls from ships to any telephone in the United States connected with the Bell system.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 3.—Moderate support in certain sections of the domestic corporate list gave a slightly firmer appearance to the bond market today. Trading slackened considerably, however, the total turnover amounting to $5,177,200, compared with $6,629,950 on Thursday. The market was not without its weak spots, however, and numerous new low marks were established even in the corporate list.

United States government obligations continued to drift to lower levels in listless trading. On a turnover of only $259,200, the treasury bonds yielded from 1-32 to 15-32 point.

The improvement in prices in the domestic corporate list was restricted largely to the lower-grade or speculative bonds. Underlying rails, such as Atlantic Coast Line collateral trust 5s, Illinois Central collateral 4s, and Lehigh Valley 5s, were conspicuous weak spots in the rail group, all sinking to new low levels for the year.

Fresh weakness in the defaulted bonds of the department of Antioquia, Columbia, featured otherwise quiet trading and narrow price movements in foreign dollar bonds. Cuba Public Works 5½s, after early strength, eased to close unchanged. Only minor fluctuations developed in the market for Japanese loans.

Chicago Stocks.

Gains recorded early in the trading session on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday were partly erased in an afternoon selloff and closing quotations were highly irregular. Of the ninety-five issues traded, thirty-one advanced, thirty declined, and thirty-four were unchanged. Volume was 23,000 shares.

Commonwealth Edison, Zenith Radio, Rollins Hosiery, Chicago corporation common, and Standard Dredge common were the most actively traded issues. Edison dipped ⅛ a point on turnover of 2,050 shares, and Zenith advanced as much on trade of 1,350 shares. Zenith, which closed at 42½, sold at one time during the session at 43¼, only ⅛ a point below the best price of the year.

A. M. Castle, Joslyn Manufacturing, Hall Printing, and Welboldt lost a full point or more a share. Marshall Field gained ⅞ of a point to close at 24.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were weak yesterday. American National, Northern Trust, and Harris Trust each declined $10 a share, and Chicago Title and Trust and City National each dipped $3. Terminal National declined $1.

GRAIN MARKETS DULL, STEADY ON EVE OF HOLIDAY

Traders Wary; Fear Turn of World Events.

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

	Friday.	Thursday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$1.07¼	$1.07¼	$1.10
Corn	.63	.63	.96¼
Oats	.29¾	.29¾	.42¾
Rye	.79¼	.79	.81
Soy beans	.95¼	.94½	.....

Pre-holiday dullness prevailed in the world grain markets yesterday. Prices held within narrow limits, with closing trades showing little change as compared with Thursday.

Aggregate speculative interest in the markets was reduced to a minimum and operators were disposed to go slow on either side of the market because of uneasiness as to what might happen in the European and far eastern political situation over the double holiday. North American markets will be closed Monday, while Liverpool and Buenos Aires will be open as usual. There was some evening up in market positions by traders who were going on a three day holiday.

Hedging Pressure Light.

Hedging pressure in wheat was relatively light, but there was no export demand of consequence, sales being confined to small lots of Canadian grain. There was some selling of wheat futures in Liverpool based on a commercial report estimating the possible Australian harvest at 175,000,000 bushels, compared with 150,000,000 bushels in 1936. Broomhall, an English authority, however, reiterated his previous estimates of 140,000,000 bushels for Australia.

Selling of September wheat by scattered longs, many of whom bought the December future, was offset by the operations of cash interests who sold the December option and bought the September future at 2 cents a bushel discount for the latter.

Corn futures were firmer early but reacted late in the session, except the September delivery, which was able to maintain part of its gain.

Check September Corn Trades.

Commission houses were said to be discouraging operations in September corns, as normally it is an old crop future. Many speculators were said to be unfamiliar with that fact. Movement of new crop domestic corn is not expected to get well under way until late in October even with favorable weather conditions. Argentine flint corn is not deliverable on future contracts.

Argentine corn was reported offered by Chicago handlers yesterday at 3 to 5 cents a bushel premium over the September delivery. Domestic No. 2 yellow corn sold 5½ cents above the September future, with only a few cars offered. According to reports, distillers are not using much cash corn and operations are expected to be curtailed until new grain is available in volume. It was also said that some distillers have not anticipated their requirements of rye.

Because of a small wheat crop this year Portugal had ordered a mixture of 12½ per cent of corn and rye in wheat flour. Portuguese import requirements this year are estimated at 4,000,000 to 6,000,000 bushels. During the 1936-'37 season Portugal exported a moderate quantity of wheat.

MANUFACTURERS TELL EFFECT OF UNEMPLOYED TAX

If Illinois employers can stabilize employment and reduce labor turnover, they will be placed in a preferential class with respect to unemployment compensation taxes after Jan. 1, 1942, it was pointed out yesterday by the Illinois Manufacturers' association.

The law provides that the state director of labor shall fix the tax rate for each employer every year, the rate varying according to the employer's unemployment record during the preceding year. All payments by an employer are credited to his account, and all benefits paid to unemployed persons chargeable to him are deducted.

If the amount remaining in the account at the beginning of each year equals or exceeds 12½ per cent of the average annual pay roll, the employer will pay no tax the following year; if the benefits paid to employés exceed the employer's tax payments, his rate may be increased.

The new law became effective on July 1. Illinois employers will pay about $45,000,000 to the state for this year's unemployment tax, and $70,000,000 in each of the next four years, or a total of $325,000,000 in five years.

VESSEL SPACE CHARTERED TO EXPORT WHEAT

Ocean freight room for approximately 600,000 bushels of grain was reported to have been chartered at New York yesterday, making charters for about 3,000,000 bushels in the last few days, presumably destined for Europe. The trade had reports yesterday that no freight room was being offered at gulf ports. The rate on wheat from the gulf to the United Kingdom was quoted equal to 17 cents a bushel, while from Montreal and Atlantic ports the rate was said to be 11¼ cents a bushel.

Owing to a shortage of ocean freight room at Montreal, American exporters are said to have been able to sell a moderate amount of Canadian wheat to the United Kingdom for prompt shipment via New York. Canadian wheat shipped from an American port is forced to pay an import duty of 6 cents a bushel into the United Kingdom, while if shipped from Montreal it is admitted free of duty.

The Annuity.

An annuity is a contract calling for specified payments at regular intervals to an individual or individuals. An annuity contract is not insurance, but many annuity contracts contain certain insurance provisions. Most insurance companies write this type of business.

The annuity may be issued in one of several forms. The regular annuity calls for payments to cease at the death of the annuitant. Any excess over the amount paid for the policy over the amount returned is retained by the company.

The instalment refund annuity requires the company to continue regular payments until a sum at least equal to the amount paid for the policy is returned to the annuitant or his heirs. The cash refund annuity calls for payment in cash by the company of the unreturned balance at the death of the policyholder.

Sometimes an annuity policy calls for continuation of payments during the lives of two individuals regardless of the length of time one outlives the other. This is known as a "joint and survivor" unity. Such policies frequently are sold to a man and his wife.

PRICE OF COTTON FALLS AGAIN DUE TO HEDGING SALES

Cotton prices were on the down grade yesterday, the weakness reputedly being due to increased hedging pressure, which more than offset buying attributed to foreigners, the trade, and shorts. Aggregate trade was slow, due to the Labor day holidays, and the market was rather easily influenced.

Closing trades on cotton futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were at net losses of .12 to .16 cents. Other American markets declined .11 to .20 cents a pound, equal to 55 cents to $1 a bale. December cotton in Chicago has declined 4.90 cents a pound or $24.50 a bale, compared with the high point last March.

Further rains were reported yesterday in the eastern part of the cotton belt and were said to be damaging the quality of the crop and also increasing weevil activity.

Spot cotton closed .15 to .20 cents lower, with New Orleans, 9.25 cents; New York, 9.35 cents, and Galveston and Houston at 9.05 cents a pound. Prices follow:

FEDERAL COTTON ADVISER URGES NEW CROP PLAN

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 3.—(AP)—An administration cotton adviser urged southern agricultural commissioners today to back a cotton control program based on estimated world production and consumption with adjustment payments from the federal treasury for "losses incurred by farmers under the Smoot-Hawley tarif."

Oscar Johnston, Scott, Miss., planter and former manager of the government's AAA cotton pool, described the plan shortly after several commissioners criticized Secretary of Agriculture Wallace for "defeating the will of congress" in limiting cotton loans to 65 per cent of the base acreage.

Johnston said his plan called for crop control similar to that under AAA with voluntary participation, and compliance so profitable that non-participants would be in the minority. He said he spoke in no official capacity, although in some quarters his words were regarded as significant in view of his closeness to the administration.

FORECAST RISING COSTS TO REDUCE RAILROAD BUYING

Slackening Business Pace Also a Factor.

Increased costs of materials and a recession in general business is resulting in a marked reduction in railway purchases, the magazine Railway Age, unofficial spokesman for the industry, said yesterday in its current issue.

"While material and equipment purchases for the first six months of 1937 were 42 per cent ahead of the same period last year," the journal asserted, "curtailments in spending, forced on the railroads by a slackening in general business and by increasing costs of labor and materials, reduced buying in the second quarter approximately 50 million dollars under the first three months. The trend also caused a smaller volume of material to be purchased during the second quarter than in the same period of 1936."

Railway Age said that during the half year period the roads bought an estimated $627,692,000 of materials, equipment and fuels. The value of orders placed for new locomotives and cars was approximately $30,000,000, or 35 per cent, larger than in the same 1936 period.

"However," the statement continued, "orders during the second quarter of 1937 amounted to only $32,000,000, compared with $82,000,000 in the first quarter, a drop of $50,000,000 in three months. While equipment purchases in the first quarter were almost five times the total in the same period of 1936, purchases in the second quarter were almost 45 per cent less than in the second quarter of the previous year.

Half Year Buying High.

"Expenditures during the first six months of this year for materials, exclusive of fuel and equipment, were larger by approximately $110,000,000, or 42 per cent, than in the first half of 1936, and were larger by $96,000,000, or 30 per cent, than corresponding expenditures in 1931. While total expenditures for these purposes in the first quarter of 1937 were 56 per cent larger than in the same period of 1936, purchases in the second quarter were only 34 per cent larger."

The magazine said orders for 39 locomotives 1,490 freight cars, and one passenger train car were placed in August, bringing the total for the first eight months of the year to 270 locomotives, 47,610 freight cars, and 471 passenger cars. In the same period of 1936 orders were placed for 134 engines, 34,254 freight cars, and 141 passenger cars.

HEAT AND LABOR HOLIDAY DRAG ON LIVE STOCK

Warm weather continued to dominate the markets for live stock and meats yesterday. With consumer demand at low ebb buying of live stock dragged at the recent sharp declines.

No highly finished steers were available, and these were quoted steady on the strength of recent buying of such kinds, but the bulk of cattle sold barely steady to weak.

The best cattle on sale brought $16.75, with the bulk of steers at $8.25 to $12.25. A "catch as catch can" trade developed for heifers. Cows, canners, cutters, and bulls were unchanged. Calves ruled weak to 50 cents lower.

The extreme top for slaughter lambs at $11.10 showed 5 cents loss, but the bulk sold at about steady at $9.25 to $11.00.

Some Iowa and Missouri new crop hogs averaging 190 to 226 pounds topped at $11.75, or 5 cents above the preceding session, but the bulk of hogs sold barely steady. The average remained unchanged at $10.65.

FIVE DAY WEEK IS RESUMED BY FORD MOTOR CO.

The majority of Ford Motor company employés have been put back on a five day week, officials said yesterday. A four day week basis has been in effect since July, when the summer lull in production began. Resumption of the five day week was in preparation for production of the 1938 models, officials said.

Production of automobiles in American and Canadian plants declined to approximately 64,200 vehicles this week, Ward's Automotive Reports estimated yesterday. This compares with 83,310 last week and 31,601 in the comparable period last year. Several plants are closed for retooling.

Herrin, Ill., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Members of the state mine examining board and the state department of mines and minerals said today they had approved a new mine being sunk near here by the Consolidated Coal company. The new mine, known as the "Buckhorn," makes possible the mining of the "second" vein of coal and will use the conveyor system throughout. Coal will be broken down by compressed air and there will be no powder blasting.

FINEST SWIMMING GREATEST FISHING
ONE HOUR AWAY.

Hard to believe, but true—those big gamey, fightingest of fish—the delight of every disciple of Izaak Walton—the wall-eyes. Wonder Lake is probably the only spot within two hundred miles of Chicago where you can drop your line and pull out wall-eyes, bass, pickerel, and an unlimited number of pan fish. The dream of the owners of Wonder Lake has come true. Its absolute privacy, permitting fishing and hunting to owners only, has created a sportsman's paradise without equal anywhere south of the north woods. Think of it! Twelve miles of heavily wooded shore line. A natural sand bottom, safe graduated beaches, a tremendous park system that means more than ample beach facilities for every purchaser. You can't buy farther back from the water than 1½ or 2 blocks because there is no property for sale farther back.

AN EXCLUSIVE GENTILE COMMUNITY.

Now or Ever.

A bit of old Ireland transplanted fifty miles away from Chicago—one hour away from your front door. It's four miles away from the nearest concrete highway. There's no picnicking, no roadhouses, no dance halls, no hotels. It's a quiet place for owners only—a place to live and dream, fish, golf, bathe, go sail boating, canoeing, or motor boating, and there will be none one whom you will be proud to know and have as a friend. If you're our kind of people we're your kind of people. Come out and join the fun.

4 ROOM
English Style Cottage,

From every window the sparkling blue of Wonder Lake intrigues you. Carpenter built of splendid design, with inside toilet, and you can move in at once with a small amount down and pay off the balance $15 a month.

ON HEAVILY WOODED
WATER FRONT LOTS.

If it's frontage you are looking for, glorious wooded frontage with a commanding view, a sandy beach at your front door, then come to Wonder Lake and get our prices before you buy. Why be satisfied with a small lake? Why build the home that will be yours for the rest of your life on a tiny crowded lake? Buy at Wonder Lake. The largest private lake in Illinois, with twelve miles of shore line. A lake where you can sail or motor boat in the summer, ski, ice boat or skate in the winter. Pike and bass at Wonder Lake are calling you to come out now!
